Mr. JEFFORDS, from the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions, submitted the following

REPORT

ADDITIONAL VIEWS

[To accompany S. 1]

The Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions, having had under consideration an original bill (S. 1) to extend programs and activities under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, and for other purposes, reports favorably thereon and recommends that the bill do pass.

I. PURPOSE AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

It is the purpose of the Better Education for Students and Teachers (BEST) Act to renew, consolidate, and strengthen programs under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 for the next 7 years. The BEST Act represents the most dramatic change in the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) over the past several decades, and perhaps the entire 35-year life of the act.

Over that period, ESEA has provided the authority for virtually all Federal support for elementary and secondary education, and ESEA programs currently receive about $18 billion in Federal funding. Nearly half of these funds are used on behalf of disadvantaged children under the title I program. Other important activities supported through ESEA include professional development, technology, reading and literacy, bilingual education, safe and drug-free schools, and impact aid.

Despite the substantial Federal investment over the years, the results have been mixed. Far too many of our students are coming to school ill-equipped to learn, and leaving it having learned far too little. Our students rank near the bottom of the industrialized world in international tests of mathematics and science knowledge, and this dismal result disguises an even greater failing.

“The rising tide of mediocrity” described by the 1983 Nation at Risk report was and is but a median of mediocrity. Some schools and some students are doing well, offering and taking challenging courses and aspiring to and meeting high standards. But far too many children are not. More than 2 out of 3 children in our inner cities in the 4th grade cannot read at the basic level measured by the National Assessment of Educational Progress.

President George W. Bush has aptly described tolerance of the status quo as “the soft bigotry of low expectations.” His blueprint for education reform, No Child Left Behind, outlines a fundamental reform of ESEA that would: increase accountability for student performance, focus on what works, reduce bureaucracy and increase flexibility, and empower parents with more information and choices when schools fail.

President Bush has promised that, “Bipartisan education reform will be the cornerstone of my Administration.” The Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions has built a foundation out from that cornerstone that embraces the principles of the President’s proposal.

By a unanimous vote, the committee adopted the BEST Act, which will demand greater accountability for student performance, focus Federal support on a few key priorities, provide more flexibility, and require real consequences and wider choices when schools fail our children.

The BEST Act builds on the 1994 reauthorization of ESEA, which reformed title I by requiring States to establish challenging student performance and content standards, as well as assessments aligned to those standards in order to measure student achievement.

The BEST Act would require States to establish content and student performance standards in reading, math, history, and science for all students. In addition, States will have to develop a plan to ensure that all students, including those who are racial or ethnic minorities or from low-income families, become academically proficient over the course of the next decade.

Progress cannot be divorced from measurement. To ensure that all students make progress toward and attain the performance standards developed by a State, the BEST Act would require States to establish a single, statewide accountability system that would report results to parents, educators, and the public.

The central feature of this system will be annual assessments in mathematics and reading for all students in grades 3–8, which must be in place by the school year of 2005–06. In addition, participation in the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), which is nearly universal among States today, would become mandatory on an annual basis for a sample of 4th and 8th grade students in mathematics and reading.

Good quality assessments are not inexpensive. The BEST Act recognizes the additional demands being placed on States and commits to sharing the burden. The Federal Government would assume the full cost of administering State assessments under NAEP, which is now borne by the States, and would fund the development costs of the additional assessments required by the BEST Act. In addition, the BEST Act would ensure that the Federal Government would fund half of the ongoing costs of assessments required under the Act.

The results of these assessments, both for all students and for specific groups of students, will be a valuable tool in educating the public and informing educators. Having 1 set of standards and assessments for all students in a State will enable the public to easily compare results and assist educators in their efforts to continuously improve schools and the education of our children.

If education reform is to succeed, there must be rewards for success and consequences for failure. The BEST Act provides for both. States and schools that demonstrate significant achievement on both a State's assessment and NAEP will be eligible for rewards. States and schools serving our lowest-performing students that fail to make progress will face a series of corrective measures designed to produce better results.

If a school receiving funds under title I fails to make adequate yearly progress as defined by a State for 1 year, it will be designated as needing school improvement. The school will be required to work with the local educational agency to develop a 2-year school improvement plan and, based on the plan, implement changes in curriculum, professional development, and other areas as needed.

If at the end of the 2-year period of the school improvement plan there is still not adequate yearly progress, a school would be designated as needing corrective action. The local educational agency would be required to offer public school choice to students and make alternative governance arrangements, such as replacing some of the school staff.

If 1 additional year passes and progress is still not made, the local educational agency would be required to reconstitute the school by reopening the school as a charter school, replacing the school staff, or making alternative governance arrangements.

A parallel set of actions is required of a State with respect to a failing local educational agency. A school or local educational agency would need to demonstrate 2 consecutive years of progress to be removed from any of the 3 categories described above.

To assist students and schools, the BEST Act makes a substantial new commitment to instruction in reading, mathematics, and science. Support for reading in the early grades is tripled, and a new early reading for children from ages 3–5 is created. Funding for technology programs is consolidated and simplified, and a new mathematics and science partnership program is created by the legislation.

Education reform cannot succeed without an adequate number of well-trained teachers. The BEST Act consolidates funding for the hiring and professional development of teachers to provide the flexibility to best meet local needs for recruiting, retaining, and constantly updating the skills of teachers through high quality professional development, particularly in mathematics and science.

The Federal Government provides only a small fraction of overall funding for elementary and secondary education in the United States. The BEST Act focuses this funding and repeals the authorizations for several smaller programs. In eliminating these smaller programs, the Act provides greater flexibility to parents, schools, and States to adopt the best approach to improving the education of their children.

But the Federal government must insist that, whatever the level of its investment in education, it must receive the highest return possible in the currency of well-educated children, especially those who are from low-income or minority families. President Bush has rightly challenged us to “leave no child behind.” The committee has begun the process of demonstrating that Congress is equal to the challenge.

II. SUMMARY

TITLE I—B BETTER RESULTS FOR DISADVANTAGED CHILDREN

Part A—Basic programs

Overview

The purpose of this title is to improve student achievement, student performance, and school success by including tough accountability provisions, expanding resources, improving technical assistance, and providing mechanisms for turning around failing schools within 3 years. The last reauthorization of title I, which occurred in 1994, made major changes in the program regarding standards, assessment, and professional development. The provisions contained in the BEST proposal build upon and significantly expand the 1994 changes. These new provisions are outlined below.

New Provisions of Part A

State Plan: New provisions include—

Coordination: Title I activities will be coordinated with activities in other Federal education programs, including the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, and the Carl D. Perkins Vocational and Technical Education Act.

Accountability: Each State plan will be required to implement a single, statewide accountability system which will be used for all schools or local educational agencies within the State. This system will have to include performance indicators for local educational agencies and schools to measure student performance. In addition, the State system will also have to include sanctions and rewards which will be used to hold local educational agencies and schools accountable for making adequate yearly progress in the areas of student achievement and performance.

Adequate Yearly Progress: The State will define adequate yearly progress using the following criteria—applying the same high standards of academic performance to all students, the measures used to determine the progress must be statistically valid and reliable, results must show continuous and substantial improvement for all students on an annual basis, the progress of schools and local educational agencies must be based on assessments, measuring student achievement and performance will include all students and will be disaggregated by race, ethnicity, gender, disability status, migrant status, English proficiency, and socioeconomic status (this is not required in any case in which the number of students in a category is insufficient to yield statistically reliable information or the results would reveal individually identifiable information about an individual student), and establishing a timeline for ensuring that all students meet or exceed the State's proficient performance level on the State assessment within 10 years.

Assessments: Each State plan will demonstrate, in consultation with the local educational agencies, that the State has in place, by the school year 2005–06, a system of high quality, yearly student assessments in subjects, that include, at a minimum math, reading or language arts, and science (science assessments must be in place at the beginning of the 2007–2008 school year). The assessments are to be aligned with the State's content and performance standards. Beginning in school year 2005–06, all students in grades 3 through 8 must be tested annually in mathematics and reading or language arts. The Secretary of Education may provide the State 1 additional year if the State demonstrates that exceptional or uncontrollable circumstances prevented full assessment implementation. The Federal government will be required to pay all development costs associated with the new State assessment requirements and will be required to pay 50 percent of all State implementation costs. If the required Federal funding share is not appropriated, States will not have to comply with the new assessment requirements. States will also be required to produce individual student reports, which will be given to all parents, regarding the assessment scores or other information related to student performance.

NAEP: Beginning in school year 2002–03, each State will be required to participate in annual State assessments of 4th and 8th grade reading and math under the National Assessment of Educational Progress if the Secretary of Education pays the costs of administering such assessments. No sanctions would be levied against a State based solely on the results of its NAEP assessment.

Parental Involvement: Each State plan will describe how the State will disseminate effective parental involvement practices to local educational agencies and schools.

Penalty: If a State fails to meet the statutory deadlines for demonstrating it has in place challenging content and student performance standards, and a system for measuring and monitoring adequate yearly progress, the Secretary will withhold funds for State administration.

Report Cards: Beginning in the 2002–03 school year, any State and local educational agency receiving funding under the Better Education for Students and Teachers Act will be required to prepare and disseminate an annual State report card. Any State or local educational agency that has been providing report cards (prior to enactment of BEST) may continue to use those same report cards if they are modified to contain the information required under BEST. The required information includes: disaggregated student data, the number and names of each school identified for school improvement, and student assessment results. This information must be presented in a manner that parents can understand.

Annual State Report to the Secretary: Each State must report annually to the Secretary its progress in development an implementing required assessments, the number and names of each school identified for school improvement, the reason why such school was so identified, and the measure taken to address the performance problems of such school, in addition to the information required in the report cards.

Parents Right To Know: Each local educational agency receiving title I funding will, upon request from parents, provide information regarding the professional qualifications of the student's classroom teachers. In addition, each school receiving title I funding must provide parents with information on the level of performance of their children in each State assessment. All information provided to parents must be in an understandable and uniform format.

Local Educational Agency Plan: New provisions include—

Coordination: Title I activities will be coordinated with activities in other Federal education programs including the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, the Carl Perkins Vocational and Technical Education Act, and the Head Start Act.

Assurances: Several new assurances have been included within the local educational agency plan. Each local educational agency (LEA) plan will:

- (a) undertake activities so that each school can make adequate yearly progress;
- (b) fulfill school improvement responsibilities;
- (c) coordinate with other agencies providing services to children, youth, and families;
- (d) ensure that low-income students and minority students are not taught at higher rates than other students by unqualified, out-of-field, or inexperienced teachers;
- (e) use the results of student assessments and other measures to annually review the progress of each school; and
- (f) work with schools in the development and implementation of parental involvement and professional development activities.

Schoolwide Programs: New provisions include—

Eligibility: A local educational agency may use funds for a schoolwide program to upgrade its entire educational program if the LEA serves an eligible school attendance area in which not less than 40 percent of the children are from low-income families or not less than 40 percent of the children enrolled in the school are from such families.

Fiscal Accounting: Any school that is using funds from more than one Federal education program in the operation of its schoolwide program will not be required to maintain separate fiscal accounting records by program, so long as the school maintains records that demonstrate the schoolwide program addresses the intent and purpose of each Federal program for which funding is consolidated.

Pupil Safety and Family School Choice: New provisions include—

Conditions for student participation are:

- (a) any title I student who is a victim of a violent criminal offense on public school grounds will be allowed to transfer to another public school or charter school in the same State, unless allowing such transfer is prohibited under State or local law; or
- (b) if the school the student attends receives title I funds and the school has been designated as unsafe, then the local edu-

ational agency may allow such student to transfer to another public or charter school in the same State.

State Educational Agency Role: The State educational agency will determine, based on State law, what constitutes a violent offense and will determine the schools that are unsafe public schools.

Transportation Costs:

(a) the local educational agency serving the school in which a violent criminal offense occurred or which is determined to be unsafe may use title I funds for the transportation costs of a student who transfers to another school.

(b) the amount of assistance provided for transportation with title I funds may not exceed the per pupil costs for elementary or secondary students as provided by the local educational agency that serves the school involved in the transfer.

Assessment and Local Educational Agency and School Improvement: New provisions include—

Local Review: Each local educational agency receiving title I funds will: use the State assessments described in the State plan; review the annual progress of each school served to determine whether the school is making adequate progress in meeting the State standards; provide the results of the local annual review to schools so the schools can refine their instruction program; and annually review the effectiveness of parental involvement activities.

School Improvement:

(a) Identification—A local educational agency will identify for school improvement any elementary or secondary school participating in title I, part A activities that—

(i) fails, for any year, to make adequate yearly progress as defined in the State’s plan; or

(ii) was in school improvement status on the day preceding the date of enactment of the BEST Act.

(b) Review Opportunity—Before identifying an elementary school or a secondary school for school improvement, the local educational agency will provide the school with an opportunity to review the data on which the identification was based.

(c) School Plan—Each school identified for school improvement, within 3 months after being identified, must develop a 2-year school plan, in consultation with parents, school staff, the local educational agency serving the school, the local school board, and other experts. The plan will contain the following key elements:

(i) scientifically based research strategies that strengthen the core academic subjects;

(ii) policies and practices that have the greatest likelihood of ensuring that all students will meet the State’s proficient level of performance on the State assessment within 10 years after enactment of BEST;

(iii) an assurance that the school will reserve not less than 10 percent of the funds made available to the school for professional development;

(iv) the responsibilities of the school, the local educational agency, and the State educational agency serving the school;

(v) strategies to promote effective parental involvement.

(d) Technical Assistance—For each school identified for school improvement, the local educational agency serving such school will provide technical assistance.

(e) Parental Notification—A local educational agency will provide to parents of each student enrolled in a school identified for school improvement: an explanation of what the school improvement identification means; the reasons for the identification; an explanation of what the school, local educational agency, or the State educational agency is doing to address the problem; and an explanation of how parents can become involved in addressing issues.

(f) Corrective Action Implementation—After providing technical assistance to a school identified for school improvement, the local educational agency will take corrective action for any school within the local educational agency that—

(i) fails to meet adequate yearly progress at the end of the second year after which the school has been identified as needing improvement; or

(ii) was in program-improvement status for 2 years or in corrective action status on the day preceding enactment of this bill;

(g) Corrective Action Policies—After a school is identified as needing improvement, the local educational agency will—

(i) provide all students enrolled in the school with the option to transfer to another public school within the local educational agency, including a public charter school that is not in need of school improvement, unless: such an option is prohibited by State law or local law; or the local educational agency demonstrates that the local educational agency lacks the capacity to provide that option to all students in the school who request the transfer; and

(ii) take at least 1 of the following corrective actions: make alternative governance arrangements; replace the relevant school staff; or institute and fully implement a new curriculum.

(h) Corrective Action Exemption—A local educational agency may delay, for up to 1 year, implementation of corrective action if the school's failure to make adequate yearly progress was due to exceptional or uncontrollable circumstances.

(i) Reconstitution—If, after 1 additional school year, a school subject to corrective action continues to fail to make adequate yearly progress, the local educational agency will—

(i) provide all enrolled students in the school with the option to transfer to another public school within the local educational agency, including a public charter school, not identified for school improvement; and

(ii) prepare a plan and make arrangements for implementing alternative governance arrangements for the school.

(j) Reconstitution Transportation and Duration—The local educational agency will pay for transportation as a result of corrective action and reconstitution, but the payments will not exceed 15 percent of the local educational agency's allocation under title I, part A. If any school identified for reconstitution makes adequate yearly progress for 2 consecutive years, then the local educational agency will no longer be required to subject the school to corrective action.

(k) State Educational Agency (SEA) Responsibilities—The State educational agency will provide technical assistance to all identified schools needing school improvement and corrective action.

(l) State Review and Local Educational Agency Improvement—A State educational agency will annually review each local educational agency receiving title I, part A funds to determine its progress and to determine the effectiveness of its professional development and parental involvement activities.

(m) State Rewards—If a local educational agency has met or exceeded the State's definition of adequate yearly progress, the State may make rewards for individual schools within the local educational agency meeting or exceeding expectations.

(n) State Identification—A State educational agency will identify for improvement any local educational agency that for 2 consecutive years is not making adequate yearly progress. Before identifying a local educational agency, the State educational agency will provide the local educational agency with an opportunity to review the data.

(o) Local Educational Agency Revisions—Each local educational agency identified as needing improvement will revise their plan to: address yearly progress requirements; incorporate scientifically based research strategies; address professional development needs, and parental notification about the local educational agency's need for improvement.

(p) State Educational Agency Technical Assistance Responsibility—For each local educational agency needing improvement, the State educational agency will provide technical assistance to the local educational agency. Such assistance must be supported by scientifically based research instructional strategies and must address any problems the local educational agency may be having in implementing parental involvement and professional development activities.

(q) State Educational Agency Corrective Action—After providing technical assistance and taking other measures, the State educational agency may take corrective action at any time against a local educational agency identified as needing improvement. However, during the fourth year following identification, the State educational agency will take action against any local educational agency that still fails to make adequate yearly progress.

(r) State Educational Agency Required Action—Each State educational agency will implement at least one of the following corrective actions:

- (i) instituting and implementing a new curriculum;
- (ii) restructuring the local educational agency;
- (iii) developing and implementing a joint plan between the State educational agency and the local educational agency that addresses student performance problems;
- (iv) reconstituting school district personnel;
- (v) making alternative governance arrangements.

(s) State Educational Agency Allowable Action—Each State educational agency may take 1 of the following corrective actions:

- (i) deferring, reducing, or withholding funds;
- (ii) restructuring or abolishing the local educational agency;
- (iii) removal of particular schools from the local educational agency jurisdiction;
- (iv) appointment by the State educational agency of a receiver or a trustee to oversee the local educational agency.

(t) State Hearing—Prior to corrective action implementation, the State educational agency will provide the local educational agency with the opportunity to hold a hearing.

(u) Parental Notification—The State educational agency will notify parents about any corrective action the State educational agency may take.

(v) Delay—A State educational agency may delay, for 1 year, implementation of corrective action if the State educational agency determines that the schools within the local educational agency will meet the State's improvement criteria within 1 year.

(w) Special Rule—If local educational agencies that for at least 2 of the 3 years following identification make adequate progress toward meeting the State's standards, then those agencies no longer need to be identified for improvement.

Early Childhood Education: A local educational agency may use title I, part A funds for preschool services. Early childhood education programs may jointly operate with Even Start, Head Start, or State-funded preschool programs.

Funding: A funding level of $15 billion is authorized for part A for fiscal year 2002.

Part B—Literacy for children and families

Subpart 1—William F. Goodling Even Start Family Literacy programs

The William F. Goodling Even Start Family Literacy program is designed to improve the educational opportunities for low-income families by integrating early childhood, adult basic education, and parenting education into a unified family literacy program. The Secretary of Education awards grants to State educational agencies through a formula allocation. The State educational agencies distribute the funds to local educational agencies that form a collaboration with a community based organization, an institution of higher education, or another agency or nonprofit organization. This collaboration will provide joint education programs to serve children and their parents.

Even Start program services must include adult literacy instruction, early childhood education, instruction to help parents support their child's education, staff training, and home-based instruction. Child care and transportation may be provided if these services are necessary and other funding sources are not available.

Even Start grants are geared for areas with high rates of: poverty, illiteracy, unemployment, families of limited-English proiciency, or disadvantaged children. Grants are awarded for a 4-year period and may be renewed for up to 4 additional years.

In 2000, Congress amended the Even Start law by passing the Literacy Involves Families Together (LIFT) Act as part of the fiscal year 2001 omnibus appropriations bill (Public Law 106–554.)

The following amendments were made to Even Start:

- (a) extended the authorization for the program through fiscal year 2006;
- (b) increased the fiscal year 2001 authorization to $250 million;
- (c) strengthened the accountability requirements for local projects;
- (d) encouraged the use of family literacy in title I schools; and,
- (e) set standards for Even Start staff who are providing instructional services.

A funding level of $250 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

Subpart 2—Reading first

It is the purpose of this subpart to provide assistance to States, local educational agencies, schools, and teachers to help all children in kindergarten through third grade become proficient readers by the end of third grade.

The Secretary is authorized to distribute 75 percent of the funds to the States and the District of Columbia based on the formula for title I, part A. The remaining 25 percent of funds are to be distributed to the States on a competitive basis. The competitive grants are to be made based primarily on a State's demonstration of significant progress in helping all children read at a proficient level. State applications for both the formula and competitive funds are subject to a peer review process that is described in the bill. With funds from both sources, a State must distribute funds to local educational agencies through a competitive process. The bill contains criteria describing which local educational agencies are eligible to apply to the State.

Funds are also reserved for the Secretary to provide technical assistance to the States and to evaluate the programs supported by this subpart and for the National Institute for Literacy to disseminate information about reading research and effective programs supported under this subpart.

This new program builds upon the Reading Excellence Act, which has provided competitive grants to states for similar purposes. As in the Reading Excellence Act, all reading-related activities supported with these funds must be based on "scientifically based reading research," as this term is defined in the bill. The bill defines how funds can be used at the local level, including: purchasing, implementing, or developing diagnostic reading assessments, professional development, materials (including reading materials), training of tutors, and assisting parents to support their children's reading development.

States are authorized to use up to 20 percent of the funds they receive under the formula grants for professional development, technical assistance, and administering the program.

A funding level of $900 million is authorized for subpart 2 in fiscal year 2002.

Subpart 3—Early reading first

It is the purpose of this subpart to demonstrate effective approaches for improving the early language and literacy skills of children aged 3 through 5. The Secretary is authorized to award 4-year competitive grants to local education agencies, organizations serving preschool age children, or combinations of such agencies and organizations.

An eligible applicant must to apply to the Secretary to receive funding under this program, and the bill contains several required elements of an application. The Secretary would award grants on the basis of a peer review process. The National Institute for Literacy, with funding it receives under the Reading First proposal, would disseminate information regarding effective programs funded under this subpart.

The Secretary of Education is authorized to reserve funds from the amount appropriated for this subpart to carry out an evaluation of the funded projects and carry out research on language and literacy development for children aged 3 through 5.

A funding level of $75 million is authorized for subpart 3 in fiscal year 2002.

Part C—Education of migratory children

The Migrant Education program provides grants to State educational agencies to develop or improve educational programs for migrant students. Most migrant programs are administered by local educational agencies and operate during both the regular school year and in the summer. Priority for services is given to current migrant students and to students who are failing, or at greatest risk of failing, to meet State performance standards.

Funds are distributed through a formula which is based on the number of migrant children residing in the State. The number is then adjusted to the average per-pupil expenditure for both the State and the United States.

The bill builds upon current law to ensure that migratory children have the opportunity to attain high levels of educational excellence. The bill:

- (a) includes language ensuring that migratory children who move among the States are not penalized in any manner by disparities, among the States in curriculum, graduation requirements, and State student performance and content standards;
- (b) adds a provision which ensures that migratory children receive full and appropriate opportunities to meet the same challenging State standards that all children are expected to meet;
- (c) includes a requirement to have joint planning efforts between migrant education programs and bilingual education;
- (d) includes provisions emphasizing the importance of parental involvement and the parent advisory councils;
- (e) establishes an information system for electronically exchanging migrant student information which may include: immunization records and other health information; elementary and secondary academic history; credit accrual; State assessment results; other academic information essential to ensuring that migrant children achieve high standards; and eligibility for services under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act; and

(f) requires schools which receive Federal migrant education funding, even those which have chosen to participate in schoolwide programs, to first attend to the very special needs of this population which are a direct result of their migratory lifestyle by funding services and activities which will help them participate effectively in school, before putting migrant education funds into schoolwide programs.

A funding level of $400 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002 to carry out part C activities.

Part D—Initiatives for neglected, delinquent, or at-risk students

This program primarily serves youth who have been assigned to institutional facilities. The purpose of the program is to provide those youth with the opportunity to make a successful transition from institutionalization to further schooling or employment. A funding level of $50 million is authorized for part D for fiscal year 2002.

Part E—Evaluations and demonstrations

The BEST Act retains current law provisions. A funding level of $35 million is authorized for evaluations and demonstrations for fiscal year 2002.

Part F—21st Century Community Learning Centers

The 21st Century Community Learning Centers program provides grant support to rural and inner city public elementary or secondary schools, or consortia of such schools, to plan, implement, or expand projects that benefit the educational, health, social service, cultural, and recreational needs of a rural or inner-city community. The BEST bill makes some revisions to current law by placing an emphasis on academic enrichment programs and also allowing community based organizations and units of general purpose local government to be awarded grants along with local educational agencies. The grant process would continue to be a competitive process. A funding level of $1.5 billion is authorized for part F for fiscal year 2002.

Part G—Comprehensive School Reform

The BEST Act includes the Comprehensive School Reform program, often referred to as “Obey-Porter.” It authorizes the Secretary to award grants to State educational agencies by formula to enable them to make competitive grants to local educational agencies to carry out scientifically based research programs that emphasize academics and parental involvement. A funding level of $250 million is authorized for part G for fiscal year 2002.

Part H—School dropout prevention

Part H authorizes 2 activities designed to provide for school dropout prevention and reentry. Subpart 1 provides for a Coordinated National Strategy under which the Secretary of Education is authorized to conduct national activities including: (1) data collection regarding participation in Federal dropout prevention and school reentry programs; (2) establishment of an interagency working group to address dropout prevention and school reentry issues; and (3) creation of a national recognition program for schools that have made extraordinary progress in lowering dropout rates. Ten percent of the funding made available for part H is allocated for subpart 1 activities.

Subpart 2 provides for a National School Dropout Prevention Initiative to provide assistance to States. If the sum that is appropriated is less than $250 million, then the Secretary of Education will use such an amount to award grants on a competitive basis, to State educational agencies. If the amount appropriated is equal to or exceeds $250 million, then the Secretary will allocate funds to the States through the formula established under title I, part A. States are to use subpart 2 funds to award grants to public middle or secondary schools that have the highest dropout rates in the State for the purpose of supporting dropout prevention programs. Ninety percent of the funding made available for part H is allocated for subpart 2 activities.

A State receiving part H funds must provide dropout rate information to the Secretary, establish attendance-neutral funding policies, and adopt suspension and expulsion policies.

A funding level of $250 million is authorized for part H for fiscal year 2002.

Education for Homeless Children and Youth

The Education for Homeless Children and Youth program, authorized as Subtitle B of the Stewart B. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act, is extended through fiscal year 2008. The program provides for: the establishment of Offices of Coordinator of Education for Homeless Children and Youth in States; the development and implementation of State plans for the education of homeless children; and support to local educational agencies for the education of these children. The reauthorization bill strengthens provisions of the current law designed to avoid segregating homeless students, to maintain a child's attendance at his or her school or origin, to avoid enrollment delays, and to assure that the quality of an application is considered in the provision of subgrants to local educational agencies. A funding level of $70 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

TITLE II—TEACHERS

Part A—Teacher quality

Part A of title II consolidates funds and authorities from the existing Eisenhower Professional Development and Class Size Reduction programs in order to provide greater flexibility for States and localities in meeting their specific needs related to the professional development, recruitment, and hiring of highly qualified teachers.

Definitions: "Professional development" is strictly defined in the bill in order to assure that professional development activities supported under part A are an integral part of educational improvement plans, are sustained, are tied to State standards, and are based on the best available research. "Highly qualified" as the term pertains to teachers is also defined.

State and Local Grant Funds: States will be held harmless at their fiscal year 2001 funding allocations under the current Eisenhower and the Class Size Reduction programs. Remaining funds will be distributed by a formula based 50 percent on poverty and 50 percent on population. A State may reserve 5 percent of funds for State-level activities and local partnership activities, and the remaining 95 percent of funds must be distributed by formula to local educational agencies.

State Activities: States may use funds for a range of activities relating to the certification, recruitment, professional development, and support of teachers. Examples of such activities include: reforming teacher certification or licensing requirements; addressing alternative routes to State certification of teachers; recruiting teachers and principals; providing professional development activities to ensure that teachers are able to use State standards and assessments to improve instruction; and reforming tenure systems.

Local Activities: Local educational agencies may use funds for the professional development, recruitment, or hiring of teachers. To receive funds, the local educational agency must assess its needs for professional development and hiring and develop an evaluation plan.

Local Accountability: The evaluation plan of a local educational agency must include performance objectives related to: student achievement, participation in professional development activities, teacher retention, and decreased use of out-of-field teachers. The local educational agency must report annually to the State regarding its progress and will receive technical assistance from the State if it fails to make progress by the end of the third year of funding. If the local educational agency does not make progress by the end of 5 years, it will be ineligible for part A funding for 2 years. Funds which would otherwise be allocated to the local educational agency will be used instead by the State to assist the agency to meet performance objectives.

Local Partnerships: The funds reserved for local partnerships will be awarded competitively by the State agency for higher education, working in conjunction with the State educational agency. Eligible partnerships must include a private or State institution of higher education and the division of that institution that prepares teachers; a school of arts and sciences; and a high-need local educational agency. Eligible partnerships may also include other entities. Partnerships are to use funds for professional development for teachers, paraprofessionals and, if appropriate, principals. Activities must be coordinated with title II of the Higher Education Act, if applicable.

National Activities: The BEST Act authorizes support for 5 national activities:

(1) School Leadership Initiative: This program will ensure that funds for professional development will be available to principals, superintendents, and others to enhance their leadership and management skills.

(2) Advanced Certification or Credentialing: This program provides funds to the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards to make grants to State educational agencies, local educational agencies, and individuals to promote outreach, recruit teachers, or provide for teacher subsidies.

(3) Troops-to-Teachers: This program has proven to be effective in recruiting former military personnel as classroom teachers.

(4) Transition to Teaching: This program will help recruit, prepare, and support mid-career professionals to become highly qualified teachers.

(5) National Teacher Recruitment Campaign: This program will support a national Public service campaign concerning the resources for and routes to entering teaching.

Funding: A funding level of $3 billion is authorized for this part for fiscal year 2002, of which $100 million will be available to carry out national activities. A separate authorization of $3 million in fiscal year 2002 is provided for a National Teacher Recruitment Campaign.

Part B—Mathematics and science partnerships

Part B includes new initiatives designed to improve student achievement in the areas of mathematics and science by strengthening the training and recruitment of highly qualified math and science teachers.

Subpart 1—Mathematics and science partnerships

Grant Awards to Partnerships: Subpart 1 authorizes the award of 5-year competitive, matching grants to partnerships linking the math and science departments of institutions of higher education with States and local school districts. Priority is given to partnerships involving a high-need local educational agency. The Federal share is 75 percent in year 1, 85 percent in year 2, and 50 percent in years 3 through 5.

Application Requirements: Applications must include: an assessment of needs for teacher quality and professional development for all participating entities; a description of how activities will be aligned with State and local standards; and a description of how activities will be based on a review of relevant research. Applications must also include an evaluation and accountability plan which includes objectives and measures for improved student performance; increased student participation in advanced courses; increased percentages of secondary school classes in math and science taught by teachers with academic majors in those subjects; and increased numbers of math and science teachers who participate in content-based professional development activities

Partnership Activities: An eligible partnership shall use grant funds for 1 or more of the following activities: developing more rigorous math and science curricula aligned to State and local standards and with the standards expected for postsecondary study in mathematics and science, respectively; creating opportunities for enhanced and ongoing professional development; recruiting math and science majors to teaching; promoting strong teaching skills for math and science teachers and teacher educators; establishing math and science summer workshops or institutes for teachers; establishing distance learning programs for math and science teachers; designing programs to prepare a teacher to provide professional development to other teachers and novice teachers; and designing programs to bring teachers into contact with working scientists.

Accountability: Grant recipients must report annually to the Secretary regarding their progress in meeting performance objectives. If the Secretary determines that a grantee is not making substantial progress in meeting those objectives by the end of the third year of the grant, then no further grant payments will be made.

Funding: A funding level of $500 million is authorized for this subpart for fiscal year 2002.

Subpart 2—Eisenhower Clearinghouse for Mathematics and Science Education

Subpart 2 of part B provides for the continuation of the Eisenhower Clearinghouse for Mathematics and Science Education. The functions of the Clearinghouse are expanded to include the development of an Internet-based site offering a search mechanism and including electronic links to users and providers of instructional materials and programs. Not later than 2 years after the enactment of this Act, the National Academy of Sciences is to conduct a study of the Clearinghouse and submit its report to Congress. A funding level of $5 million is authorized for this subpart for fiscal year 2002.

Subpart 3—Preparing tomorrow's teachers to use technology

Grant Awards to Consortia: This subpart authorizes 5-year competitive grants to consortia to support programs preparing teachers to use technology effectively. Funds must be used to create programs that enable prospective teachers to use advanced technology to create learning environments where all students are prepared to meet challenging State standards. The Federal share of any project shall not exceed 50 percent.

Consortia: Eligible consortia must include at least 1 institution of higher education that offers a baccalaureate degree and prepares teachers for their initial entry into teaching, at least 1 State or local educational agency, and 1 or more of: a second institution of higher education, a school or department of education at an institution of higher education, a school or college of arts and sciences at an institution of higher education, a professional association, foundation, museum, library, for-profit business, public or private non-profit organization, community-based organization, or other entity with the capacity to contribute to the technology-related reform of teacher preparation programs.

Use of Funds: Consortia must use the funds to create programs that enable prospective teachers to use advanced technology to create learning environments conducive to preparing all students to meet standards and to evaluate the effectiveness of the project. The Act includes a number of permissive uses of funds as well.

Funding: A funding level of $150 million is authorized for this subpart for fiscal year 2002.

Subpart 4—General provisions

Subpart 4 of part B provides that the Secretary of Education must consult and coordinate activities under part B with the Director of the National Science Foundation, particularly with respect to the most appropriate and effective role each of their agencies can play with respect to summer workshops or institutes.

Part C—State and local programs for technology use in the classrooms

Part C consolidates several Federal educational technology programs into a single funding authority in order to provide States and localities with greater flexibility in meeting their specific technology needs.

Purpose: Part C is intended to support a comprehensive system to use technology effectively in elementary and secondary schools to improve student academic achievement and performance. The goal of the part is to assist every child in crossing the digital divide by ensuring that every child is technologically literate by the time the child finishes the 8th grade.

State and Local Grant Funds: The Secretary, through the Office of Educational Technology, awards grants to State educational agencies to be used for competitive grants to local educational agencies. The Secretary shall reserve sufficient funds to maintain grants awarded under the National Challenge Grants for Technology in Education prior to the enactment of the Better Education for Students and Teacher Act. Each State educational agency will receive a grant based on the title I formula. A grant recipient under part C may use no more than 5 percent of grant funds for administrative costs or technical assistance. At least 30 percent of local educational agency funds must be used for professional development.

State Activities: A State educational agency must submit a state-wide educational technology plan that outlines long-term strategies for improving student performance and achievement through the effective use of technology, for financing and coordinating technology education in the State, and for enabling the State educational agency to assist local educational agencies with the highest numbers or percentages of children in poverty and which demonstrate the greatest need for technology. The State educational agency awards competitive grants to local educational agencies with priority given to agencies with the highest numbers or percentages of children in poverty in both rural and urban areas and must provide technical assistance to local educational agencies that most need assistance in developing the application.

Local Activities: A local educational agency must apply, alone or as part of a consortium, to the State educational agency for assistance under part C. Local educational agencies may use part C funds to support school reform efforts, provide ongoing professional development on the integration of technology into the curriculum, acquire connectivity; and provide educational services for adults and families.

Local Accountability: Each local educational agency receiving funds under part C must develop an evaluation and submit an annual report to the State educational agency. If a local educational agency has failed to show measurable improvements in all performance measures by the end of the third year of funding, it will not receive funds for the remaining grant years.

National Technology Plan: The Secretary, in consultation with a wide range of individuals and organizations, must prepare a national long-range plan to support the national technology policy. The plan is to be submitted to the President and to the appropriate committees of Congress and is to be made readily accessible to the public. The plan must include the Secretary's long-range measurable goals and objectives relating to the purposes of part C and descriptions of the ways in which the Secretary will coordinate efforts to facilitate the effective use of technology to promote increased access to educational opportunities for all students and higher academic achievement and performance in education, training, and lifelong learning.

Funding: A funding level of $1 billion is authorized for part C for fiscal year 2002.

Part D—Portability of teacher pensions and credentials

Part D authorizes the establishment of a 9-member National Panel of Portability of Teacher Pensions and Credentials. Members are to be appointed by the Secretary from among practitioners and experts with experience relating to teacher pensions and credentials. The panel is to study options for increasing reciprocity of recognition of teacher credentials and portability of teacher pensions between States. Such sums as necessary are authorized for fiscal year 2002, to remain available until expended.

TITLE III—MOVING LIMITED ENGLISH PROFICIENT STUDENTS TO ENGLISH FLUENCY

Part A—Bilingual education

The Bilingual Education program is designed to provide educational assistance to students with limited English proficiency to meet challenging State standards. The BEST Act makes several changes to the program. The key changes are—

Program Development and Implementation Grants: This program has been repealed and the purposes of this initiative have been woven into other programs under this subpart.

Program Enhancement Projects: Grants will be used for: developing, implementing, expanding, or enhancing comprehensive preschool, elementary, or secondary education programs for limited English proficient children and youth; providing high quality professional development; and annually assessing the English proficiency of all limited English proficient students. In awarding grants, the Secretary of Education may give priority to an entity that serves less than 10,000 students; a large percentage or number of limited English proficient students; and limited or no experience in serving English proficient students.

Comprehensive School and Systemwide Improvement Grants: The BEST bill combines these two programs (under current law) into one program. Grants awarded under this program will be used for an array of purposes including: instructional programs for limited English proficient students; professional development; and implementation of family education or parent outreach programs. One-third of the grants awarded under this section will be awarded to school districts and two-thirds will be used for school activities.

Priority: In awarding all Bilingual Education grants, the Secretary of Education will give priority to an applicant who: experiences a dramatic increase in the number or percentage of limited English proficient students enrolled in the applicant's program and has limited or no experience in serving limited English proficient students; is a local educational agency that serves a school district with a total district enrollment that is less than 10,000 students; demonstrates a proven success record in helping limited English proficient students; proposes programs providing for bilingual proficiency both in English and another language; or serves a school district where there is a large percentage or number of limited English students. In addition, the 25 percent limitation for special alternative programs has been deleted.

State Grant Program: The State grant program assists local educational agencies with program design, capacity building, student performance assessment, and program evaluation. The bill increases the minimum funding level from $100,000 to $200,000.

Funding: A funding level of $300 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

Part B—Foreign language assistance

The Foreign Language Assistance Program provides competitive grant assistance to State or local educational agencies to provide foreign language study for elementary and secondary school students. Incentive payments are authorized as well for schools that offer programs designed to lead to communicative competency in a foreign language. The BEST Act adds provisions giving special consideration to grant applications which make effective use of technology, promote innovative activities, or are carried out through a consortium including the grantee and an elementary or secondary school. A funding level of $35 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

Part C—Emergency immigrant education

The Emergency Immigrant Education program provides funds to local educational agencies that experience unexpectedly large increases in their student populations due to immigration to assist with the education of those students. A funding level of $200 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

TITLE IV—SAFE AND DRUG-FREE SCHOOLS AND COMMUNITIES

Part A—State grants

Purpose: It is the purpose of this part to support programs that: prevent violence in and around schools; prevent the illegal use of alcohol, tobacco and drugs; involve parents; and are coordinated with related Federal, State, and community efforts. This part also establishes Principles of Effectiveness and increases the use of research-based programs. States are provided with greater flexibility in preventing violence and drug use.

State and Local Grants: The State application must include: a comprehensive plan for use of funds under the Governor's program and the State Department of Education's program; a needs assessment; and results of ongoing evaluation activities. The bill reserves 80 percent of the funds to be available to States for State support and local educational agency grants. State and local programs must implement scientifically based research initiatives. State educational agencies may use up to 5 percent of funds for technical assistance and up to 5 percent for administration.

State educational agencies may choose between two options for allocating remaining funds to local educational agencies: (1) provide at least 70 percent to schools based on enrollment and up to 30 percent allocated at a State's discretion or to schools the State determines to have the greatest need; or (2) provide up to 70 percent on a competitive basis to those schools with the greatest need, determined by the State, and 30 percent to those schools the State determines require additional help, but who may not meet "greatest need" criteria. This would allow States to choose and define a competitive or baseline minimum grant system and still allow them to help those schools that could not compete under that system, if they choose.

The bill also reserves 20 percent of a State's allocation for Governors' Programs of which not less than 95 percent of the funds must be used for scientifically based research activities. The bill allows Governors to add their money to the funds being sent to schools and communities.

Local Educational Agency Grants: In submitting their applications, local educational agencies must include a needs assessment, set measurable goals, and describe how they will utilize scientifically based research activities.

Evaluations and Reporting: The bill requires the Secretary of Education to consult with a newly created National Advisory Committee in creating an evaluation to measure the effectiveness of the program.

Parental Involvement: In the application, use of funds, and evaluation sections, the bill emphasizes the importance of ensuring that parents are involved, so that they can reinforce the violence and drug prevention message at home.

Federal Activities: The Secretary to authorized award grants or contracts to support a variety of activities designed to prevent the illegal use of drugs and violence among students from pre-school through the postsecondary level.

Domestic Violence Grants: The Secretary is authorized to award grants and contracts to elementary and secondary schools that work with experts to enable the schools to support training, programming, support services, and policies relating to children experiencing or witnessing domestic violence. The confidentiality of the victim and the victim's family must be maintained.

Funding: For fiscal year 2002, the bill authorizes $700 million for the State Grants Program, $150 million for National Programs, and $75 million for the National Coordinator Initiative. In addition, the bill authorizes $5 million in each of fiscal years 2002 through 2004 to support grants to combat the impact of experiencing or witnessing domestic violence on elementary and secondary school children.

Part B—Gun possession

The Gun-Free Schools provisions contained in part F of title XIV of the current law have been transferred to Part B of title IV. These provisions require State receiving funds under the BEST Act to have laws requiring local educational agencies to expel from school for at least 1 year any student who brings a weapon to school.

Part C—School safety and violence prevention

Part C includes a number of new provisions and allowable uses of funds related to school safety and violence prevention, including:

School Safety and Violence Prevention: Provides that Federal funds provided under titles IV and subpart 4 of part B of title V may be used for training school personnel to identify potential threats; to identify troubled youth; to make comprehensive school security assessments; to purchase metal detectors, locks, and surveillance cameras; to engage in collaborative efforts with community-based organizations to reduce violence; and to utilize other innovative programs to reduce school violence.

School Uniforms: Provides that nothing in the Act can be construed to prohibit schools from establishing a school uniform policy and allows funds provided under title IV and subpart 4 of part B of title VI to be used for establishing a school uniform policy.

Transfer of School Disciplinary Records: Requires States receiving Federal funds under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act to establish a procedure by which local educational agencies must transfer the suspension and expulsion records of any student to any private or public elementary or secondary school in which that student seeks enrollment. This requirement does not apply to private schools.

Background Checks: Amends the National Child Protection Act of 1993 to specify that individuals who are employed, or seek employment, with schools are included in the provisions of that act relating to background checks.

Part D—Environmental tobacco smoke

The bill transfers to the Elementary and Secondary Education Act the environmental tobacco smoke provisions that were contained under part C of title X of the Goals 2000: Educate America Act to part D of title IV. These provisions prohibit smoking within any indoor facility used for the provision of education, routine health care, day care, library services, or early childhood development.

TITLE V—PUBLIC SCHOOL CHOICE AND FLEXIBILITY

Part A—Public school choice

This part contains 3 programs: charter schools, magnet schools, and public school choice.

Subpart 1—Charter schools

Charter Schools are public schools that are released from various regulations that normally apply to public schools in exchange for increased student performance accountability. The Charter Schools program supports the establishment of charter schools in States that have enacted State charter school laws. The program supports the design, initial implementation, and evaluation of charter schools. A funding level of $190 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

Subpart 2—Magnet schools assistance

Magnet schools are public elementary or secondary schools that offer a special curriculum which attracts substantial numbers of students of different racial backgrounds. The purpose of this program is to assist schools in increasing their racial, economic, linguistic, or ethnic diversity. A funding level of $125 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

Subpart 3—Public school choice

The Public School Choice initiative requires all school districts receiving funds under part A of title I to provide students in low-performing title I schools with the option to transfer to another public school or public charter school in the school district, unless prohibited by State or local law. Local educational agencies located within States that qualify for the small state minimum under part A of title I are not required to comply with this requirement, but may comply if they so choose.

Part B—Flexibility

This part contains several initiatives designed to provide greater flexibility to schools and school districts. These efforts include the Education Flexibility Partnerships; the Rural Education Initiative; Waivers; and Innovative Education Program Strategies.

Subpart 1—Education flexibility partnerships

The Education Flexibility Partnership Act allows State educational agencies, the flexibility to waive certain Federal requirements, along with State requirements for the purpose of raising student achievement. The provisions of Public Law 106–25, which was signed into law in 1999 as a free-standing bill, have been incorporated into the BEST Act.

Subpart 2—Rural education initiative

The Rural Education Initiative is to provide adequate funding to rural school districts to enhance their ability to improve student performance. Chapter 1, the Small Rural School Achievement Program, permits rural schools districts to combine funds and apply these funds toward local initiatives designed to improve student achievement.

In addition, participating local educational agencies are eligible to receive a supplemental grant that, when combined with other Federal dollars, will enable these small rural schools to offer programs and activities of sufficient size, scope, and quality to have a significant impact upon student and school performance. Chapter 2, the Low-Income and Rural School Program, is designed to meet the needs of rural school districts serving large numbers of disadvantaged students. A funding level of $300 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002, of which $150 million is to be used to support activities under chapter 1.

Subpart 3—Waivers

Under the Waivers section, a State educational agency, local educational agency, or Indian tribe may seek waivers from the Secretary of Education. The entity seeking the waiver must describe the Federal requirements to be waived and how, in waiving those requirements, overall student achievement will improve.

Subpart 4—Innovative Education Program Strategies

The Innovative Education Program Strategies, often referred to in the current law as “Title VI,” has been moved to title V which is focused on providing flexibility to State and local educational agencies. This program provides support to State and local educational agencies to develop education reform initiatives that will improve student, school, and teacher performance. The administration of program funds is handled by the State educational agencies. However, the design and implementation of activities under the program are the responsibilities of the local educational agencies, school superintendents, principals, and teachers. A funding level of $850 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

Part C—Flexibility in the use of administrative and other funds

State educational agencies and local educational agencies have the ability to consolidate administrative funds for one or more of the following: all title I programs; administration of the Innovative Education Program Strategies initiative; establishment and operation of peer-review mechanisms under the BEST Act; and dissemination of information regarding model programs and practices.

Part D—Coordination of programs, consolidated state and local plans and applications

This provisions of this part encourage greater cross-program coordination, planning, and service delivery. State educational agencies and local educational agencies may integrate the following programs into one plan: part A of title I; part C of title I; title IV; and Innovative Education Program Strategies. Local educational agencies may integrate the following into one plan: part A of title I; part A of title II; title IV; and Innovative Education Program Strategies.

Part E—Advanced placement program

Part E authorizes a competitive grant program designed to: encourage more students (especially low-income students) to take the advanced placement (AP) exam; increase the availability of AP courses offered; and broaden the range of schools offering AP courses. This program, originally authorized as part of the Higher Education Amendments of 1998, has been expanded and added to the Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

The Secretary is to give first priority to providing grants to State educational agencies to enable them to cover all or part of the costs of AP test fees for low-income individuals. Seventy percent of any remaining funds will be allocated for grants to State and local educational agencies to expand access for low-income students to AP programs. Thirty percent of any remaining funds will be used for grants to provide students with on-line AP courses. A funding level of $50 million is authorized for these activities in fiscal year 2002.

TITLE VI—PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT AND ACCOUNTABILITY

Part A—Parental assistance

Part A provides leadership, technical assistance, and financial support to nonprofit organizations and local educational agencies to implement successful parent involvement programs. The Secretary of Education is authorized to award competitive grants to nonprofit organizations and local educational agencies to establish school-linked or school based parental information and resource centers. Grant funds will be used to assist parents in participating effectively in their children's education. A funding level of $50 million is authorized for these activities in fiscal year 2002.

Part—B Improving academic achievement

The purpose of part B is to create rewards for states and schools that make the most progress in improving educational achievement. The Secretary would be authorized to make "Achievement in Education Awards" to support States, and "No Child Left Behind Awards" to recognize schools. The Secretary would also be authorized to make one-time bonus payments to States that complete the development of assessments in advance of the schedule outlined in section 1111. The BEST Act authorizes $50 million for fiscal year 2002 for these purposes, as well as other activities designed to promote the improvement of education, as part of the Fund to Improve Education Achievement (FIEA).

The BEST Act also authorizes the Secretary to reduce administrative funds to those States that fail to make adequate yearly progress and that show no statistically significant improvement for students who are racial or ethnic minorities and for economically disadvantaged students. The Secretary's determination will be based on both the results of the State assessment system described in section 1111, and the results of 4th and 8th grade assessments by the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) in mathematics and reading. However, no sanctions would be levied against a State based solely on the results of its NAEP assessment. After 2 years of insufficient progress, the Secretary may reduce administrative funds by up to 30 percent, after 3 such years, up to 75 percent.

In addition to authorizing $50 million for FIEA, part B authorizes $400 million and $110 million for the development of State assessments and conduct of the state NAEP, respectively, in fiscal year 2002.

TITLE VII—INDIAN, NATIVE HAWAIIAN, AND ALASKA NATIVE EDUCATION

The purpose of title VII is to modify and improve the educational services provided for American Indian, Alaska Native, and Native Hawaiian students. The BEST Act continues to make grants available to schools operated or supported by the Bureau of Indian Affairs and allows local educational agencies to provide an increased range of services to include those that: (1) promote the incorporation of culturally responsive teaching and learning strategies; (2) incorporate American Indian and Alaska Native specific curriculum content into the curriculum; (3) promote coordination among tribal, Federal, and State public schools in areas that will improve education; and (4) offer family literacy activities. The BEST Act gives local educational agencies which receive formula grants under part A the ability to commingle all of the Federal funding they receive for educating Indian children, regardless of which agency provides it, into 1 coordinated, comprehensive program to meet the specific needs of Indian children. The BEST Act also authorizes the provision of family literacy services for Indian, Native Hawaiian, and Native Alaskan students, limits administrative costs to 5 percent, and consolidates a number of programs under Part B: Native Hawaiian Education and Part C: Native Alaskan Education. Fiscal year 2002 funding authorizations levels are $116 million for Indian Education, $28 million for Native Hawaiian Education, and $17 million for Alaska Native Education.

TITLE VIII—REPEALS

This title repeals titles IX through XIV of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 and repeals the Goals 2000: Educate America Act.

TITLE IX—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

This title authorizes a grant award to the National Board on Testing and Assessment of the National Research Council to conduct an ongoing evaluation of high stakes assessments. A funding level of $4 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002, to remain available until expended.

General notes

1. Throughout the bill, specific funding levels are established for fiscal year 2002 and “such sums as may be necessary” are authorized for each of the 6 succeeding fiscal years. Unless otherwise noted, all programs included in the BEST Act are authorized through fiscal year 2008.

2. Impact Aid programs remain a part of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. These programs were reauthorized in 2000 as part of the Floyd D. Spence National Defense Authorization Act for fiscal year 2001 (Public Law 106–398). The BEST Act retains impact aid programs as title VIII, but makes no changes to these programs.

III. LEGISLATIVE HISTORY AND COMMITTEE ACTION

During the 106th Congress, the committee held 24 hearings on issues related to the reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA). On February 15, 2001, the full committee held a hearing on President Bush’s education proposals-receiving testimony from Education Secretary Roderick Paige.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

On March 7 and 8, 2001, the committee met in executive session to consider the Better Education for Students and Teachers (BEST) Act.

An initial draft of the Better Education for Students and Teachers Act was circulated to members of the committee on February 16, and a substitute proposal was circulated on March 2. By unanimous consent of the committee, the March 2 substitute, in combination with the 4 amendments offered by Senator Jeffords at the outset of the executive session, served as original text for purposes of further amendment.

The committee took action on 30 amendments, adopting 21 of them and defeating the remaining 9. Fourteen amendments were offered and subsequently withdrawn, and an additional 19 amendments were filed but not offered. The bill as amended was adopted by a roll call vote of 20 yeas to 0 nays.

Votes Taken During Executive Session

Eight roll call and 23 voice votes were taken during committee consideration of the Better Education for Students and Teachers Act, as follows:

1. Senator Jeffords offered a manager's amendment that includes technical corrections to the bill language distributed to members on March 2, as well as several small issues worked out with members prior to the executive session. The amendment was adopted by voice vote (en bloc with the 3 Jeffords amendments described immediately below).

2. Senator Jeffords offered an amendment to expand and strengthen the accountability provisions of the bill. The amendment: (1) includes a set-aside to help States, school districts, and schools develop school improvement strategies; (2) requires States to create statewide standards for moving all students towards proficiency; (3) requires States to test all students in grades 3 through 8 annually in math and reading, authorizing funds to cover development costs and half of the testing implementation costs; (4) requires States to administer the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) reading and math tests in grades 4 and 8, with the Federal government assuming the cost of NAEP; (5) requires States, school districts, and schools to take stronger actions on a 3-year time line if they are not meeting the annual yearly progress goals; (6) creates an achievement fund to reward high performing States; and (7) requires schools, school districts, and States to develop report cards. The amendment was adopted by voice vote (en bloc).

3. Senator Jeffords offered an amendment making several technical and clarifying changes to the new Reading First program that was included in the substitute distributed to members on March 2. The Reading First program, in Part B of Title I, has the goal of having all students read well by the end of third grade. The amendment was adopted by voice vote (en bloc).

4. Senator Jeffords offered an amendment to authorize $75 million in fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary in the 6 succeeding fiscal years for the establishment of the Early Reading First program as a complement to the Reading First initiative. The goal of Early Reading First is to assist preschool age children in their language and early literacy development. The program would provide competitive grants to schools and other programs serving children ages 3-5, and it contains a strong evaluation component. The amendment was adopted by voice vote (en bloc).

5. Senator Kennedy offered an amendment to require that local educational agencies use at least 50 percent of their teacher quality funds for professional development activities (rather than using all or a majority of funds for teacher recruitment or hiring). The amendment was defeated by a roll call vote 10 yeas to 10 nays.

These activities, as well as teacher testing, would also be added to the list of permissive activities to be conducted by local educational agencies. The amendment was adopted by voice vote.

7. Senator Mikulski offered an amendment to authorize a new Community Technology Centers program. The program would provide competitive grants to allow foundations, museums, libraries, for-profit businesses, non-profits, community-based organizations, institutions of higher education, State educational agencies, local educational agencies, or consortia to expand access to computers and related services to disadvantaged residents of economically distressed urban and rural communities. The amendment would authorize $100 million for fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary for the 4 succeeding fiscal years. The amendment was defeated by voice vote.

8. Senator Bingaman offered an amendment to establish an expanded Advanced Placement (AP) testing program within the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. Seventy percent of the funds would be allocated for grants to State and local educational agencies to expand access for low-income students to AP programs. The remaining 30 percent of funds would be used for grants to provide students with on-line AP courses. Authorized funding is $50 million in fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary for the out-years. The amendment was adopted by voice vote (en bloc with the 2 Bingaman amendment described immediately below).

9. Senator Bingaman offered an amendment to authorize school dropout prevention programs. Of that amount, 10 percent is allocated for national activities. The remaining 90 percent is to be used for States formula grants and for capacity building and design initiatives. State funds are to be awarded competitively to local schools to support dropout prevention programs, to assist school re-entry, and to raise the academic achievement of all students. Authorized funding is $50 million in fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary for the out-years. The amendment was adopted by voice vote (en bloc).

10. Senator Bingaman offered an amendment to authorize a new grant program to provide higher education consortia that prepare prospective teachers to better train them in the use of advanced technologies. Authorized funding is $150 million in fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary for the out-years. The amendment was adopted by voice vote (en bloc).

11. Senator Harkin offered an amendment to authorize a school renovation grant program. The amendment would authorize a funding level of $1.6 billion for fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary for each of the fiscal years 2003 through 2006.

14. Senator Murray offered an amendment to increase the fiscal year 2002 authorization for homeless education programs from $40 million to $90 million. During committee discussion of the amendment, Senator Murray modified it to provide for a fiscal year 2002 authorization level of $70 million. The amendment, as modified, was adopted by voice vote.

15. Senator Clinton offered an amendment require that local educational agencies use 10 percent of their allotments to recruit, hire, and train teachers. It would also include paraprofessional training programs and programs that attract mid-career professionals to teaching among the examples of recruitment activities which could be conducted. During committee discussion of the amendment, Senator Clinton modified the amendment to delete the provisions requiring a 10-percent set-aside. The amendment, as modified, was adopted by voice vote.

16. Senator Clinton offered an amendment to authorize $3 million for a National Teacher Recruitment Campaign as part of the national programs portion of the Teacher Quality provisions of the bill. The Secretary is to make a competitive grant to a single national coalition of teacher and media organizations, including the National Teacher Recruitment Clearinghouse. Grant funds would be used to conduct a national public service campaign concerning the resources for and routes to entering teaching. The amendment was adopted by voice vote.

17. Senator Clinton offered an amendment to include recruitment and mentorship as activities in the national program dealing with professional development of school leadership and to clarify that principals and assistant principals are included in the term “school leadership.” The amendment was adopted by voice vote.

18. Senator Clinton offered an amendment to require that results from assessments be provided to parents and teachers within 4 weeks after the test is taken. During committee discussion of the amendment, Senator Clinton modified it to delete the 4-week time limit and to instead require that parents and teachers be provided with assessment results as soon as is practicably possible after the test is taken. The amendment, as modified, was adopted by voice vote.

19. Senator Bingaman offered an amendment to establish a National Panel on Portability of Teacher Pensions and Credentials. The 9-member panel, appointed by the Secretary, is to study options for increasing the reciprocity of recognition of teacher credentials and the portability of teacher pensions between States and to issue a report 1 year after members of the panel have been appointed. The amendment was adopted by voice vote.

20. Senator Sessions offered an amendment to add provisions dealing with school safety and violence prevention activities, school uniforms, transfer of school disciplinary records, employee background checks, and memorial services at public schools to Title IV (Safe and Drug-Free Schools and Communities) of the bill. During consideration of the amendment, Senator Sessions modified it to clarify the application of the provisions and to delete the provisions relating to memorial services. The amendment, as modified, was adopted by voice vote.

21. Senator Gregg offered an amendment to permit the Secretary to award 21st Century Community Learning Centers grants to community based organizations and to waive any provision of the program requiring that the money be used in or through a school. Following a discussion of additional revisions to the 21st Century Community Learning Centers program to be made in a managers’ package for the floor, the amendment was adopted by voice vote.

22. Senator Dodd offered an amendment to set fixed dollar figures in each of the 7 years of the reauthorization bill for the grants to State and local educational agencies authorized under part A of title I. Beginning with a fiscal year 2002 level of $15 billion, the authorized funds would increase each year—ending at a funding level of $ 37.7 billion in fiscal year 2008 (full funding under the allocation formula). (The BEST bill provides an authorization level of $15 billion for fiscal year 2002 and “such sums” in each of the 6 succeeding fiscal years.) The amendment was defeated by a roll call vote of 10 yeas to 10 nays.

Amendments Offered and Subsequently Withdrawn

Fourteen amendments were offered, discussed, and subsequently withdrawn:

1. Senator Gregg offered and then withdrew an amendment to authorize $500 million for a new child centered program within title I. Under the program, up to 10 States and up to 20 local educational agencies located in States which do not participate would allocate all their part A funds (including the additional amount authorized in the amendment) to title I-eligible children on a per-pupil basis. The per-pupil amount could be used for supplemental educational services provided by the school or by another entity and would follow any eligible child who transfers to another school.

2. Senator Frist offered and then withdrew an amendment to establish an Academic Achievement for All Demonstration program. Under the demonstration program, up to 15 States would be permitted to combine funds under a dozen Federal education formula grant programs to use to advance the educational priorities of the State. Participating States must show results in improving the academic performance of all students during the 5-year term of the performance agreement. If a State chooses not to participate, any local educational agency in the State may do so.

3. Senator Kennedy offered and then withdrew an amendment to require that, within 4 years, every teacher who provides services to title I students will meet the definition of "highly qualified" included in the bill. The amendment would also prohibit a local educational agency from using teacher quality funds to hire a teacher who is not "highly qualified."

4. Senator Dodd offered and then withdrew an amendment to authorize the establishment of an Early Childhood Educator Professional Development Program. The amendment would provide a funding level of $100 million in fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary in each of the 6 succeeding fiscal years.

5. Senator Dodd offered and then withdrew an amendment to increase the amount of basic grants for Puerto Rico under title I in order to provide for funding equity. The increases would be phased in over a 5-year period, beginning in fiscal year 2002.

6. Senator Harkin offered and then withdrew an amendment to authorize grants to establish or expand elementary and secondary school counseling programs. The amendment would provide a funding level of $100 million in fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary in each of the 4 succeeding fiscal years.

7. Senator Bingaman offered and then withdrew an amendment to authorize grants to schools and local educational agencies to assist in the establishment of smaller learning communities. The amendment would provide a funding level of $200 million in fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary in each of the 4 succeeding fiscal years.

8. Senator Bingaman offered and then withdrew an amendment to earmark funds to establish a School Security and Technology Center at the Sandia Lab that would serve as a resource center for local educational agencies. The amendment would also provide grants to local educational agencies to improve the security at their schools. The amendment would authorize a funding level of $2.75 million and $10 million, respectively, in each of the fiscal years 2002, 2003, and 2004.

9. Senator Wellstone offered and then withdrew an amendment to provide that States would not have to develop or implement the new annual assessment requirements in title I unless: (1) the authorization for this development (authorization is $400 million in the bill) is fully funded (in which case the deadline for implementation would be delayed for 1 school year); and (2) funding for IDEA reaches 40 percent of the national average per-pupil expenditure.

10. Senator Wellstone offered and then withdrew an amendment to provide that States would not have to develop or implement the new annual assessment requirements in Title I unless: (1) the authorization for this development (authorization is $400 million in the bill) is fully funded (in which case the deadline for implementation would be delayed for one school year); and (2) Title I, Part A is funded at $15 billion, the authorized amount in the bill.

11. Senator Wellstone offered and then withdrew an amendment to delete a provision in the bill that rewards states with one-time payments for developing their assessments ahead of schedule. In its place it would authorize one-time payments for States that develop particularly high-quality assessments.

12. Senator Murray offered and then withdrew an amendment to add 2 options to the 3 included in the bill for schools subject to reconstitution. The current options are: (1) reopening as a charter school; (2) replacing all or most of the school staff; or (3) making alternative governance arrangements. The Murray amendment would add the following options: (1) replacing the school's leadership, including the principal, for which purpose bonuses may be given from title I funds, and (2) providing extended learning time through an academically focused after-school program.

13. Senator Reed offered and then withdrew an amendment to require that local educational agencies use at least 5 percent of their title I allocations in FY 2002 and 2003 for professional development. The percentage would be increased to 10 percent in subsequent fiscal years.

14. Senator Clinton offered and then withdrew an amendment to authorize a public school choice demonstration program. States and local educational agencies would apply to the Secretary for funds to plan, implement, and evaluate innovative approaches to public school choice. A funding level of $50 million would be authorized in fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary in each of the 6 succeeding fiscal years.

IV. EXPLANATION OF THE BILL AND COMMITTEE VIEWS

TITLE I—HELPING DISADVANTAGED CHILDREN MEET HIGH STANDARDS

Part A—Basic programs

The purpose of part A is to provide opportunities for those students served by part A of title I to meet challenging State performance and content standards. The last revision of title I, which occurred in 1994, made major changes regarding standards, assessment, professional development, and accountability. The 1994 law also established a 7-year timetable for all States to develop and implement standards and assessments. The BEST Act builds upon these reforms and expands them to all students.

The 1994 law created several mechanisms to measure student performance. One such mechanism was adequate yearly progress. The BEST Act changes the definition of adequate yearly progress by stating that all children shall meet the State's performance level for proficiency within 10 years. In addition, adequate yearly progress must be based on State standards and assessments.

The BEST Act significantly expands the scope and frequency of current assessment efforts. States receiving title I funds would be required to establish performance standards for all students, and assess students in grades 3–8 annually in mathematics and reading by school year 2005–2006. The results of these assessments would be made available to parents and the public as the primary measure of success in reaching the State's performance standards, at the school, local educational agency, and statewide level. In recognition of the substantial investment this additional assessment will require, the Act provides funding for nearly all development costs as well as guaranteeing half the ongoing costs for implementation.

The BEST Act also takes several steps to provide better information to parents and the public on the progress of schools in meeting State performance standards. The Act would require report cards that would indicate the progress of students in meeting State performance goals, disaggregated into several subgroups, including race, gender, disability, and income. Report cards would report results at the school, local, and State levels. In recognition of the statistical limits of such disaggregation, the BEST Act does not require disaggregation for groups of students in small schools or local educational agencies that would yield invalid results, and would permit techniques, such as multi-year aggregation, that would strengthen the validity of assessment data. In addition, data could not be disaggregated when doing so would violate an individual's privacy.

Another reform included in the 1994 law was the establishment of the school improvement and corrective action process for local educational agencies and schools. The BEST Act expands these provisions by requiring State educational agencies and local educational agencies to take at least 1 of a series of corrective actions with respect to schools and local educational agencies that do not improve after being identified as failing to meet adequate yearly progress.

In addition, in order to draw broad public attention to the efforts of States and local educational agencies to turn around failing schools, the BEST Act requires States to report annually to the Secretary the number and names of each school identified for school improvement, the reason why each school was so identified, and the measure taken to address the performance problems of each school.

A new mechanism for measuring the progress of States established by the BEST Act is required participation in the National Assessment of Education Progress (NAEP). While nearly all States now participate in NAEP, such participation would be required of all States, and paid for by the Federal government, to provide a benchmark for comparison among States and to serve as confirmation of progress or lack thereof for the purposes of the State rewards and sanctions outlined in title VI. No sanctions would be levied against a State based solely on the results of its NAEP assessment.

The BEST Act also expands parental involvement and professional development activities. Both the State and local educational agencies must implement parental involvement and professional development programs that have demonstrated effectiveness. The State is required to provide technical assistance to districts and schools that may be having problems implementing parental involvement and professional development activities.

Since 1994, the title I school-wide program has become quite popular. Due to its popularity, the committee changed the eligibility qualification from not less than 50 percent of enrolled children from low-income families to not less than 40 percent.

Two new provisions pertaining to school choice have been included in the BEST Act. The bill requires local educational agencies to offer public school choice alternatives to students attending title I schools that have been identified as needing improvement or corrective action, as well as schools where violent incidents have occurred.

The BEST Act increases the authorization level for fiscal year 2002 for part A to $15 billion. Of amounts appropriated, up to 5 percent may be reserved by State educational agencies to use for school improvement activities, assessment initiatives, and awards for outstanding schools and educators. The State will determine how the reservation will be used.

Part B—Literacy for children and families

Subpart 1—William F. Goodling Even Start Family Literacy Act

The William F. Goodling Even Start Family Literacy program is designed to improve the educational opportunities for low-income families by integrating early childhood, adult basic education, and parental education into a unified family literacy program. Even Start grants are geared to areas with high rates of poverty, illiteracy, unemployment, families of limited English proficiency, or disadvantaged children. The program was reauthorized in 2000 as part of the Omnibus Consolidated and Emergency Supplemental Appropriations Act for fiscal year 2001 (Public Law 106-554), and the BEST Act makes no changes to the program.

Subpart 2—Reading First

President Bush has set as a goal for the nation that all students be proficient readers by the end of the third grade. This is critically important because after third grade, in most of our nation's schools, reading is taught less as a skill in and of itself but increasingly becomes a tool for learning other knowledge and skill areas. Young students who can not read well—with speed, accuracy, and understanding—are likely not only to fall further behind their peers in reading ability, but also will not be able to keep up in the other subjects areas. Reading is truly the foundation for all further school success.

Research carried out over the past 2 decades has given us a clear picture of how children learn how to read, what is the cause of reading difficulties, and how instruction can be designed in order to help nearly all children become proficient readers. A recent report of the National Reading Panel, "Teaching Children to Read," summarizes some of the most important threads of this research and presents its implications for instruction. It is this research base that forms the basis on which the Reading First program is built. Like the Reading Excellence Act, this new program requires that all activities carried out with Reading First funds must be based on scientific reading research. In fact, this term is defined in this new program exactly as it is in the Reading Excellence Act.

The overall focus of Reading First is to have the knowledge generated by solid research reflected in the teaching of reading to all students. The BEST Act allows for the participation of parents and other community members in the implementation of programs supported under both Reading First and Early Reading First, so long as they are based on evidence from scientific research meeting the definition in the Act. For example, a number of States, including Texas, Ohio, and Michigan, have implemented reading programs with community and parent involvement that they have found to be effective. So long as they comply with the requirements of the Act with regard to being based on sound research and covering the basic components of reading instruction, these approaches can be important tools in helping all children learn to read well by the end of third grade.

All State educational agencies are eligible to apply for Reading First funds. However, applications must be approved by a peer review panel in order to be funded. It is the intent of the committee that the Secretary and the review panels seriously consider the quality of the applications—under both the formula and competitive grant sections—and insure that Reading First funds are used to improve reading instruction based on scientific reading research. In addition, the committee intends that the funds appropriated under this subpart be targeted to schools serving children most likely to experience difficulties learning to read, including children with disabilities and children learning to speak and/or read English as a second language.

Subpart 3—Early Reading First

While explicit instruction in reading usually begins in kindergarten or first grade, research has clearly demonstrated that the skills which make learning to read possible develop at a much earlier age. A recent report from the Department of Education—"The Kindergarten Year"—found that children arrive at kindergarten with significant differences in their early language and pre-literacy skills. Those children with more "risk factors"—coming from poor families, having parents with low levels of education—lacked the foundation skills identified by research as critical to successfully learning to read.

It is the purpose and goal of the Early Reading First program to demonstrate how programs serving preschool age children can help those who are at risk for reading difficulties gain the important language and pre-literacy skills identified by rigorous research. Like the Reading First program, it is the intent of the committee that funds appropriated under this subpart be targeted at programs serving those children most likely to need this program-based assistance. The research would indicate this should include children from poor families, children whose parents have low levels of education and literacy, children with disabilities, and children learning to speak English as a second language. In addition, since parents should be a critical part of this early childhood learning process, the committee believes that programs serving both children and parents should be included in the programs funded.

Since there is no uniform organizational structure at the local level to designate as an eligible applicant, the committee intends that the Secretary, in awarding these grants, give priority to applicants that can show that Early Reading First funds will benefit a broad coalition or collaboration of local programs serving preschool age children. In this way, the limited funds being made available through this subpart can have the greatest impact at the community level.

Since this is a demonstration program, and the research base for language and literacy development in this age group is less well developed, the committee has included two important national activities. The evaluation authorized by this subpart should be carried out with the same scientific rigor as the definition of "scientifically based reading research" describes. It is the expectation of the committee that these evaluation results will themselves advance our knowledge of how language and pre-literacy skills develop in the preschool years and how programs serving these children and their families can ensure that nearly all children arrive at school ready to learn. In the same vein, the committee has required the Secretary to carry out research to advance our knowledge in this important area. It is the committee's expectation that this research will be carried out in such a manner so as to meet the criteria for quality and rigor established by the National Reading Panel.

Part C—Education of migratory children

The Migrant Education program provides grants to State educational agencies to develop or improve educational programs for migrant students. Most migrant programs are administered by local educational agencies and operate during both the regular school year and in the summer. Priority for services is given to current migrant students and to students who are failing, or at greatest risk of failing, to meet State standards. The BEST Act builds upon current law to ensure that migratory children have the opportunity to attain high levels of educational excellence. A funding level of $400 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

Part D—Initiatives for Neglected, Delinquent or At-Risk Students

The Initiatives for Neglected, Delinquent or At-Risk Students program is designed to meet the academic and skills building needs of at-risk, school-aged youth in all States and remains unchanged from current law. A funding level of $50 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

Part E—Evaluations and demonstrations

The BEST Act retains current law and authorizes $35 million for fiscal year 2002.

Part F—21st Century Community Learning Centers

The BEST Act includes the reauthorization of the 21st Century Community Learning Centers program. The bill makes several revisions to current law by placing an emphasis on academic enrichment programs. In addition, community-based organizations, public and private entities, and units of general purpose government will become eligible for 21st Century Community Learning Center grants and compete with local educational agencies for the funds.

During the executive session, committee members discussed further changes that will be made to the program. The key change focused on giving an equal priority to 3 entities for the purpose of awarding grants. The 3 entities that will have equal priority are: title I-eligible schools; joint applications between eligible organizations and title I-eligible schools; and community-based organizations and other eligible organizations serving communities in which title I-eligible schools are based or located.

Part G—Comprehensive School Reform

The BEST Act includes the Comprehensive School Reform program, often referred to as the Obey-Porter initiative. The Comprehensive School Reform program awards formula grants to State educational agencies. These grants are designed to assist in the implementation of effective school reform models. There are a number of demonstration programs that have produced positive results in a variety of subject areas. A funding level of $200 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

Part H—Assistance to address school dropout problems

An issue of great concern to the members of the committee is the escalating school dropout rate. To address this problem, a dropout prevention program has been included in the BEST Act. The initiative creates a grant program that will provide assistance to public schools for the implementation of an effective, sustainable, and coordinated dropout effort.

Education for Homeless Children and Youth

The BEST Act also includes amendments to the Education for Homeless Children and Youth program authorized as Subtitle B of Title VII of the Stewart D. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act. The program provides State formula grant assistance for: the establishment of Offices of Coordinator of Education of Homeless Children and Youth in States; the development and implementation of State plans for the education of homeless children; and subgrant support to local educational agencies for the education of these children.

The committee notes that much progress has been made since the enactment of the homeless education program in 1987. At that time, nearly half of all homeless children were not attending school. Currently, an estimated 88 percent of these children are enrolled in grades K–12. At the same time, much remains to be done in overcoming the particular challenges involved in educating homeless children and youth. A substantial portion of homeless children do not attend school regularly. The mobility and frequent absence of the records or immunizations required for enrollment of homeless children present significant obstacles to meeting the educational needs of these children.

The BEST Act strengthens provisions of the current law in an effort to assure that homeless children receive a quality education, to provide for continuity in the education of homeless children, and to focus resources on high quality programs. Specifically, the BEST Act includes several provisions designed to avoid segregating homeless students into separate schools. It is estimated that 40 such schools are now in operation. Many of these schools were established as temporary arrangements, but have now become permanent fixtures. Serious questions have been raised regarding the quality of the education offered by some of these institutions.

The bill also contains provisions intended to avoid disruption of a child's education program by maintaining the child's attendance at his or her school of origin. The bill also attempts to avoid enrollment delays by requiring immediate enrollment and by directing school officials to make referrals for immunizations and to contact other schools to obtain required records. Consistent with the committee's efforts throughout the BEST Act to focus Federal resources on proven approaches, the bill includes new provisions requiring that the quality of an application is considered in the provision of subgrants to local educational agencies. A funding level of $70 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

TITLE II—TEACHER QUALITY

Part A—Teachers

The committee is unanimous in its interest in improving the quality of professional development opportunities for teachers. Committee members agree that children can make greater academic gains if they have a knowledgeable and caring teacher leading their classroom. This bill recognizes that an investment in better teachers is an investment in our nation's young people. The legislation authorizes $3 billion for fiscal year 2002 for teacher quality and classroom quality measures.

It was the committee's intent to create legislation that reflected the observations and recommendations by professionals in the field regarding how best to meet the needs of individual students in schools across this country. The bill takes a flexible approach that allows States and local educational agencies to adopt successful models that will work for the conditions and circumstances of their schools. It was the committee's intent to provide a general framework and funding stream for teacher quality initiatives with a specific emphasis on professional development and the hiring of qualified teachers, while allowing individual school districts to adapt programs to meet their specific needs. It is the expectation of the committee that the States and local educational agencies will maximize the results from the activities of this bill by carefully assessing their needs and designing a systematic approach to meeting those needs. The bill encourages each State educational agency to review relevant research and to explain why the activities it proposes in its application are expected to improve student performance and outcomes, how the activities are aligned to State content and performance standards and assessments, and how it will ensure that local educational agencies will carry out their proposed activities.

The BEST Act combines funds and authorities from the Eisenhower Program and Class Size Reduction programs. It maintains a separate Federal program for teacher quality initiatives in recognition of the critically important role that teachers play in improving educational opportunities for young people. The professional development component of part A of title II builds upon the strengths of the Eisenhower program by placing an emphasis on innovative professional development programs.

In an effort to direct Federal professional development dollars effectively, the bill strictly defines professional development as activities that are an integral part of broad schoolwide and districtwide educational improvement plans; are tied to State content and student performance standards; are sustained; and are based on the best available research on teaching and learning. The bill requires professional development activities to be tied to strategies that demonstrate effectiveness in increasing student academic achievement and performance. Further, it prohibits the one-day, "one-shot" workshop approach that research and evaluation have shown to be largely ineffective in fostering learning and changing the way a teacher teaches. In addition, the bill provides that professional development activities supported by local educational agencies must be designed to improve the knowledge of teachers concerning: the academic subjects they teach, effective means to improve student achievement and performance, and effective use of State standards and assessments.

The BEST Act allows a school district to commit the same percentage of funds that it does now to class size reduction initiatives, if it so chooses. For a school district that has a greater need for professional development, it allows that school district to shift funds to that need.

Title II of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act also maintains an important role for institutions of higher education in providing professional development for teachers. A recent review of the Eisenhower program stated that teachers participating in State Agency for Higher Education (SAHE) administered activities found that the professional development led to enhanced knowledge and skills and to positive changes in their classroom teaching practices. In addition, SAHE activities were of longer duration and placed a greater emphasis on subject matter content, active learning and coherence. Using the success of the Eisenhower program as a model, institutions of higher education within each State will receive a dedicated stream of funding to be provided through competitive grants within the State.

The bill includes strong language that will hold local educational agencies accountable for increasing the academic achievement for all students. Local educational agencies that do not show improvement risk losing control of the formula-based Federal funds marked for professional development and teacher hiring.

The bill authorizes the Secretary to invest in 4 areas that are key to improving teaching and learning in the classroom. Under a separately authorized funding stream, the Secretary shall make grants to the Troops to Teachers Program, the School Leadership Initiative, the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards, and the Transition to Teaching program. Troops to Teachers is a program that has proven to be effective in recruiting former military personnel as classroom teachers. The School Leadership Initiative will ensure that funds for professional development will be available to principals, superintendents and others to enhance their leadership and management skills. It authorizes a new program designed to meet the unique professional development needs of our Nation's school leaders. The Snelling Center for School Leadership in Vermont is an example of one place that is addressing the needs of our nation's school leaders effectively. Funds made available to the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards will be used to make grants to State educational agencies, local educational agencies, and individuals to promote outreach, recruit teachers, or provide for teacher subsidies. The committee believes that efforts to encourage and support teachers to become highly accomplished master teachers as recognized through advanced certification or credential programs will improve teaching and learning in schools. Finally, the Transition to Teaching program will help recruit, prepare, and support mid-career professionals to become highly qualified teachers.

A separate authorization of $3 million in fiscal year 2002 is provided for a National Teacher Recruitment Campaign. The Secretary is to make a competitive grant to a single national coalition of teacher and media organizations. Grant funds are to be used to conduct a national public service campaign concerning the resources for and routes to entering teaching.

Part B—Mathematics and science partnerships

Part B includes important new initiatives designed to improve student achievement in the areas of mathematics and science by strengthening the training and recruitment of highly qualified math and science teachers. In developing these initiatives, the committee has drawn from the recommendations made by several commissions and organizations which have recently called attention to the pressing need in this area. These include: The National Commission on Mathematics and Science Teaching for the 21st Century, also known as the Glenn Commission (“Before It’s Too Late”), the National Research Council (“Educating Teachers of Science, Mathematics, and Technology”), and the US Commission on National Security (“Road Map for National Security: Imperative for Change”).

An enormous improvement in mathematics and science education at the K–12 level is necessary if today’s students want good jobs and the US wants to stay competitive in the world economy. Test data from the Third International Mathematics and Science Study (TIMSS) in 1995 have shown that students from the United States in the fourth grade were among the top scorers of students from the 41 nations testing. However, both TIMSS and the Third International Mathematics and Science Study—Repeat (TIMSS–R) in 1999 show that, by the eighth grade, students from the United States test in the middle of the students from the countries tested. By the twelfth grade, TIMSS shows that students from the United States test near the bottom of the students tested. Our students are not receiving the education that is required to cause them to learn the mathematics and science that students in many other countries are learning. They are not receiving an education that stimulates their imagination enough that they want to learn mathematics and science at a world-class level. Every year that our students stay in school, they lose ground in mathematics and science knowledge compared with the students of other countries of the world.

The National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) in 1996 showed that fewer than one-third of all United States students in grades 4, 8, and 12 performed at or above the “proficient” achievement level in mathematics and science. More than one-third of United States students scored below the “basic” level—lacking mastery of the prerequisite knowledge and skills needed for “proficient” at each grade. The results in NAEP also indicate that students in the United States score lower with respect to the standards of proficiency for those grade levels each year that they are in school.

With globalization, the good jobs will go to the people who can do them best. If those people are not in the United States, then those jobs will also not be in the United States. At present, the law allows 195,000 immigrants to enter the United States on H–1B visas each year in order to take jobs that cannot be filled by workers in the United States. As tele-commuting increases, there will be no reason to bring those workers to the United States to take the jobs that the workers in the United States cannot fill, and the jobs themselves will move to countries that have the workers. We have seen manufacturing jobs move out of the country, and, unless the United States can supply the workers to fill the jobs from its own students, we will see it happen with information jobs. The Glenn Commission report, “Before It’s too Late,” (September 2000) states that “. . . the rapid pace of change in both the increasingly interdependent global economy and in the American workplace demands widespread mathematics- and science-related knowledge and abilities.”

Not only are mathematics and science literacy essential in the workforce, but, according to the Glenn Commission, “Our citizens need both mathematics and science for their everyday decision-making.” The ability to evaluate data impartially and to make decisions based on that evaluation is needed by our citizens in every aspect of life. Citizens are called upon daily to evaluate advertisements, political claims, conflicting requests for public funds, and many other aspects of private and public decision making. Not only is the training that comes from looking at information in a scientific manner important, but also a knowledge of science and mathematics is essential at a time when much of the information evaluated becomes more technical. Without that knowledge, our citizens become unable to make the best daily decisions in their personal lives and in their roles as citizens.

The Glenn Commission found that the “most powerful instrument for change, and therefore the place to begin, lies at the very core of education—with teaching itself. “The most consistent and powerful predictors of student achievement in mathematics and science are full teaching certification and a college major in the field being taught.” Therefore, the Commission suggests that we “establish an ongoing system to improve the quality of mathematics and science teaching in grades K–12” and that we “increase significantly the number of mathematics and science teachers and improve the quality of their preparation.”

These sentiments are echoed by the National Research Council in its 2001 “Educating Teachers of Science, Mathematics, and Technology” report. The Council notes:

If the nation is to make the continuous improvements needed in teaching, we need to make a science out of teacher education—using evidence and analysis to build an effective system of teacher preparation and professional development.

The Council found that teacher education must be a continuous process involving schools of education, school districts, practicing professionals, and higher education faculty in a collaborative partnership with shared responsibility for teacher education. Teachers must be treated as professionals with ongoing professional development to allow them to grow within their profession and to take on new responsibilities. The measure of the success of any teacher education program should be how well their students achieve.

In an effort to begin to address the challenge of improving math and science learning and teaching, the BEST Act authorizes $500 million in fiscal year 2002 for the establishment of mathematics and science partnerships linking the math and science departments of institutions of higher education with States and local school districts. The partnership program is included as subpart 1 of part B.

Partnerships may use funds to conduct 1 or more of the following activities: (1) developing more rigorous math and science curricula aligned to State and local standards and with the standards expected for postsecondary study in mathematics and science, respectively; (2) creating opportunities for enhanced and ongoing professional development in content areas; (3) recruiting math and science majors to teaching; (4) promoting strong teaching skills for math and science teachers and teacher educators; (5) establishing math and science summer workshops or institutes for teachers; (6) establishing distance learning programs for math and science teachers; (7) designing programs to prepare a teacher to provide professional development to other teachers and novice teachers; and (8) designing programs to bring teachers into contact with working scientists.

The committee has included a definition of summer workshops or institutes to make clear that such workshops or institutes are to be substantial and sustained programs. Specifically, they must be conducted for a period of at least 2 weeks, provide for direct interaction between students and faculty, and include followup training during the academic year.

The committee also encourages local educational agencies to create various financial incentives to help recruit individuals with strong mathematics or science backgrounds into the teaching field. Current rewards, incentives, and school environments are not adequate to attract large numbers of the best students to teaching or to encourage them to remain in the profession beyond the first few years of teaching. These problems are exacerbated in science and mathematics, where teacher shortages already exists in many parts of the United States and are expected to grow worse over the next decade. The lack of teachers with adequate content knowledge and pedagogical skills for teaching science and mathematics is especially acute in small rural and inner-city schools, where science or mathematics departments may consist of only 1 or 2 individuals and a given teacher may be required to teach several different subject areas every day.

The committee believes that several financial incentives could be used to help recruit and retain math and science teachers with strong math and science skills. Stipends could be provided to current mathematics teachers and science teachers for certification through alternative routes. A local educational agency could offer money for scholarships for teachers to pursue advanced course work in math or science. Additionally, the local educational agency could offer signing bonuses or performance bonuses to math and science teachers. The committee encourages local educational agencies to create programs that will be effective in recruiting individuals with strong mathematics or science backgrounds into the teaching field.

Subpart 2 of part B provides for the continuation of the Eisenhower Clearinghouse for Mathematics and Science Education, authorizing $5 million in fiscal year 2002 for this purpose. The functions of the Clearinghouse are expanded to include the development of an Internet-based site offering a search mechanism and including electronic links to users and providers of instructional materials and programs.

Subpart 3 of part B authorizes $150 million in fiscal year 2002 to support programs preparing teachers to use technology effectively. Funds must be used to create programs that enable prospective teachers to use advanced technology to create learning environments where all students are prepared to meet challenging State standards.

Subpart 4 of part B provides that the Secretary of Education must consult and coordinate activities under part B with the Director of the National Science Foundation. The committee believes that it is particularly important that the Secretary and the Director work together to determine the most appropriate and effective role each of their agencies can play with respect to summer workshops or institutes.

Part C—Technology education

First authorized as part of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act in 1994, Federal educational technology programs have made a significant and positive difference in increasing access to technology in our public school classrooms. These Federal dollars have played a significant role in making technology more prevalent and effectively used in our Nation's classrooms.

The BEST Act combines the competitively awarded Technology Challenge Grant program into a new formula-based grant program to the States modeled after the Technology Literacy Challenge program authorized under current law. Since the Challenge Grant program was first created, it has funded numerous cutting-edge model programs in schools. At this juncture, the committee believes it is important to provide the States with additional sources of dedicated funding so that many of these model programs can be replicated and so that a broad range of school districts across the country can benefit.

While the committee was mindful of the extraordinary advances made in the area of educational technology, the members also recognized there is still a long way to go in making technology an effective educational tool for all students in the nation. The committee is committed to the concept of eliminating the Digital Divide in the Nation's schools. Therefore, it was the committee's intent to give priority to those local educational agencies which serve the highest number or percentage of children in poverty in both urban and rural parts of each State and to provide grants to local educational agencies of a sufficient size and duration to carry out the purposes of this part.

The BEST Act reaffirms the Federal commitment to educational technology. Throughout the legislation, the committee has incorporated provisions related to educational technology in recognition of the "next wave" of educational technology: that is—effectively integrating it into the everyday learning activities of the student. The committee's actions acknowledge the importance of "not separating technology from learning." It is the intent of the committee to encourage the integration of technology with learning by requiring that both the State and the local educational agencies submit a systemic educational technology plan that outlines how technology will improve student outcomes and how the activities funded in the BEST Act fit into that plan. With the same intent, the committee has also required that professional development in the integration of technology into the curriculum be a large part of the use of local funds. The BEST Act maintains a separate funding stream for educational technology programs in an effort to ensure that the Federal Government continues to provide leadership and support for strengthening and integrating educational technology in classrooms throughout the Nation.

Part D—Portability of teacher pensions and credentials

Part D authorizes the establishment of a 9-member National Panel of Portability of Teacher Pensions and Credentials. Members are to be appointed by the Secretary from among practitioners and experts with experience relating to teacher pensions and credentials. The panel is to study options for increasing reciprocity of recognition of teacher credentials and portability of teacher pensions between States.

TITLE III—MOVING LIMITED ENGLISH PROFICIENT STUDENTS TO ENGLISH FLUENCY

Programs under part A of title III are designed to provide educational assistance to students with limited English proficiency to help them meet challenging State standards. The BEST Act repeals the authorization for Program Development and Implementation grants and weaves the purposes of the program into other initiatives funded under this title. The committee also decided to combine Comprehensive School grants and System-wide Improvement grants into 1 program. Grants awarded under this initiative will be used for activities such as improving instructional programs, training school personnel, and implementing family education or parent outreach programs.

One significant change the committee has included in the BEST Act pertains to grant priority. In awarding grants, the Secretary shall give priority to an applicant: (1) who experiences a dramatic increase in the number or percentage of limited English proficient students enrolled in the applicant's program and has limited or no experience in serving limited English proficient students; (2) that is a local educational agency that serves a school district with a total enrollment less than 10,000 students; (3) who demonstrates a proven record of success in helping limited English proficient students; (4) who proposes initiatives that provide for the development of bilingual proficiency both in English and another language for all participating students; or (5) who serves a school district in which a large percentage or number of limited English students is enrolled.

The BEST Act retains the State grant program. The committee believes that it is important to increase the minimum funding level from $100,000 to $200,000. A funding level of $300 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

The Foreign Language Assistance program included as part B of title III provides competitive grant assistance to State or local educational agencies to provide foreign language study for elementary and secondary school students. The BEST Act extends this program through fiscal year 2008 and adds provisions giving special consideration to grant applications which make effective use of technology, promote innovative activities, or are carried out through a consortium. A funding level of $35 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

The Emergency Immigrant Education program included as part C of title III provides funds to local educational agencies that experience unexpectedly large increases in their student populations due to immigration to assist with the education of those students. A funding level of $200 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

TITLE IV—SAFE AND DRUG-FREE SCHOOLS AND COMMUNITIES

Part A—State grants

The committee has made substantial revisions to the Safe and Drug-Free Schools and Communities program in an effort to increase the accountability for the use of Federal funds and to ensure that effective, research-based programs are funded with Federal dollars. By better directing the use of Federal funds under this program, it is the committee's intent to improve efforts to provide all of our Nation's students a safe and nurturing learning environment. Recent tragedies in our Nation's schools have heightened attention to the devastating impact that an unsafe environment can have on learning. The committee believes strongly that every school in this Nation should be violence-free as well as drug- and alcohol-free and has strengthened the current program to better achieve those goals. The committee also believes that involving parents in violence and drug prevention programs is important.

Part B—Gun possession

The Gun-Free Schools provisions currently contained in part F of title XIV are transferred to part B of title IV. These provisions, which were first enacted in 1994, require States receiving funds under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act to have laws requiring local educational agencies to expel from school for at least 1 year any student who brings a weapon to school.

The Report of State Implementation of the Gun-Free Schools Act—School Year 1998–99 issued in October 2000 indicates that an estimated 3,523 students were expelled for bringing a firearm to school. Fifty-seven percent of the 1998–99 expulsions involved high school students; 33 percent involved junior high students; and the remaining 10 percent involved elementary school students.

Part C—School safety and violence prevention

Part C includes a number of new provisions dealing with: school safety and violence prevention activities; school uniforms; transfer of school disciplinary records; and employee background checks. These provisions are virtually identical to provisions dealing with these subjects which were approved by the Senate in 1999 as part of the Juvenile Justice reauthorization bill (S. 254).

Part D—Environmental tobacco smoke

The bill transfers to part D of title IV the Elementary and Secondary Education Act the environmental tobacco smoke provisions currently contained in part C of title X of the Goals 2000: Educate America Act. These provisions prohibit smoking within any indoor facility used for the provision of education, routine health care, day care, library services, or early childhood development to children.

TITLE V—PUBLIC SCHOOL CHOICE AND FLEXIBILITY

Part A—Public school choiceSubpart 1—Public charter schools

The BEST Act continues and maintains the Public Charter Schools program as provided in current law, authorizing a funding level of $190 million for fiscal year 2002. Last considered in 1998, the Charter Schools program was amended to increase and strengthen accountability, promote dissemination, and support technical assistance, evaluation and research on model charter school programs.

Subpart 2—Magnet Schools Assistance Program

The Magnet Schools Assistance Program (MSAP) provides competitive grants to local educational agencies for magnet schools that are intended to reduce, eliminate, or prevent minority group isolation in elementary and secondary schools and to strengthen students' knowledge of academic or vocational subjects. In order to be eligible for a grant, a local educational agency must be a participant in a court-ordered or voluntary desegregation plan. Magnet schools provide a special curriculum intended to be attractive to substantial numbers of students of different races.

The BEST Act continues the Magnet Schools Assistance Program and includes several new elements designed to: improve the capacity of local educational agencies to continue operating magnet schools after the grant has ended; increase the allowable use of funds for planning; clarify the critical role of professional development; and enhance the quality of the program. The fiscal year 2002 authorization level is $125 million.

The current law lists 4 uses of funds: (1) planning; (2) acquisition of books and materials; (3) payment or subsidization of the compensation of teachers and instructional staff who are necessary for the conduct of the program; and (4) for schools whose magnet program does not include all students enrolled in the school. The BEST Act adds 3 new uses of funds to those in current law. Grant funds may be used: (1) for professional development in order to build the capacity to operate the magnet school once Federal assistance has terminated; (2) to enable the local educational agency to have more flexibility in the administration of a magnet school program in order to serve students attending a school who are not enrolled in a magnet school program; and (3) to enable the local educational agency to have flexibility in designing magnet schools for students of all grades.

The addition of professional development as a use of funds is particularly important. Clarification is needed in the law regarding professional development as a separate activity from planning. Therefore, it is the committee's intent that professional development be considered a core use of funds, and not as planning. Trained, qualified teachers and staff are critical to the success of magnet school as well as any other school and these changes ensure that the magnet schools law reflects these priorities.

Subpart 3—Public school choice

The Public School Choice provisions of the BEST Act allocates funds to States, which—in turn—distribute them to local educational agencies to carry out school improvement activities. Each local educational agency receiving funds under this subpart or under part A of title I, with the exception of local educational agencies located in a States which receives a minimum grant, must provide all students enrolled in a school identified for school improvement with the option to transfer to another public school within the agency that has not been identified for school improvement. An exception is provided in cases where the option to transfer is prohibited by State or local law. If a local educational agency can demonstrate to the State educational agency that it lacks the capacity to provide all students with the option to transfer, the agency must permit as many students as possible—selected on an equitable basis—to transfer. A funding level of $225 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

Part B—Flexibility

Overview

Part B of title V includes a broad array of flexibility options for States and localities. A variety of current law provisions dealing with waivers, program coordination, consolidated applications, and related authorities are incorporated into title V, permitting State and local officials to find in one place the options available to them. New rural flexibility provisions offer opportunities to combine Federal education funds in ways which will make the most effective use of these funds in meeting the individual needs of small, rural schools and their students. In addition, part B includes the Innovative Education Program Strategies program, authorized under current law as title VI. This program offers the funds and the discretion to local school districts which permit them to address their most pressing local needs.

Subpart 1—Education flexibility partnerships

Subpart 1 includes the provisions of the Education Flexibility Partnership Act, which was signed into law in 1999 (Public Law 106–25) as a free-standing bill. This act allows State educational agencies to waive certain Federal requirements, along with related State requirements, for the purpose of raising the achievement of all students.

Subpart 2—Rural education initiative

The purpose of subpart 2 is to provide adequate funding to rural school districts to enhance their ability to recruit and retain teachers, strengthen the quality of instruction, and improve student achievement. Through flexibility provisions and a supplemental grant program, rural school districts will have the ability to maximize their resources for implementation of education reform strategies.

The programs authorized in subpart 2 are designed to address two unique problems facing small, rural districts. The Elementary and Secondary Education Act authorizes formula and competitive grants that allow many of our local school districts to improve the education of their students. These Federal grants support efforts to promote such laudable goals as the professional development of teachers, the incorporation of technology into the classroom, and making sure our schools provide safe learning environments for our children. Schools receive several categorical grants supporting these programs, each with its own authorized activities and regulations and each with its own red tape and paperwork.

Unfortunately, as valuable as these programs may be for thousands of predominantly urban and suburban school districts, they simply do not work well in rural areas. This is because the grants are based on school district enrollment. These individual grants confront smaller schools with a dilemma; namely, they simply may not receive enough funding from any single grant to carry out meaningful activities.

Chapter 1, the Small, Rural School Achievement Program, will allow a district with an enrollment of fewer than 600 students to combine the funds from programs authorized under titles II and IV and subpart 4 of part B of title V and use the funds to support projects that bring about improved academic achievement. If student performance on assessments does not improve at the end of 3 years of participation in the program, the district may no longer participate.

Small rural schools face equally difficult challenges when attempting to compete for competitive grants. These schools must dedicate all of their resources to the primary task of educating students. They lack the personnel and resources to prepare successful applications.

To address this issue, participating local educational agencies are eligible to receive a supplemental grant that, when combined with other Federal dollars, will enable these small rural schools to offer programs and activities of sufficient size, scope, and quality to have a significant impact upon student and school performance.

Chapter 2, the Low-Income and Rural School Program, is designed to meet the needs of rural school districts serving large numbers of disadvantaged students. Local educational agencies residing in rural communities are eligible to receive funds from this program if 20 percent of the children they serve are from families living below the poverty level. A local educational agency will not be permitted to continue to participate in the program if student performance has not increased after 3 years.

A funding level of $300 million is authorized to support these programs during fiscal year 2002, of which $125 million is to be made first available to carry out chapter 1.

Subpart 3—Waivers

Subpart 3 includes the waiver provisions currently included as part D of title XIV. These provisions offer broad authority for the waiver of statutory or regulatory requirements of the act in order to increase the quality of instruction or improve academic performance.

Subpart 4—Innovative Education Program Strategies

The purpose of the Innovative Education Program Strategies program is to provide funds to local educational programs for the implementation of initiatives that support school improvement and reform efforts with the goal of advancing student performance. To accomplish this purpose, States allocate funds to local school districts for an array of activities such as professional development, technology, and library services.

This program was created 20 years ago in response to the calls from State and local educational agencies that they be given the flexibility to respond to the education reform needs of their local communities. It remains the most flexible source of education funds provided by the Federal government. The Title VI Effectiveness Evaluation for 1998 prepared by the Title VI National Steering Committee included the following observation from an Arkansas school district official:

Title VI is the only Federal program where schools can actually use money that isn't previously directed to a need identified by those outside the school. As our needs change, the program has the flexibility to change with us. The funds are most beneficial when they are used with other funding sources to work toward improving targeted areas identified by the district.

The funding level authorized for the Innovative Education Program Strategies program is $850 million for fiscal year 2002.

Part C—General flexibility authorities

Part C includes the “Flexibility in the Use of Administrative and Other Funds” currently included as part B of title XIV. These provisions permit States and localities to consolidate administrative funds from several Federal programs.

Part D—Coordination of programs; consolidated State and local plans and applications

Part D includes the “Coordination of Programs; Consolidated State and Local Plans and Applications” provisions currently included as part C of title XIV. These provisions permit the submission of a single plan for several different programs at both the State and local levels.

Part E—Advanced Placement Program

The Advanced Placement Program was initially authorized as part of the Higher Education Amendments of 1998. The BEST Act adds the program to the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and expands its purposes. The committee recognizes that having rigorous academic programs available to students provides those young people with better preparation for postsecondary study and has adopted this program to ensure that the opportunity is available to more students. A funding level of $50 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

TITLE VI—PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT AND ACCOUNTABILITY

Part A—Parental assistance

The Parental Information and Resource Centers, established under the Goals 2000: Educate America Act, has been incorporated into the BEST Act. The committee bill strengthens provisions that focus on partnerships among parents, teachers, principals, administrators, and other school personnel. A funding level of $50 million is authorized for fiscal year 2002.

Part B—Improving academic achievement

Part B is intended to support the accountability provisions of the act by providing financial assistance to States for the development and implementation of assessments and for State participation in the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP). In addition, it provides for one-time bonus payments to States that develop the new assessments required by the BEST Act in advance of the deadlines included in the bill.

Further support for strong accountability is provided through a system of awards and sanctions tied to student achievement levels.

Both States and schools are eligible for awards. "Achievement in Education Awards" will be granted to States that make the most progress in improving educational achievement. The Secretary is to give greatest weight to a State's success in improving the performance of economically disadvantaged and minority students, as measured by State assessments and by the State NAEP. Other measures to be taken into account include the achievement of all students, improved English proficiency of limited English proficient students, increased high school graduation percentages, and increased percentage of students taking advanced coursework.

"No Child Left Behind Awards" will be granted to schools that have made greatest progress in improving the educational achievement of economically disadvantaged students.

Penalties will be assessed on States that—based on State assessment and State NAEP results—fail to make adequate yearly progress and whose economically disadvantaged and minority students fail to make statistically significant progress in the academic subjects for which the State has developed content and student performance standards. After 2 years of insufficient progress, the Secretary is required to reduce up to 30 percent of the State's administrative funds. After 3 such years, the Secretary is required to reduce up to 75 percent of the State's administrative funds.

Funding levels in part B include: $400 million for fiscal year 2002 to develop and implement the required assessments, $110 million for fiscal year 2002 to administer State assessments under NAEP, and $50 million for fiscal year 2002 for the Fund to Improve Education Achievement. This Fund will be used for awards and bonuses, as well as for improvement activities, such as character education, that are designed to promote the improvement of elementary and secondary education.

TITLE VII—INDIAN, NATIVE HAWAIIAN, AND ALASKA NATIVE EDUCATION

Part A—Indian education

Part A modifies and improves educational services provided for American Indian and Alaska Native students. The committee has included four new activities that can be provided under grants to local educational agencies. These additions are intended to encourage local educational agencies to address the needs of American Indians and Alaskan Native students in the areas of curriculum development, creating and implementing standards, improving student achievement, and gifted and talented education. The committee also recognizes that increasing the flexibility at the local level may give local educational agencies the ability to reduce their administrative costs while improving the services they provide. Accordingly, the committee included a new provision which would allow a local educational agency which receives formula grants under part A the ability to commingle all of the Federal funding they receive for educating Indian children, regardless of which agency provides it, into one coordinated, comprehensive program to meet the specific needs of Indian children. In addition, the committee has provided increased flexibility in counting eligible children for funding purposes to BIA-funded schools.

In recognition of the importance of family literacy services for affected populations, the committee has allowed for grants for this purpose under the improvement of educational opportunities for Indian children. The committee has also underscored the importance of both pre-service and in-service training by separating the 2 into different sections under professional development. Finally, the percentage of funds that can be used on administrative costs is reduced.

Part B—Native Hawaiian education

Part—modifies and improves the educational services provided for Native Hawaiian students. The findings section is updated with the most recent data available and includes additional findings that reflect the new legal position of the United States relative to the status of Native Hawaiians as set forth in the brief filed by the United States in the United States Supreme Court on July 28, 1999. The committee has maintained the Native Hawaiian Education Council, while reducing its size and composition. The committee has also established priorities for the award of contract or grants Recognizing that it has been difficult to have 1 Council serving 2 or more islands, the committee has added 2 more Island Councils so that each island will have its own Council.

The committee believes that placing all of the existing programs serving Native Hawaiians into a single, more flexible authority will allow all of the types of activities currently carried out to continue. It is the committee's hope that this consolidation will better serve the educational needs of Native Hawaiians children and adults. The committee has focused on the importance of family literacy services in affected populations once again by adding it as a new permissible activity, and the percentage of funds that can be used on administrative costs is reduced.

Part C—Alaskan Native education

Part C modifies and improves the educational services provided for Alaska Native students. The committee has placed all of the existing programs serving Alaskan Natives into a single, more flexible authority. These programs include: Alaska Native Educational Planning, Curriculum Development, Teacher Training, and Recruitment; Home-Based Education for Preschool Children; and Student Enrichment. The committee believes that the consolidation will allow these activities to continue and will better serve the educational needs of Alaskan Native children and adults. The committee has added family literacy services as a new permissible activity and reduced the percentage of funds that can be used on administrative costs.

TITLE VIII—IMPACT AID

Impact aid programs were reauthorized in 2000 as part of the Floyd D. Spence National Defense Authorization Act for fiscal year 2001 (Public Law 106-398), but remain a part of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. The BEST Act retains impact aid programs in title VIII, but makes no changes to these programs.

TITLE IX—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

Title IX includes provisions for an independent evaluation by the National Academy of Sciences of the impact and effects of high stakes assessments used by State and local educational agencies. The evaluation is to address 3 components: (1) Students, Teachers, Parents, Families, Schools, and School Districts; (2) Students With Disabilities; and (3) Low Socio-Economic Students, Limited English Proficient Students, and Minority Students. A funding level of $4 million is authorized for the evaluation.

REPEALS

The BEST Act repeals titles IX through XIV of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. The Goals 2000: Education America Act is also repealed.

V. REGULATORY IMPACT STATEMENT

The committee has determined there will be increased demands upon States, local educational agencies, and other recipients of ESEA funds due to the expanded accountability features of the BEST Act.

The BEST Act requires the development of State content and student performance standards in history and science. Science assessments must also be developed by the 2007–08 school year. In addition, the BEST Act requires that all public school students in grades 3 through 8 be tested annually in mathematics and reading. These new provisions expand current title I assessment requirements, not only by increasing the frequency of math and reading assessments but also by expanding the pool of students to be tested. Current title I requirements apply only to students attending schools which receive title I funds. States will also be required to participate in annual State assessments under the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) in 4th and 8th grade mathematics and reading. Participation in these assessments is currently optional. States and local educational agencies will also be required to issue annual report cards including assessment information, as well as other data related to student performance.

Recipients of funds under other ESEA programs, such as teacher quality and technology education, will now be required to submit performance objections as part of their applications for funds. A failure to meet these objectives will result in loss of grant funds.

In general, recipients of ESEA funds will be expected to use those funds on programs which have proven to be effective in improving student achievement and performance and in meeting other program objectives.

The committee believes that it is appropriate to demand results and accountability in exchange for the approximately $18 billion expended annually by the Federal Government for programs authorized under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. Recognizing the additional expense which some of these new requirements will entail, the committee has provided that the Federal Government will assume the costs of development of the new assessments required for students in grades 3–8 (as well as half of ongoing costs) and of State participation in NAEP.

Finally, the BEST Act substantially reduces the number of separate programs authorized under ESEA. These programs, as well as the nearly $2 billion provided for them in fiscal year 2001, have been consolidated into broader authorities. This program consolidation is expected to reduce the administrative time and expense involved in developing, processing, and awarding separate grants. The BEST Act also provides the opportunity for small, rural school districts to combine funds from several separate formula grant programs and apply these funds toward local initiatives designed to improve student achievement.

VI. APPLICATION OF LAW TO THE LEGISLATIVE BRANCH

The BEST Act reauthorizes and amends the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 to continue programs primarily offering assistance to States and local educational agencies on behalf of teachers and elementary and secondary school students and, as such, has no application to the legislative branch.

CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE COST ESTIMATE

Better Education for Students and Teachers Act—As ordered reported by the Senate Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions on March 8, 2001

Summary: Programs under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (ESEA) were authorized through 2000 under the General Education Provisions Act (GEPA). Programs were authorized in 2001 by the Consolidated Appropriations Act (Public Law 106-554). The Better Education for Students and Teachers Act would reauthorize these programs through 2008. It would also reauthorize parts of the Stuart B. McKinney Act, and activities under ESEA that were authorized under Parts III and IV of the Goals 2000: Educate America Act (Goals 2000).

CBO estimates that authorizations under the bill relative to current law would total approximately $28 billion in 2002 and about $205 billion over the 2002–2008 period, assuming that annual levels are adjusted to keep pace with inflation when specific annual authorizations are not provided. (Without such inflation adjustments, the annual authorization total would be about $28 billion for each year, for a total of $194 billion over the 2002–2008 period.) CBO estimates that appropriations of the authorized levels would result in additional outlays of $167 billion over the 2002–2008 period, relative to estimated spending under the current law, if inflation adjustments are included (and about $160 billion without inflation adjustments).

The programs reauthorized in this bill would provide grants to state and local education agencies and tribal governments to assist specific populations of students in meeting state performance standards. The bill contains no intergovernmental mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA). Any costs incurred by state, local, or tribal governments would result from complying with conditions of aid. The bill contains no private-sector mandates as defined in UMRA.

Estimated cost to the Federal Government: The estimated budgetary impact of the bill is shown in Table 1. The costs of this legislation fall within the budget function 500 (education, training, employment, and social services).

¹ The 2001 level is the amount appropriated for that year.
Note: Components may not sum to totals because of rounding.

Basis of Estimate: The bill would reauthorize funding through 2008 for various programs created under ESEA. These programs would generally be reauthorized at specific levels for 2002 and for such sums as may be necessary for 2003 through 2008. CBO estimates that the bill would increase authorized levels by $27.7 billion in 2002 and by $205.5 billion over the 2002–2008 period assuming that “such sums” amounts provided after 2002 are adjusted for inflation. If the authorized amounts are appropriated, the bill would increase outlays relative to current law by $1.5 billion the first year and by $167.2 billion over the seven-year period. (Without inflationary adjustments, the increased authorizations would result in outlays of $159.6 billion over the seven years.)

Table 2 presents CBO’s estimates for the various components of each title under the bill. CBO’s estimate of authorized levels is generally the authorized amount for 2002 with those amounts inflated in later years. (The authorization for some programs are specified after 2002.) For most existing programs that the bill would reauthorize, the estimated outlays reflect CBO’s current spendout rate assumptions. For new programs or significant revisions to existing programs, an explanation of CBO’s estimate is provided below.

Because most education programs operate on a forward-funded basis, spending in the first year is consistently slow across all programs, with variation in spending patterns in the subsequent years. Historically, spending occurs even more slowly when the programs are new, experience significant funding increases, or institute matching requirements or other restrictions.

TITLE I—BETTER RESULTS FOR DISADVANTAGED CHILDREN

Title I of the bill would reauthorize and revise programs currently authorized under parts A, B, C, and E of Title I of ESEA. It also would introduce new programs for student assessments and reading initiatives. The bill would authorize a total of $19 billion for 2002 for all programs under title I. CBO estimates the total funding for title I for the 2002–2008 period would be $140.8 billion, assuming adjustments for inflation, with resulting outlays of $115.9 billion over those seven years.

Part A—Better Results for Disadvantaged Children. The bill would reauthorize the Basic, Concentration, and Targeted Grant Programs under Part of Title I, phase out the capital expensive account, add new requirements for states to develop more specific standards and assessments, and require states to report annually on the results of the assessments.

² Less than $500,000.

Note: Components may not sum to totals because of rounding.

The bill would authorize $15 billion for 2002 for the basic and concentrations grants under Part A. The comparable funding for the 2001–2002 academic year is $8.6 billion. The bill also would authorize $200 million in 2002 for targeted grants. Although authorized, this program has not been funded in the past.

The bill would continue the authorization of the capital expense account. This account funds costs associated with ensuring that Title I services to private-school children are administered in neutral settings. In response to the 1997 Supreme Court ruling that overturned this requirement, the bill would phase out funding over three years, authorizing $15 million for 2002, $15 million for 2003, and $5 million for 2004. The funding level for 2001 is $6 million.

The bill would amend Part A of Title I to include more specific standards and assessment requirements for state plans. The bill would require states to include performance indicators in their plans as well as sanctions and rewards for local educational agencies (LEAs). State progress would be measured by each state according to its state plan. The bill also would require that states produce annual report cards beginning in academic year 2002–2003. The report cards would provide information on student achievement performance at each proficiency level on the state assessments. The bill would require states to assess all students annually in grades 3 through 8 in mathematics and reading, and measure the outcomes of the assessments against the state content and student performance standards established in the state plans, beginning no later than school year 2005–2006.

The bill also would authorize $35 million for 2002 for federal evaluations and demonstrations. Funding for these activities is $9 million in 2001.

Part B—Literacy for Children and Families. The bill would reauthorize funding for the Even Start Literacy program, currently Part B in Title I of ESEA, and create two new reading programs—the Reading First program and the Early Reading First program.

The bill would authorize $250 million for the Even Start program, the same amount that was appropriated for 2001.

The bill would authorize $900 million in 2002 for the Reading First program. The Reading First program replaces the Reading Excellence program, which is currently authorized under Part C of Title II of ESEA. The Reading Excellence program is funded at $286 million in 2001. The Reading First program would first provide formula grants to states. States would award grants competitively to LEAs. The program would allow states to apply for grants if funds remain. The Reading Excellence program uses a two-tier competitive grant structure, which has resulted in slow spending in the first two years relative to formula grant or one-tier competitive grant programs. CBO estimates that spending for the Reading First program would be at a rate comparable to spending for other formula grants to states with competitive grants to LEAs.

The bill also would create a new program for pre-school reading programs. The Early Reading First program would provide competitive grants to LEAs or private organizations to develop and provide pre-school reading programs. The bill would authorize $75 million for the Early Reading First program.

Part C—Education of Migratory Children. The bill would authorize $400 million in 2002 to continue to fund grants to support the needs of children of migrant workers, currently authorized under Part C of Title I. Funding in 2001 for the Migrant Education program is $380 million.

Part D—Initiatives for Neglected, Delinquent, or At-Risk Youth. The bill would authorize $50 million in 2002 to reauthorize grants for education programs for neglected or delinquent youth, compared with the 2001 funding level of $46 million.

Part E—21st Century Community Learning Centers; Comprehensive School Reform; School Dropout Prevention. The bill would authorize $1.5 billion in 2002 to continue the 21st Century Community Learners program currently authorized under Part I of Title X of ESEA. The program's funding for 2001 is $846 million.

The bill would authorize $250 million for 2002 to continue the Comprehensive School Reform Grant Program. The program received $210 million in 2001.

The bill would also introduce a new National School Dropout Prevention Program. A program to address school dropouts is currently authorized under Part C of Title V, but has never been funded. Schools would be allowed to use funds for start-up and implementation costs of dropout prevention programs. The bill would authorize $250 million to fund grants to states. States would award grants to schools with the highest dropout rates in the state. If funding is less than $250 millions, grants would be awarded to states on a competitive basis. If funding is equal to more than $250 million, grants would be distributed to states using a formula. CBO assumes a spending rate consistent with spending for other competitive grant programs.

Part F—Education for Homeless Children and Youth. The bill would amend and reauthorize Subtitle B of Title VII of the Steward D. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act, authorizing $70 million for education for homeless children and youth in 2002. The appropriation for 2001 was $35 million.

TITLE II—TEACHERS

Title II would authorize a total of $4.8 billion for 2002 for several initiatives that address teacher hiring, recruitment, and professional development. CBO estimates that implementing this title would cost $27.7 billion over the 2002–2008 period.

Teacher Quality. The bill would authorize a total of $3 billion for a block grant to fund many activities previously authorized under the Eisenhower Professional Development and Class Size Reduction programs, both of which would be discontinued. The combined funding level in 2001 is $1.9 billion under the Eisenhower Professional Development and the Class Size Reduction programs. CBO assumes a spending rate consistent with the rate of spending for other new formula grant programs.

The bill also would authorize $100 million to fund national programs and activities such as nonprofit agencies or institutions of higher education providing mentors or professional development for teachers. In 2001, $41 million was appropriated for these activities.

The bill also would authorize $3 million for each year over the 2002–2008 period for a National Teacher Recruitment Campaign. The program would award a grant to a coalition of teacher and media organizations to conduct a public service campaign concerning the resources for and routes to entering the field of teaching. For each year, CBO estimates that almost all funds would be spent in the year that they are appropriated.

Mathematics and Science Partnerships. The bill would authorize total funding of $505 million in 2002 for the Math and Science Partnerships program and the Eisenhower Clearinghouse for Mathematics and Science Education. The Math and Science Partnerships program would replace the existing Eisenhower Regional Mathematics and Science Education Consortia currently authorized in Title XIII, Part C. The Mathematics and Science Partnerships program would provide grants to partnership of states, local institutions, and institutions of higher education to offer summer and distance education workshops for math and science teachers, establish recruitment strategies, and provide other career development activities.

The bill would authorize $500 million for 2002 for the Math and Science Partnerships program. The existing Eisenhower Regional Mathematics and Science Education Consortia is funded at $15 million in 2001. The bill also would authorize $5 million in 2002 for the Eisenhower Clearinghouse for Mathematics and Science Education. The Clearinghouse is funded at $5 million in 2001. CBO assumes that funding for the new programs would be spent at a rate similar to other competitive matching grant programs.

The bill also would authorize $150 million in 2002 for a new program, Preparing Tomorrow's Teachers to Use Technology. Grants would be awarded competitively to education consortiums to develop or redesign teacher preparatory programs to enable teachers to use technology effectively in classrooms. CBO assumes that outlays for this program would be consistent with the rate of spending for other competitive grant programs.

State and Local Programs for Technology Use in Classrooms. The bill would authorize a total of $1 billion in 2002 for competitive grants to fund many activities previously authorized under the Literacy Challenge Fund, the Innovative Challenge Fund, and the National Leadership program. The combined funding level in 2001 is $588 million for those three programs. The Technology Use in Classrooms program would provide grants for ongoing professional development in the integration of technology into the curriculum, providing educational services for adults and families, and acquiring resources. CBO assumes that the rates of spending for this program would be similar to other competitive grant programs.

Portability of Teacher Pensions and Credentials. The bill would authorize such sums as may be necessary for fiscal year 2002 for a National Panel to study various options for increasing the reciprocity of recognition of teacher credentials and portability of teacher pensions between states. A report would be complete no later than one year after appointment of the panel. CBO estimates the National Panel would cost $2 million, with outlays of about $1 million in each of fiscal years 2002 and 2003.

TITLE III—MOVING LIMITED ENGLISH PROFICIENT STUDENTS TO ENGLISH FLUENCY

The bill would authorize $535 million for the Moving Limited English Proficiency Students to English Fluency program, currently authorized as the Bilingual Education program under Title VII or ESEA. The funding level for 2001 is $460 million. CBO estimates that implementing this title would cost $3.1 billion over the 2002–2008 period.

The bill would authorize:

$300 million for 2002 for the Bilingual Education Program, which is funded at $296 million for 2001;

$35 million for the Foreign Language Assistance Program in 2002, which received $14 million in funding in 2001; and $200 million for the Emergency Immigrant Education Program, which is funded at $150 million for 2001.

TITLE IV—SAFE AND DRUG-FREE SCHOOLS AND COMMUNITIES

The bill would authorize a total of $930 million for 2002 to continue the Safe and Drug-Free Schools and Communities Program, currently authorized under Title IV of ESEA. CBO estimates that implementing this title would cost $5.5 billion over the 2002–2008 period. Total funding for the program in 2001 is $644 million.

State Grants. The bill would authorize $700 million in 2002 to continue grants to state educational agencies and governors' programs, which are funded at $439 million in 2001.

The bill would authorize $150 million in 2002 to continue national programs, which are funded at $155 million in 2001. The bill also would authorize $75 million in 2002 to continue the National Coordinator Initiative. The National Coordinator Initiative is funded at $50 million in 2001.

The bill would also create a new competitive grant program to provide grants to elementary and secondary schools to combat the impact of experiencing or witnessing domestic violence on elementary and secondary children. Funds could be used for training of personnel or developing programs and policies to combat the impact of experiencing or witnessing domestic violence. The bill would authorize $5 million in 2002, 2003, and 2004 for this program. CBO assumes a spending rate consistent with the rate of spending for other new competitive grant programs.

School Safety and Violence Prevention. The bill would allow federal funds in title IV to be used to train personnel to identify potential safety threats in the schools. CBO expects that this provision would have no impact on the rate at which such funds are spent.

TITLE V—PUBLIC SCHOOL CHOICE AND FLEXIBILITY

Title V would authorize $1.7 billion in 2002 for several programs previously authorized under other titles of ESEA. Programs authorized under Title V are Charter Schools, Magnet Schools, Public School Choice, Rural Education, Innovative Education Programs, and Advanced Placement. CBO estimates that implementing this title would cost $10.3 billion over the 2002–2008 period.

Public School Choice. The bill would reauthorize the Charter School program, currently authorized through 2003 under the Charter School Reauthorization Act (Public Law 105–278) and through 2004 under GEPA. The bill would authorize $190 million for 2002—the same amount that has been provided for 2001—and extend the authorization through 2008.

The bill would authorize $125 million for 2002 to continue the Magnet Schools Program currently authorized under Part A of Title V, compared with 2001 funding of $110 million.

The bill would reauthorize $225 million for each of the fiscal years 2002–2008 for the Public School Choice program which was created in the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2001 (Public Law 106–554). The program allocates funds to states who in turn allocate funds to LEAs for school improvement activities. LEAs that receive funds must provide students enrolled in a school identified for school improvement with an option to transfer to another public school that has not been identified for school improvement within the school district served by the LEA. The program is funded at $225 million in 2001 as a set-aside from basic grants to LEAs under Title I of ESEA.

Flexibility. The bill would authorize the Rural Education Achievement Program and the Local Innovative Education Program.

The bill would create a new program called the Rural Education Achievement Program to replace the Urban and Rural Education Assistance program, currently authorized under Part J of Title X of ESEA. The bill would authorize the program at $300 million in 2002, of which $150 million would be available for grants to small rural education agencies to carry out innovative assistance activities. Any remaining funds could be used for grants to state educational agencies for the low-income and rural school program. The Urban and Rural Education Assistance Program is not funded for 2001.

The bill also would authorize $850 million to continue the Innovative Education Program. The program is currently authorized under Title VI of ESEA. This program is funded at $385 million in 2001.

Flexibility and Coordination. The bill would allow state educational agencies to consolidate funds for administration of programs. The bill also would allow state educational agencies to submit a consolidated state plan or application for each of the programs in which the state participates or applies.

Advanced Placement Programs. The bill would authorize $50 million in 2002 and expand allowable activities under the Advanced Placement program currently authorized by Part B of Title VII of the Higher Education Act. Funds would first be allocated to states to enable states to reimburse low income individuals to cover all or part of the cost of advanced placement (AP) test fees. The remainder of funds could be used to expand AP courses and fund on-line AP courses. The program is funded at $22 million in 2001.

TITLE VI—PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT AND ACCOUNTABILITY

Title VI would authorize a total of $610 million in 2002 for new initiatives aimed at increasing parental involvement in schools. CBO estimates that implementing this title would cost $3.6 billion over the 2002–2008 period.

Parental Involvement Grants. The bill would authorize $50 million for 2002 for a new Parental Involvement Grant Program. The Parental Involvement Grant Program would replace and expand upon the Parental Assistance Funds Program, authorized under Title IV of Goals 2000 which is funded at $38 million in 2001. Funds provided under this part would be used to support continuation grants for recipients under the current program.

Improving Academic Achievement. The bill also would authorize funds for the planning and implementation of the state assessment plans and the administration of the annual assessments of students described in title I of this bill. The bill would authorize $400 million in 2002 for planning and implementation of state plans. The bill also would authorize $110 million for states to administer assessments under National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP). The bill would provide funds to states to administer state assessments of fourth- and eighth-grade reading and mathematics under NAEP. CBO assumes the new funds will be spent at a rate consistent with the rate for other new formula grant programs.

The bill also would create a new Education Award program which would allow the Secretary of Education to award grants to states that make the most progress in student achievement, schools that complete their state assessment plans in advance of the schedule, and schools that make the most progress in the progress of economically disadvantaged students' achievement. The bill would authorize $50 million for education awards. CBO assumes funds would be spent at the same rate as the National Assessment of Educational Progress grants.

The bill also would establish penalties for states based on state assessment results. States that fail to make yearly progress for two consecutive years could have their administrative funds reduced up to 30 percent. States that fail to make progress for three or more consecutive years could have up to 75 percent of their administrative funds reduced. CBO expects that this provision would not significantly change spending.

TITLE VII—INDIAN, NATIVE HAWAIIAN, AND ALASKA NATIVE EDUCATION

The bill would authorize $161 million to continue education programs currently authorized under Parts A, B, and C of Title IX of ESEA. Total funding for 2001 is $159 million.

Indian Education. For 2002, the bill would reauthorize a total of $116 million for Indian Education programs. The bill would authorize $93 million for formula grants to LEAs for Indian Education. That program is funded at the same amount for 2001. The bill would authorize $20 million for special programs and national activities in 2002, the same amount that is appropriated for 2001. Finally, the bill would authorize $3 million for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2008 for grants to tribes for administration and planning. Funding in 2001 is also $3 million.

Native Hawaiian Education. The bill would authorize $28 million in 2002 for education for Native Hawaiians. Current programs would be consolidated into one authorization and new activities would be authorized. The appropriation for 2001 is also $28 million. The bill also would authorize $300,000 for a Native Hawaiian Council to oversee coordination of educational services available to Native Hawaiians.

Alaska Native Education. The bill would authorize $17 million in 2002 for Alaska Native education. Funding in 2001 is $15 million.

TITLE VIII—REPEALS

The bill would repeal Titles IX through XIV of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. The bill also would repeal the Goals 2000: Educate America Act. Programs that would be repealed in title VIII or elsewhere in the bill include:

- Telecommunications Demonstration Project for Mathematics,
- Elementary Mathematics and Science Equipment Program,
- Star Schools,
- Ready to Learn TV,
- Technology Education,
- Women's Education Equity,
- Fund for Improvement of Education,

- School Renovation Grants.

TITLE IX—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

Title IX would authorize the appropriation of $4 million in 2002 for an evaluation of standardized tests that are mandated to be used in determining a student's promotion, graduation, or tracking. The bill would authorize such funding for the Board on Testing and Assessment of the National Research Council of the National Academy of Sciences for an ongoing evaluation of the effectiveness of school assessments. The study would not exceed four years. CBO estimates that completing the study would cost about $1 million each year over the four-year period.

The reserved amount is 3.5 percent of the allocation in each of fiscal years 2002 and 2003, rising to 5 percent of that amount in each of fiscal years 2004 through 2008.

Part A—Better Results for Disadvantaged Children

Section 111—State Plans. Section 111 rewrites section 1111 of the Act. Provisions of the new section 1111 include:

Section 1111(a)—State Plans. Section 1111(a) requires States to submit a plan to the Secretary by March 1, 2002, in order to receive funds under part A. The plan must meet the requirements of section 1111 and be coordinated with other programs under this Act and with other Federal education programs.

Section 1111(b)—Standards, Assessments, and Accountability.

Section 1111(b)(1) [Challenging Standards] requires that States adopt challenging content and student performance standards and that those standards apply to all schools and children in the State. In addition to having standards in mathematics and reading or language arts, as required by current law, States must have standards in history and science. States have until the beginning of the 2005–2006 school year to meet the new history and science standards requirement. The section maintains current law provisions requiring that challenging student performance standards be aligned with State content standards and that they describe 2 levels of high performance (proficient and advanced) and 1 other level of performance (partially proficient).

Section 1111(b)(2)(A) [Accountability] requires States to develop and implement a single, statewide accountability system for assuring that all local educational agencies and schools make adequate yearly progress (AYP). The accountability system must be based on the standards and assessments required under title I, must include indicators for measuring student performance, and must include sanctions and rewards.

Section 1111(b)(2)(B) [Adequate Yearly Progress] provides that adequate yearly progress will be demonstrated by annual student assessments. In addition, States must define adequate yearly progress in a manner that: (1) applies high standards to all students; (2) is statistically valid and reliable; (3) results in academic improvement for all students; (4) measures progress primarily through assessments; (5) includes annual measurable objectives for improvement in the achievement of all students and of economically disadvantaged students, students with disabilities, students with limited English proficiency, migrant students, students by racial and ethnic group, and students by gender; (5) includes a timeline for assuring that each group of students meets or exceeds the State's proficient level of performance within 10 years; and (6) includes school completion or dropout rates and at least 1 other academic indicator.

Section 1111(b)(2)(C) [Public Comment] provides that the State seek public comments from a range of institutions and individuals in developing its plan. In addition, the State is to ensure information under part A is widely known throughout the State. At a minimum, this information and explanatory text is to be made broadly available through means such as the Internet, the media, and public agencies.

Section 1111(b)(2)(D) [Exceptions to Statewide Application] addresses cases where no State official or entity has authority under State law to adopt curriculum content standards, student performance standards, and aligned assessments which are applicable to all public school students. In such cases, the State may meet title I requirements either: (1) by applying statewide standards and assessments only to children served under part A, or (2) by ensuring that each local educational agency which receives title I funds will adopt standards and assessments which meet all of the criteria described in subsection (b).

Section 1111(b)(2)(E) [Statistical Significance] provides that the State plan must include a description of the standard the State will use in determining statistically significant educational progress for purposes of implementing the reconstitution provisions.

Section 1111(b)(3) [Assessments] provides that, in addition to having annual student assessments in mathematics and reading or language arts as required by current law, States must have such assessments in science. States have until the beginning of the 2007–2008 school year to meet the new science assessment requirement. The same assessments must be used to measure the performance of all children. A new provision is added to require annual assessment in mathematics and reading or language arts of all students in grades 3 through 8, beginning in school year 2005–2006. In exceptional circumstances, a State may be given 1 additional year to come into compliance. In addition, a State will not be required to conduct any of the new mathematics and reading assessments in any school year in which less than 50 percent of the costs of administering these assessments was provided by the Federal government in the previous year.

All reading or language arts assessments must be written in English for any student who has attended school in the United States for 3 or more consecutive years, unless the local educational agency—on a case-by-case basis—determines that assessments in another language would yield more accurate and reliable information. In such situations, students may be tested in a language other than English for 1 additional year or—in exceptional circumstances—for additional years. The section also clarifies that the individual student reports required under current law must be provided to parents of all students. The report must include scores, and may include other performance standards (student course work over time, attendance rates, dropout rates, and participation in advanced level courses).

Section 1111(b)(3) also maintains current law provisions requiring that assessments: (1) be aligned with State content and student performance standards; (2) be used for purposes for which they are valid and reliable; (3) be consistent with relevant, nationally recognized professional and technical standards; (4) be administered at least once during grades 3 through 5, 6 through 9, and 10 through 12; (5) involve multiple measures of student performance; (6) provide for the participation of all students, including students with disabilities and limited English proficient students; (7) include students who have attended schools in a local educational agency for a full academic year but have not attended a single school for a full academic year; (8) provide individual student interpretive and descriptive reports which include test scores or other information on the attainment of performance standards; (9) enable results to be disaggregated by gender, by racial and ethnic group, by English proficiency status, by migrant status, by students with disabilities compared with nondisabled students, and by economically disadvantaged students compared with students who are not economically disadvantaged.

Section 1111(b)(4) [Special Rules] clarifies the current law provision permitting the inclusion of measures that do not meet standards of validity and reliability, provided that the State includes information regarding efforts to validate such measures. A new provision is added, permitting States to measure the academic proficiency of students in grades kindergarten through 2.

Section 1111(b)(5) [Language Assessments] maintains the current law provision that States identify the languages other than English for which yearly student assessments are needed, but not available. The Secretary is to assist with the identification of appropriate assessment measures but shall not mandate a specific assessment or mode of instruction. A reference in current law to the Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Language Affairs is deleted.

Section 1111(b)(6) [Requirement] maintains the current law provision that the State plan describe how it will assist local educational agencies and schools to comply with requirements related to school improvement and corrective action, schoolwide projects, and targetted assistance schools, as applicable, and describe other factors deemed appropriate to providing students an opportunity to achieve.

Section 1111(b)(7) [ED-FLEX] provides that a State will not be eligible for designation as an Ed-Flex State until it develops assessments aligned with the State's content standards in mathematics and reading or language arts.

Section 1111(c) [Other Provisions to Support Teaching and Learning] includes new State plan assurances that States will: (1) produce annual State report cards, beginning with the 2002-2003 school year; (2) participate in annual State assessments of 4th and 8th grade reading and mathematics under the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), provided that the Secretary pays the cost of administering such assessments; (3) provide technical assistance to local educational agencies and schools to carry out parental involvement responsibilities; (4) inform the Secretary and the public of how Federal laws, if at all, hinder their ability to hold local educational agencies and schools accountable for student academic performance; (5) encourage schools to consolidate funds from other Federal, State, and local sources for schoolwide reform; (6) modify or eliminate fiscal and accounting barriers so that schools can easily consolidate funds from other Federal, State, and local sources for schoolwide programs; (7) inform local educational agencies of their authority to obtain waivers under this act; and (8) coordinate activities funded under part A with other Federal activities. Section 1111(c) also maintains current law provisions requiring assurances in the State plan that the State will: (1) provide technical assistance to local educational agencies and schools; (2) consider providing professional development and technical assistance through educational service agencies or through other cooperative agreements; (3) notify local educational agencies and the public of standards and assessments and of the authority to operate schoolwide programs; (4) fulfill its responsibilities regarding local educational agency improvement and school improvement; (5) provide the least restrictive and burdensome regulations for local educational agencies and schools; and (6) involve the committee of practitioners in developing the plan and monitoring its implementation.

Section 1111(d) [Parental Involvement] includes new provisions requiring States to collect effective parental involvement practices and disseminate this information to local educational agencies and schools.

Section 1111(e) [Peer Review and Secretarial Approval] maintains current law provisions regarding the establishment of a peer review process to assist the Secretary in reviewing State plans and procedures to be followed in the event the State plan does not meet the requirements of this section. Language is added to specify that members of the peer review panel must be familiar with educational standards, assessments, accountability, and other diverse educational needs of students. In addition, the Secretary must approve a State plan within 120 days of its submission unless the plan fails to meet the requirements of this section.

Section 1111(f) [Provision of Testing Results to Parents and Teachers] includes a new provision requiring that local educational agencies provide the results from required assessments to parents and teachers as soon as is practicably possible after the test is taken—in a manner and form that is understandable and easily accessible to parents and teachers.

Section 1111(g) [Duration of the Plan] maintains current law provisions providing that a State plan will remain in effect for the duration of its participation under part A, with periodic review and revisions.

Section 1111(h) [Limitation on Conditions] maintains the current law provision that nothing in part A is to be construed to authorize Federal control over specific instructional content, student performance standards and assessments, curriculum, or program of instruction as a condition of receiving part A funds.

Section 1111(i) [Penalty] includes a new provision requiring the Secretary to withhold State administrative funds in cases where a State fails to meet statutory deadlines for having in place challenging content and student performance standards and a system for measuring and monitoring adequate yearly progress.

Section 1111(j) [Reports] includes new requirements for the issuance of annual report cards by States and local educational agencies, beginning in the 2002–2003 school year. All report cards must be broadly disseminated through public means.

Section 1111(j)(1) [State Report Cards] provides that the State report card be concise and presented in an understandable form. The report card must include: (1) information on student achievement at each proficiency level on the State assessments, disaggregated by race, ethnicity, gender, disability status, migrant status, English proficiency, and socioeconomic status; (2) the percentage of students not tested, also disaggregated; (3) the number and names of each school identified for school improvement; (4) information on the adequate yearly progress of local educational agencies; and (5) such other information the State chooses to include regarding the progress of public schools in the State.

Section 1111(j)(2) [Local Educational Agency Report Cards] provides that the local educational agency report card include information about the LEA and each school served by it. The information about the local educational agency to be included is the number and percentage of schools identified for school improvement and the performance by students on statewide assessments compared to students in the State as a whole. Information about schools to be included is whether the school has been identified for school improvement and how students performed on the statewide assessment compared to students in the local educational agency and the State as a whole.

Section 1111(j)(3) [Pre-existing Report Cards] provides that a State or local educational agency that already provide public report cards may continue to use those reports to comply with the reporting requirements of this section, provided that the report includes the information required by the section.

Section 1111(j)(4) [Annual State Report to the Secretary] requires States to report annually to the Secretary, beginning in school year 2001–2002, their progress in developing and implementing required assessments. Beginning in school year 2004–2005, the annual report must include student assessment information, including disaggregated results. The report must also include the number and names of schools identified for school improvement, the reasons for the identification, and the measures taken to address performance problems.

Section 1111(j)(5) [Parents Right-to-Know] requires local educational agencies that receive part A funds provide parents with information regarding the professional qualifications of their student's teachers. Parents are also to be provided information regarding the level of performance of their children in each State assessment in an understandable and uniform format.

Section 1111(k) [Privacy] provides that the privacy of individuals is to be protected with respect to the information collected under this section.

Section 1111(l) [Technical Assistance] requires the Secretary to provide States with technical assistance, upon request, regarding the requirements of this section.

Section 112—Local Educational Agency Plans. Section 112 amends section 1112 of the act.

Section 112(1) amends section 1112(a) of the act to specify that the local educational agency plan shall be coordinated with plans submitted under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, the Carl D. Perkins Vocational and Technical Education Act of 1998, the Head Start Act, and other acts as appropriate.

Section 112(2) amends section 1112(b) of the act to specify that the local educational agency shall determine the literacy levels of first graders and their needs for interventions and shall coordinate professional development planning provisions with similar provisions described under title II of this act. This section also includes a provision requiring the local educational agency to describe, where appropriate, how funds under part A will be used to support early childhood education programs and to describe how the agency will implement effective parental involvement.

Section 112(3) amends section 1112(c) of the act to require each local educational agency to plan to carry out several new activities including: working with schools in the development and implementation of parental involvement and professional development activities; complying with professional development requirements as described under this part; informing eligible schools about waiver authority; ensuring the use of effective strategies to avoid low-income and minority students' being taught at higher rates than other students by unqualified or inexperienced teachers; using the results of assessments and other indicators to review annually the progress of each school served by the agency; and assuring that parents and teachers are provided with assessment results as soon as possible after the test is given. In addition, the section maintains current law provisions regarding local educational agency activities, including: providing information to schools and parents regarding schoolwide authority; providing technical assistance to schoolwide programs; working with schools in the development and implementation of school plans; fulfilling school improvement responsibilities; coordinating, to the extent possible, with other agencies providing services to children, youth, and families; providing services to eligible children attending private elementary and secondary schools in accordance with the act; and examining model programs for the educationally disadvantaged.

Section 112(4) amends section 1112(e) of the act to add a requirement that the State review a local educational agency plan to determine if such agency's parental involvement activities are in accordance with section 1118.

Section 113—Eligible School Attendance Areas. Section 113 amends Section 1113(b) of the act to add a provision allowing a local educational agency to designate and serve, for 1 additional year, a school attendance area or school that is not an eligible school attendance area, but that was an eligible school attendance area and was served in the fiscal year preceding the fiscal year for which the determination is made.

Section 114—Schoolwide Programs. Section 114 amends Section 1114 of the act to allow a local educational agency to use part A funds with other Federal, State, and local funds to upgrade the entire educational program in a school that serves an eligible school attendance area where not less than 40 percent of the children are from low-income families. A new provision is added to indicate that schools with schoolwide programs are not required to maintain separate fiscal accounting records by program, so long as the school demonstrates that the program as a whole addresses the intent and purposes of the programs that were consolidated. This section also includes technical amendments to section 1114 of the act.

Section 115—Targeted Assistance Schools. Section 115 includes several technical amendments to section 1115 of the act. In addition, the section provides a more specific listing of the individuals eligible for professional development and of parental involvement activities.

Section 116—Pupil Safety and Family School Choice. Section 116 amends subpart 1 of part A of title I by inserting a new section after section 1115A of the act. The new section is entitled "SEC. 1115B. PUPIL SAFETY AND FAMILY SCHOOL CHOICE".

New Section 1115B(a) describes student eligibility as it pertains to the pupil safety and family school choice initiative. Eligibility criteria includes a student who is served by the title 1 program and becomes a victim of a violent criminal offense while on public school grounds. If a student meets the eligibility criteria, then the local educational agency shall allow the eligible student to transfer to another public school or public charter school in the same State as the school where the criminal offense occurred. The transfer must occur in accordance with State and local law.

New Section 1115B(b) describes State educational agency determinations. These include deciding the actions that constitute a violent criminal offense and determining which schools in the State are unsafe public schools. A definition of "unsafe public schools" is provided.

New Section 1115B(c) allows a local educational agency that serves the public school in which the violent criminal offense occurred to use funds from part A of title I to provide transportation services or to pay the reasonable costs of transportation for the student to attend another school.

New Section 1115B(d) specifies that any school receiving assistance under this section shall comply with title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and not discriminate on the basis of race, color, or national origin.

New Section 1115B(e) specifies that nothing under this section will affect the requirements of part B of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

New Section 1115B(f) stipulates that the amount of assistance provided under part A for a student who transfers shall not exceed the per pupil expenditures for students as provided by the local educational agency that serves the school involved in the transfer.

Section 1117—Assessment and Local Educational Agency and School Improvement. Section 1117 rewrites section 1116 of the act. Provisions of the new Section 1116 include:

Section 1116(a) [Local Review] maintains current law requirements that local educational agencies: use State assessments, use any additional indicators to review the annual progress of each school served under part A, and provide the result of the local review to schools. A new provision is added, requiring the local educational agency to annually review the effectiveness of schools in carrying out parental involvement and professional development activities.

Section 1116(b) [Designation of Distinguished Schools] restates the current law provision providing for State and local designation of distinguished schools.

Section 1116(c) [School Improvement]. Section 1116(c)(1) requires a local educational agency to identify a school for school improvement if the school fails to make adequate yearly progress in any year or was in school improvement status immediately prior to the enactment of the Better Education for Students and Teachers Act. An exception is provided in cases where nearly every student in the school is meeting the State's proficient level of performance.

Section 1116(c)(2) [Opportunity to Review and Present Evidence; Time Limit] provides that a school shall have the opportunity to review school-level data prior to being identified for school improvement, corrective action, or reconstitution. If the principal of the school believes the data is in error, he or she may provide supporting evidence. The local educational agency must make a final determination within 30 days after making an initial determination of the status of a school.

Section 1116(c)(3) [School Plan] provides that a school identified for school improvement must develop a school plan within 3 months. The plan is to cover a 2-year period and is to include strategies, policies, and practices designed to improve student academic performance. The school must reserve at least 10 percent of its part A funds to provide high-quality professional development to the school's teachers and principal. The local educational agency may condition approval of the school plan on inclusion of 1 or more corrective actions (which include alternative governance arrangements, replacement of school staff, and institution of a new curriculum). A school must implement the plan no later than the beginning of the school year following the identification of the school as being in need of improvement. Within 45 days of receiving a school plan, the local educational agency must establish a peer-review process and review the plan.

Section 1116(c)(4) [Technical Assistance] requires the local educational agency to provide technical assistance to each school identified for school improvement. The technical assistance must be based on scientifically based research and must include assistance in analyzing assessment data, in identifying and implementing instructional strategies, and in analyzing the budget of the school. Technical assistance may be provided through other entities.

Section 1116(c)(5) [Notification to Parents] provides a new requirement that the local educational agency promptly notify the parents of a school identified for school improvement to explain what school improvement means, what is being done to address the performance problems of the school, and what parents can do to help deal with these problems.

Section 1116(c)(6) [Corrective Action].

Section 1116(c)(6)(A) defines “corrective action” as being a direct and substantial response to the consistent academic failure of a school and the underlying causes of the failure in order to increase the likelihood that students will perform at proficient and advanced levels.

Section 1116(c)(6)(B) requires each local educational agency to implement a system of corrective action.

Section 1116(c)(6)(C) specifies that, after providing technical assistance, the local educational agency may take corrective action for any school that fails to make adequate yearly progress for 1 year after the school has been identified for school improvement. The local educational agency must take corrective action for any school that fails to make adequate yearly progress within 2 years of being identified for school improvement. The local educational agency must also take corrective action for any school that was in program-improvement status for 2 years or in corrective action immediately prior to the enactment of BEST. The local educational agency must continue providing technical assistance to schools in corrective action and must promptly notify parents of the option to transfer their child to another public school.

Section 1116(c)(6)(D) provides that all students enrolled in a school which the local educational agency is required to place in corrective action be given the option to transfer to another public school within the local educational agency which has not been identified for school improvement. Exceptions to this requirement include instances in which such an option is prohibited by State or local law or where the local educational agency does not have the capacity to provide the transfer option to all students who request it. In cases where lack of capacity is the issue, the agency must permit as many students as possible, selected on an equitable base, to transfer. In addition, the local agency must take at least 1 of the following corrective actions: (1) make alternative governance arrangements; (2) replace the relevant school staff; and (3) institute and fully implement a new curriculum.

Section 1116(c)(6)(E) provides that a local educational agency may delay implementation of corrective action for no more than 1 year in cases where failure to make adequate yearly progress was due to exceptional or uncontrollable circumstances.

Section 1116(c)(6)(F) requires the local educational agency to publish information regarding any corrective action it takes to the public and parents, in a format and language that parents can understand.

Section 1116(c)(7) [Reconstitution].

Section 1116(c)(7)(A) provides that, if a school subject to corrective action continues to fail to make adequate yearly progress after 1 year and if economically disadvantaged students are not making statistically significant progress, the local educational agency must provide all students with the option to transfer to another public school in the local educational agency which has not been identified for school improvement. In this case, each student is to be given the same right to attend any public school as is provided to any child who is a new resident of that school's attendance area. The local educational agency must also prepare a plan and make arrangements for alternative governance for the school.

Section 1116(c)(7)(B) provides that, no later than 1 year after the transfer option described in subparagraph (A) is implemented, the local educational agency must: (1) reopen the school as a public charter school; (2) replace all or most of the school staff; or (3) make alternative governance arrangements.

Section 1116(c)(7)(C) provides that the local educational agency must promptly notify teachers and parents whenever the transfer option or the alternative governance arrangements apply.

Section 1116(c)(8) [Transportation] provides that the local educational agency must provide or pay for the transportation of students who choose the transfer option provided under the corrective action or reconstitution provisions of this section, provided that transportation payments do not exceed 15 percent of the agency's title I allocation.

Section 1116(c)(9) [Duration of Reconstitution] provides that a school identified for reconstitution will not be subject to corrective action or identified for school improvement if the school makes adequate yearly progress for 2 consecutive years and if economically disadvantaged students at the school make statistically significant educational progress over that same period.

Section 1116(c)(10) [State Educational Agency Responsibilities] requires the State educational agency to make technical assistance available to all schools identified for school improvement and corrective action and to take corrective actions if a local educational agency fails to do so.

Section 1116(d) [State Review and Local Educational Agency Improvement].

Section 1116(d)(1) specifies that a State educational agency shall prepare an annual performance report for each local educational agency receiving funds under part A. The performance report shall contain information regarding local educational agency performance in making adequate yearly progress, the progress of the local educational agency in enabling students to meet the State levels of performance, and the effectiveness of professional development and parental involvement activities carried out by the local educational agency.

Section 1116(d)(2) [Rewards] provides that the State may make institutional and individual rewards to local educational agencies that have met or exceed the State's definition of adequate progress for 3 consecutive years.

Section 1116(d)(3) [Identification] provides that the State must identify for improvement any local educational agency that is not making adequate yearly progress for 2 consecutive years in schools served under part A. The local educational agency must be given the opportunity to review the data on which the identification is based and may provide evidence to the State that the identification for improvement is in error.

Section 1116(d)(4) [Local Educational Agency Revisions] provides that, if a local educational agency is identified as an entity needing improvement, the local educational agency shall submit a plan that: (1) includes specific yearly progress requirements; (2) addresses the teaching and learning needs in the schools within the local educational agency; (3) incorporates research-based strategies; (4) addresses professional development needs of the instructional staff, including the commitment of 10 percent of title I funds during 1 fiscal year for professional development; (4) identifies specific goals and objectives the local educational agency will undertake for making adequate yearly progress; (5) identifies how the local educational agency will provide written notification to parents; (6) specifies the responsibilities of the State educational agency and the local educational agency; and (7) includes strategies for effective parental involvement.

Section 1116(d)(5) [State Educational Agency Responsibility] specifies that the State will provide technical assistance to local educational agencies needing improvement. Such assistance must be supported by scientifically based research instructional strategies and must address any problems the local educational agency may be having in implementing parental involvement and professional development activities.

Section 1116(d)(6) [Corrective Action].

Section 1116(d)(6)(A) provides that the State must implement a corrective action system.

Section 1116(d)(6)(B) provides that, after providing technical assistance, each State educational agency may take corrective action at any time for any local educational agency that has been identified for improvement and shall continue to provide technical assistance while implementing any corrective action. Consistent with State and local law, the State educational agency shall take at least 1 of the following corrective actions: (1) instituting and implementing a new curriculum; (2) restructuring the local educational agency; (3) developing and implementing a joint plan between the State educational agency and the local educational agency that addresses student performance problems; (4) reconstituting school district personnel; or (5) making alternative governance arrangements. This section also lists several permissible corrective actions that a State educational agency may implement, including: (1) deferring, reducing, or withholding funds; (2) restructuring or abolishing the local educational agency; (3) removing particular schools from the jurisdiction of the local educational agency, or (4) appointing a receiver or trustee to administer the local educational agency.

Section 1116(d)(6)(C) [Hearing] provides that, prior to implementing any corrective action, the State educational agency shall provide a hearing to the affected local educational agency, if State law provides for a hearing process.

Section 1116(d)(6)(D) [Notification to Parents] provides that the State must notify parents and the public of any corrective action it takes.

Section 1116(d)(6)(E) [Delay] provides that a State educational agency may delay, for a period not to exceed 1 year, implementation of corrective action if the State educational agency determines that the local educational agency is meeting the State yearly progress requirements and the schools within the local educational agency will meet the State's criteria for improvement within 1 year.

Section 1116(d)(6)(F) [Waivers] provides that the State educational agency shall review any waivers granted to a local educational agency that has been designated for improvement or corrective action and shall terminate any waiver that is not helping the local educational agency meet the yearly progress requirements.

Section 1116(d)(7) [Special Rule] provides that local educational agencies which make adequate progress for at least 2 of the 3 years following identification no longer need to be identified for improvement.

Section 1116(e) [Construction] provides that nothing in this section shall be construed to alter or otherwise affect the rights of school or school district employees under Federal, State, or local laws or under agreements between such employees and their employers.

Section 1118—Assistance for School Support and Improvement. Section 1118(1) amends section 1117(a) of the act to list the priorities for a State educational agency for providing support to local educational agencies. First, the State educational agency must provide support and assistance to local educational agencies that have received corrective action. Second, the State educational agency must provide support and assistance to other local educational agencies and schools identified as in need of improvement. Third, the State educational agency must provide support and assistance to other local educational agencies and schools participating under part A of title I that need support and assistance to carry out the purpose of part A.

Section 1118(2) amends section 1117(b) of the act to correct the reference to comprehensive regional technical assistance centers.

Section 1118(3) rewrites section 1117(c)(1) of the act to specify that priority be given to the establishment of school support teams for assignment to and working in schools subject to corrective action and for the support of such teams. Each school support team is to be comprised of individuals knowledgeable about successful schoolwide projects, school reform, and improving educational opportunities for low-achieving students. The support team assigned to a school is to: review all facets of the school's operation; collaborate in the design, implementation, and monitoring of the school plan; evaluate the effectiveness of school personnel; and make additional recommendations, as the school implements its plan, regarding additional assistance and resources that are needed. After 1 school year, the support team may recommend that it continue to provide assistance to the school or that the local educational agency or the State take other action with respect to the school. This section also makes minor revisions in current law provisions, enabling a State—if the State chooses to do so—to recognize and provide financial rewards to teachers or principals in a school where the students have consistently made significant gains in academic achievement.

Section 1119—Parental Involvement. Section 1119 amends section 1118 of the act.

Section 1119(1) amends section 1118(a)(2)(B) of the act to specify that the local educational agency will provide the coordination, technical assistance, and other support necessary to assist participating schools in planning and implementing effective parent involvement activities to improve student achievement and student and school performance.

Section 119(2) amends section 1118(b)(1) of the act to ensure that schools served under this part of the act will jointly develop, and distribute a written policy of parental involvement, in a language parents can understand, to the parents of participating children that shall describe the means for carrying out the requirements of subsections (c) through (f). The policy shall also be made available to the local community and shall be updated periodically to meet the changing needs of parents and the school.

Section 119(3) amends section 1118(e) of the act to ensure effective involvement of parents and to support a partnership among the school, parents, and the community to improve student achievement, each school and local educational agency shall provide assistance to parents of children served by the school or local educational agency, as appropriate, in understanding the State's content standards and State student performance standards, the provisions of section 1111(b)(8), State and local assessments, the requirements of this part, and how to monitor a child's progress and work with educators to improve the performance of their children as well as information on how parents can participate in decisions relating to the education of their children. This section also states that each school and local educational agency shall provide materials and training using technology, as appropriate, to foster parental involvement. This section also eliminates paragraph 1118(e)(15) and establishes a new paragraph 1118(e)(15) to allow each school and local educational agency, should they choose to do so, to establish a school district wide parent advisory council to advise the school and local educational agency on all matters related to parental involvement in programs supported under this section. This section also provides a new provision requiring that schools and local educational agencies provide reasonable support for parental involvement activities under this section that parents may request, including emerging technologies.

Section 119(4) amends section 1118(f) of the act to make technical amendments regarding the provision of services to the parents of migratory children and parents with disabilities.

Section 119(5) amends section 1118(g) of the act to specify that, in a State where a parental information and resource center is established, such a center shall provide parents with a description of the services and programs provided by the center. This section also provides for the State education agency to review the local educational agency's parental involvement policies and practices to determine if the requirements of this section are met.

Section 120—Professional Development. Section 120 amends section 1119(b) of the act to establish that professional development activities shall provide support to teachers, principals, administrators, paraprofessionals, pupil services personnel, and parents. Professional development activities shall advance teacher understanding of effective instructional strategies, based on research for improving student achievement, at a minimum in reading or language arts and mathematics. Professional development initiatives shall also be of sufficient intensity and duration to have a positive and lasting impact. This section also refers to providing training for teachers in the use of technology, evaluating the impact of professional development initiatives and includes strategies for identifying and eliminating racial and gender bias in instructional materials and practices.

Section 120A—Participation Of Children Enrolled In Private Schools. Section 120A(1) amends section 1120(a) of the act in general terms and makes technical amendments to current law. Section 120A(2) amends section 1120(b) of the act to specify that local educational agencies shall consult private school officials during the design of the agency's programs in regard to how the services will be assessed and how the results of that assessment will be used to improve the agency's programs. The act is also amended to specify that the local educational agency shall make decisions about the delivery of services to eligible private school children, including an analysis of the views of private school officials regarding the delivery of services through potential third party providers. If the local educational agency disagrees with the views of the private school officials on the delivery of services, the local educational agency will provide a written document, to private school officials, with the reasons why the local educational agency has chosen not to provide the services. Each local educational agency will provide to the State educational agency a written affirmation that the consultation has occurred. If a private school declines to have eligible children in the private school participate in title I, part A services, the local educational agency is not required to further consult with the private school officials. Each year, the local educational agency shall inform the private school of the opportunity for eligible children to participate in title I, part A services. A private school official shall have the right to appeal the local educational agency decision to the State educational agency as to whether: the consultation was meaningful; timely; and the views were given due consideration.

Section 120A(3) amends section 1120 of the act to redesignate subsections (c), (d), and (e) as subsections (d), (e) and (f), respectively.

Section 120A(4) amends section 1120 of the act to add a provision to describe the allocation for equitable services to private school students.

Section 120A(b) establishes an effective date of September 30, 2003, for the amendment made by subsection (a)(4) dealing with the allocation for equitable services to private school students.

Section 120A(c) amends section 1120A(a) of the act with a technical amendment.

Section 120B—Early Childhood Education. Section 120B(1) amends the heading of Section 1120B.

Section 120B(2) amends section 1120B to make technical changes to the act.

Section 120B(3) amends section 1120B to add 2 new subsections, (d) and (e), to permit a local educational agency, if the local educational agency chooses to do so, to use part A of title I funds to provide preschool services. New subsection 1120B(e) establishes that early childhood education programs that use part A of title I funds may do so jointly with Even Start programs under part B of title I, Head Start programs or State-funded preschool programs. Early childhood education programs shall: focus on the developmental needs of children; teach children to understand and use language; enable children to develop an appreciation of books; and, for children with limited English proficiency, enable the children to make progress toward acquisition of the English language.

Section 120C—Allocations. Section 120C amends subpart 2 of part A of title I to read as follows:

Subpart 2—Allocations

Section 1121—Grants for the Outlying Areas and the Secretary of the Interior. Section 1121(a) specifies the reservation of funds.

Section 1121(b) authorizes grants to the outlying areas in accordance with the Compacts of Free Association.

Section 1121(c) specifies the allotment that is reserved for the Secretary of the Interior to meet the educational needs of Indian children.

Section 1122—Amounts for Basic Grants, Concentration Grants, and Targeted Grants. Section 1122(a) establishes the level of the appropriation of funds for the Basic, Concentration and Targeted Grant programs under part A of title I for fiscal years 2002 through 2008. The section specifies that funds for part A of title I shall be allocated in such a way that the Basic and Concentration Grant programs shall receive an amount equal to the amount received in fiscal year 2001 before funding is allocated to the Targeted Grant Program. Funding that is appropriated in excess of the fiscal year 2001 level shall be allocated to the Targeted Grant Program. In the event that funding for part A of title I is reduced in any fiscal year, funds shall first be reduced from the Targeted Grant Program. If additional reductions are necessitated, funding shall then be taken from the Concentration Grant program.

Section 1122(b) describes the adjustments to the allocations where necessitated by the appropriations process. The ratable reduction rule is utilized to determine the relative size of each State's allocation when full funding is not available.

Section 1122(c) establishes the hold harmless provisions that determine the amount of title I funding that a local education agency may receive as a result of changes in absolute and relative population and poverty. If the proportion of children counted is above 30 percent of the children served by the local education agency, it will receive not less than 95 percent of the amount it received in the previous year. If the proportion of children counted is between 15 percent and 30 percent of the children served by the local education agency, it will receive not less than 90 percent of the amount it received in the previous year. If the proportion of children counted falls below 15 percent of the children served by the local education agency, it will receive not less than 85 percent of the amount it received in the previous year. The section is amended to eliminate the "cliff" phenomenon whereby a local education agency that loses eligibility during one year as a result of a change in population or poverty loses all of its funds. A local education agency that received funding in the prior year is eligible to continue to receive funding in accordance with the hold harmless provisions. A local education agency that loses eligibility for 5 consecutive years may not continue receive funding.

Section 1122(d) describes ratable reductions.

Section 1123—Definitions. Section 1123 defines “Freely associated States”, “outlying areas”, and “State” for the purposes of distributing the allocations.

Section 1124—Basic Grants to Local Educational Agencies. Section 1124(a) specifies the amounts of the local educational agencies basic grants. This section also describes and simplifies the formula by which grants are calculated. Section 1124(a) outlines the allocations to large and small local educational agencies. In addition, this section establishes the formula for Puerto Rico.

Section 1124(a)(3) provides authority to calculate grants on the basis of county data in the event that the Department of Census fails to provide local education agency specific data.

Section 1124(b) specifies the minimum number of children a local educational agency must have to qualify for a basic grant.

Section 1124(c) describes the categories that are used for counting the number of children for basic grants.

Section 1124(d) establishes the State minimum for basic grants.

Section 1124A—Concentration Grants to Local Educational Agencies.

Section 1124A(a) specifies the eligibility requirements and amount of grants.

Section 1124A(2) is amended to simplify the reference to the basic grant expenditure factor.

Section 1124A(4) is amended to eliminate reference to the county suballocation formula in effect for fiscal years 1996–98. Authority for the States to allocate funding on the basis of county data is retained for any year in which the Secretary relies upon county data in lieu of local education agency data. New Section 1221. Purposes. This section contains 5 purposes for this new program. The purposes relate to helping all children learn to read well by the end of third grade.

New Section 1222. Formula Grants to States; Competitive Subgrants to Local Agencies. The Secretary will make grants to State educational agencies that have applications approved under this subpart. Of the total amount appropriated for this subpart, 75 percent shall be distributed to the States with approved applications using the formula in section 1124 of title I, part A. The State educational agency must distribute at least 80 percent of these funds to local educational agencies through a competitive process.

To be eligible to receive funds under this subpart, a local educational agency must have a high percentage of students reading below grade level and demonstrate 1 other indicator of need. Local educational agencies must use similar criteria to target funds to schools within their jurisdictions.

A local educational agency that receives funds under this subpart shall use funds for the uses defined in this section. Among these uses of funds are: utilizing diagnostic assessments; purchasing or developing materials; assisting parents to help support their children’s reading development; and professional development. All materials, instructional approaches, and professional development must be derived from scientifically based reading research, a term that is defined in section 1228. A local educational agency can use up to 5 percent of its funds for planning and administration.

The local uses of funds under the formula grant section and the competitive grant section are the same.

New Section 1224. State Applications. This section describes the required contents of an application for funds authorized under this subpart. The State educational agency must submit its application to the Secretary. The Secretary must convene a review panel to evaluate the applications and make recommendations to the Secretary with regards to whether they meet the requirements of the subpart. The application requirements and the peer review process are similar to the provisions of the Reading Excellence Act, which this new subpart replaces.

In order for the State to receive a grant under the subpart, the Governor of the State, in consultation with the State educational agency, shall establish a reading and literacy partnership. This section details the required membership of the partnership and its duties.

This section repeals the congressional findings currently in the act and states the purpose of subpart 1, which is to improve educational services in local and State institutions for neglected or delinquent children so that they have the opportunity to meet the same challenging State content and student performance standards that all children in the State are expected to meet; to provide such children with the services needed to make a successful transition from institutionalization to further schooling or employment; and to prevent at-risk youth from dropping out of school and to provide dropouts and youth returning from institutions with a support system to ensure their continued education.

Section 1401(b) requires the Secretary to provide grants to State educational agencies so that they can award subgrants to State agencies and local educational agencies to establish or improve programs of education for neglected or delinquent children at risk of dropping out of school before graduation.

Section 1402—Payments for Programs Under this Subpart. This section authorizes the Secretary to allocate to each State educational agency amounts necessary to make subgrants to State agencies under chapter 1. Section 1416—Institution-Wide Projects. This section allows State agencies that provide education to neglected or delinquent children to use funds received under part D to upgrade the educational effort of the institutions or programs these children are educated in, if the State agency has developed and approved a plan for that institution or program. This section establishes specific guidelines for the plan.

Part F—Education for Homeless Children and Youth

Part F of the bill amends the Education for Homeless Children and Youth authorized as Subtitle B of Title VII of the Stewart D. McKinney Homeless Assistance Act (referred to below as “the act”.)

Section 161—Statement of Policy. Section 161 of the bill amends section 721 of the act to state that homelessness alone is not sufficient reason to separate students from the mainstream school environment.

Section 162—Grants for State and Local Activities. Section 162(1) of the bill amends section 722(c) of the act to eliminate Palau as part of those receiving reserved funds and to drop the reference to Palau in the definitions.

Section 162(2) amends section 722(e) of the act to add a new paragraph (3) to prohibit the segregation of homeless students. A State is required to provide a free public education to a homeless child or youth, and it may not segregate such child or youth, either in separate school, or in a separate program within a school, based on such child or youth’s status as homeless, except as provided in cases of health or safety emergency or to provide special or supplementary services to those children.

Section 162(3) amends section 722(f) of the act, which deals with the functions of the Coordinator of Education of Homeless Children and Youth in each State, to: (1) strike the provision that the coordinator estimate the number of homeless children in the state, and/or the number of youth served under this subtitle; (2) permit the Secretary to set reporting dates for the collection and transmittal of data the coordinator gathers; (3) clarify the coordination of services provisions, emphasizing not only “coordination” but also “collaboration” of services; (4) add local educational agency liaisons for homeless children and youth and community organizations representing such children and their families among those in the coordination/collaboration effort; and (5) provide technical assistance to local educational agencies to ensure compliance with the prohibition on the segregation of homeless students.

Section 162(4)(A) amends section 722(g)(1) of the act, which deals with State plans, to strengthen assurances that homeless children will not be isolated or stigmatized and to provide that local educational agencies serving homeless children and youth designate an appropriate staff person (who may also be in charge of administering other Federal programs) to serve as liaison for homeless children and youth and post public notice of the educational rights of such children and youth in locations such as family shelters, and soup kitchens.

Section 162(4)(B) amends section 722(g)(3) of the act, which deals with local educational agency requirements, to expand provisions related to school of origin and to provide for prompt enrollment. A child who becomes homeless is to be served in the school of origin for the duration of the child's homelessness, rather than for the remainder of the academic year. A child who becomes permanently housed is to be served in the school of origin for the remainder of the school year. (The current option of enrolling the child in the attendance area where he or she is actually living is retained.) To the extent feasible, a local educational agency must keep a student in the school of origin except when that is contrary to the wishes of the parent or guardian or, in the case of an unaccompanied youth, the youth. The bill includes a new requirement that a written explanation be provided to the parent or guardian if the child is sent to a school other than the school of origin or the school requested by the parent or guardian. In addition, the bill adds a new provision stipulating that a school must immediately enroll homeless youth, even if they are unable to produce required records. The new school must also contact the old school for the records and refer the child to proper place for immunization if he or she lacks needed shots. A school must immediately enroll homeless youth in cases of an enrollment dispute, pending resolution of the dispute.

Section 162(4)(C) amends section 722(g)(6) of the act, which deals with coordination of services, to consolidate current law provisions regarding coordination of agencies and programs and to add language stating the purpose of coordination, which is to ensure that homeless children and youth have access to available education and related support services and to raise the awareness of school personnel and service providers of the effects of short-term stays in a shelter and other challenges associated with homeless children and youth.

Section 162(4)(D) amends section 722(g)(7) of the act, which deals with the local educational agency liaison, to add provisions that the liaison ensure that: (1) homeless youth have full and equal opportunity to succeed; (2) parents are informed of the education and related opportunities available to their children and are provided with the opportunity to participate in the education of their children; and (3) public notice of the educational rights of homeless children and youth is posted at places such as family shelters and soup kitchens. Section 3202—Program Authorized. New section 3202 authorizes three-year matching grants to State educational agencies or local educational agencies for innovative model programs of foreign language study for elementary and secondary school students. The federal match is 50 percent, but it may be waived for a local educational agency which can demonstrate lack of adequate resources to pay the non-federal share. State educational agency grants shall be for programs that promote systemic approaches to improving foreign language learning. Local educational agency grants must show promise of being continued beyond the grant period, demonstrate approaches which can be disseminated, and may include professional development. At least three-fourths of the funds must be used to expand foreign language learning in the elementary grades.

New section 3205 authorizes appropriations of $35 million for fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary for each of the 6 succeeding fiscal years, of which no more than $20 million may be used in each fiscal year to carry out the elementary school foreign language incentive program.

Part C—Emergency Immigrant Education Program

Section 3301—Purpose. New section 3301 sets out findings related to the education of immigrant students and states the purpose of Part C, which is to assist eligible local educational agencies that experience unexpectedly large increases in their student population due to immigration in providing educational services to those students.

Section 3302—State Administrative Costs. New section 3302 permits State educational agencies to reserve up to 1.5 percent of the amount allocated to them for administrative costs. State educational agencies may reserve up to 2 percent if they distribute funds to local educational agencies competitively.

Section 3303—Withholding. New section 3303 permits the Secretary to withhold Part C funds from a State educational agency if, after notice and opportunity for a hearing, the Secretary determines that the State educational agency has failed to meet the requirements of Part C. The Secretary may also require that the State educational agency not make further payments to specified local educational agencies whose actions are involved with the failure to meet these requirements.

Section 3304—State Allocations. New section 3304 establishes the allocation of Part C funds to State educational agencies. Each participating State receives an allocation equal to the State's proportion the number of immigrant students relative to the total number of immigrant students in all States participating in the program. Immigrant student counts are determined on a local educational agency basis, with eligible local educational agencies being those which have at least 500 immigrant students or 3 percent of total enrollment comprised of such students—whichever is less. If Part C funding exceeds $50 million, a State educational agency may reserve up to 20 percent of its payment to award competitive grants to local educational agencies—at least half of which must go to the local educational agencies with the highest numbers and percentages of immigrant students. The remaining competitive grant funds may be awarded either to the local educational agencies described above or to local educational agencies with a sudden influx of immigrant children which would otherwise not be eligible for assistance under Part C.

Section 3305—State Applications. New section 3305 provides that State educational agencies must apply for funds and sets out assurances which must be included in the application, including an assurance that funds not distributed by competitive grant will be provided to local educational agencies on the basis of their immigrant student count and an assurance that immigrant students attending nonpublic schools are served. The application must be approved by the Secretary.

Section 3306—Administrative Provisions. New section 3306 provides that the Secretary must notify a State educational agency regarding the amount of its allocation for the succeeding year no later than June 1 each year. If a local educational agency is prohibited from, has substantially failed or is unwilling to provide educational services for children enrolled in nonpublic schools, the Secretary must arrange for the provision of services to such children. Waivers of the local educational agency's requirements to offer these services are subject to consultation, withholding, notice, and judicial review requirements in accordance with the provisions of title I.

Section 3307—Uses of Funds. New section 3307 sets out a number of permissive uses of funds, the purpose of which is to enhance instructional opportunities for immigrant students. A local educational agency may form a consortia with one or more local educational agencies, institutions of higher education, and nonprofit organizations and may also make subgrants.

Section 3308—Reports. New section 3308 requires State educational agencies to report every 2 years to the Secretary concerning the expenditure of funds by local educational agencies under this part. Each local educational agency receiving funds under this part shall submit to the State educational agency such information as may be necessary for such report. The Secretary shall submit, once every 2 years, a report to the appropriate committees of the Congress concerning programs assisted under Part C.

Section 3402—Education Technology. New section 3402 provides that funds made available under part A may be used to provide for the acquisition or development of education technology or instructional materials, including authentic materials in languages other than English, access to and participation in electronic networks for materials, training and communications, and incorporation of such resources in curricula and programs such as those funded under title III.

Section 3403—Notification. New section 3403 provides that the State educational agency, and when applicable, the State board for postsecondary education, shall be notified within three working days of the date an award under part A is made to an eligible entity within the State.

Section 3404—Continued Eligibility. New section 3404 provides that entities receiving grants under this title shall remain eligible for grants for subsequent activities which extend or expand and do not duplicate those activities supported by a previous grant under this title. In considering applications for grants under this title, the Secretary shall take into consideration the applicant's record of accomplishments under previous grants under this title.

Section 3405—Coordination and Reporting Requirements. New section 3405 requires the Secretary to coordinate with other programs serving limited English proficient children and youth administered by the Department and by other agencies, to assure that data collected by the Department include data on limited English proficient children and youth (to the extent feasible), publish and disseminate all requests for proposals for subpart 1 programs. In addition, the Director of the Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Language Affairs shall report to the Secretary and House and Senate authorizing committees every other year on activities related to this title.

It also includes provisions for parental notification of items related to the program and for the option to decline enrollment of their children in bilingual education programs. Parents are also to receive this information in a manner and form understandable to them.

TITLE IV—SAFE AND DRUG-FREE SCHOOLS AND COMMUNITIES

Section 401—Amendment to the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. This section amends title IV and inserts the following:

Part A—State grants

The new part A renames title IV, part A as “State Grants.”

Provisions of title IV, part A include:

Section 4001—Short Title. This section specifies that part A may be cited as the “Safe and Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act of 1994.”

Section 4002—Findings. This section provides new congressional findings regarding this part, including: (1) every student should attend a school in a drug- and violence-free learning environment; (2) the widespread illegal use of alcohol and drugs among the Nation’s secondary school students, and increasingly by students in elementary schools, constitutes a grave threat to such students’ physical and mental well-being, and significantly impedes the learning process; (3) drug and violence prevention programs are essential components of a comprehensive strategy to promote school safety, youth development, positive school outcomes, and to reduce the demand for and illegal use of alcohol, tobacco and drugs throughout the Nation; (4) drug and violence prevention programs are most effective when implemented within a research-based, drug and violence prevention framework of proven effectiveness; (5) research clearly shows that community contexts contribute to substance abuse and violence; (6) substance abuse and violence are intricately related and must be dealt with in a holistic manner; and (7) research has documented that parental behavior and environment directly influence a child’s inclination to use alcohol, tobacco or drugs.

Section 4003—Purpose. This section states the purpose of Part A which is to support programs that prevent violence in and around schools and prevent the illegal use of alcohol, tobacco, and drugs; involve parents; and are coordinated with related Federal, State, school, and community efforts and resources.

Section 4004—Funding. This section authorizes specific funding levels for fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary for the 6 succeeding fiscal years for the following programs: $700 million for the State Grants program under subpart 1; $150 million for the National Programs under subpart 2; and $75 million for the National Coordinator Initiative under section 4122. In addition, this section authorizes $5 million in each of fiscal years 2002 through 2004 to carry out the “Grants to Combat the Impact of Experiencing or Witnessing Domestic Violence on Elementary and Secondary School Children” authorized in section 4125.

Subpart 1—State grants for drug and violence prevention programs

Section 4111—Reservations and Allotments. This section requires the Secretary to: reserve 1 percent of the amount made available under section 4004(1) for Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands; reserve 1 percent of the same amount for the Secretary of the Interior to carry out programs under this part for Indian youth; reserve not more than $2 million for the National impact evaluation required by section 4117(a); and reserve 0.2 percent of above amount for programs for Native Hawaiians under section 4118.

Section 4112—State Applications. This section requires States seeking an allotment to submit an application to the Secretary including: a comprehensive plan for the use of funds under the Governor's program and the State Department of Education's program; a needs assessment and results of ongoing State evaluation activities; assurances that stakeholders were consulted; measurable goals; a description of how the funds will be spent; a description of how the State will receive input from parents; and a comprehensive plan for using and monitoring the funds received under title IV. The State plan shall also include a comprehensive plan for the Governor's program by the chief executive officer.

Section 4113—State and Local Educational Agency Programs. This section reserves 80 percent of the funds made available to States to be used for State support and grants to local educational agencies for drug and violence prevention activities. State and local programs must implement activities that are research-based initiatives, and States are required to implement a uniform management and information reporting system so that expenditures of these funds can be clearly tracked. A State educational agency may use up to 5 percent of available funds for technical assistance and 5 percent for the administrative costs of carrying out responsibilities.

State educational agencies may choose between the following two options for allocating remaining funds to local educational agencies: (1) at least 70 percent to schools based on enrollment and up to 30 percent allocated at the State's discretion or to schools the State determines to have the greatest need; or (2) up to 70 percent on a competitive basis to those schools with the greatest need, and 30 percent to those schools the State determines require additional help to run a program but which might not meet the "greatest need" criteria. These options would allow States to choose and define a competitive or baseline minimum grant system and still allow them to help those schools that could not compete under that system.

Section 4114—Governor's Programs. This section reserves 20 percent of a State's allocation for Governors' programs, of which not less than 95 percent of the funds must be used for research-based substance abuse/violence reduction through a broad range of activities. Governors are authorized to add their money directly to the funds being sent to schools and communities to serve out-of-school youth and to undertake community mobilization activities related to substance abuse and violence.

Section 4115—Local Applications. This section states that in order to be eligible for a distribution under section 4113(d), a local educational agency must submit an application to the State educational agency. The application shall: include a needs assessment; set measurable goals and objectives; utilize effective research-based programs; ensure participation of community groups; and include a program evaluation.

Section 4116—Local Drug and Violence Prevention Programs. This section requires local educational agencies to use funds received under subpart 1 to adopt and carry out a comprehensive drug and violence prevention program. The program shall be designed for all students and school employees in order to prevent the use, possession, and distribution of tobacco, alcohol, and illegal drugs; prevent violence and promote school safety; and create a disciplined environment conducive to learning. The program must also include activities to promote the involvement of parents and coordination with community groups and agencies.

Section 4117—Evaluations and Reporting. This section requires the Secretary of Education to consult with the newly created National Advisory Committee to conduct an independent biennial evaluation of the impact of programs assisted under subpart 1 and on other recent and new initiatives to combat violence in schools. The evaluation shall determine whether funded programs conform to the principles of effectiveness; target research-based programs such as risk factors and/or protective factors/buffers or assets; reduce drug use, school violence, and the presence of firearms at schools; and have conducted effective parental involvement and voluntary training activities. The Department of Education, States, and the Governors are required to implement program and financial monitoring. Every 2 years, States shall provide the Secretary with a report detailing the implementation and outcomes of the State's and local educational agencies programs and their effectiveness, the State's progress toward attaining its goals for drug and violence prevention, and the State's efforts to inform parents of, and include parents in, violence and drug prevention efforts. In addition, local educational agencies are required to provide State educational agencies with the information they may need to complete the State reports.

Section 4118—Programs for Native Hawaiians. This section authorizes the Secretary to provide grants to or enter into cooperative agreements with organizations that serve and represent Native Hawaiians in order to plan, conduct, and administer programs that are authorized by and consistent with the provisions of title IV for the benefit of Native Hawaiians. For the purposes of this section, Native Hawaiians are those individuals whose ancestors were natives, prior to 1778, of the area which now comprises the State of Hawaii.

Subpart 2—National programs

Section 4121—Federal Activities. This section authorizes the Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services, the Director of the Office of National Drug Control Policy, and the Attorney General, to carry out programs to prevent the illegal use of drugs and violence among students, and to promote safety and discipline for students. The Secretary may carry out programs directly or award grants to public and private nonprofit organizations and individuals for a variety of activities designed to prevent the illegal use of drugs and violence among students from pre-school through the postsecondary level.

Section 4122—National Coordinator Program. This section states that the Secretary shall provide for the establishment of a National Coordinator Program under which grants are awarded to local educational agencies for the hiring of drug prevention and school safety program coordinators. Coordinators shall be responsible for developing, conducting, and analyzing assessments of drug and crime problems at their schools, and administering the safe and drug free grant program.

Section 4123—Safe and Drug Free Schools and Communities Advisory Committee. This section creates a Safe and Drug Free Schools and Communities Advisory Committee. The Advisory Committee shall: coordinate Federal drug and violence prevention programs; develop core data sets and evaluation programs; provide technical assistance and training; provide for the diffusion of research-based programs; and review other regulations and standards developed under this title. The committee will include representatives from the Department of Education, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the National Institute on Drug Abuse, the National Institute on Alcoholism and Alcohol Abuse, the Center for Substance Abuse Prevention, the Center for Mental Health Services, the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, the Office of National Drug Control Policy, and the State and local government education agency representatives. The Advisory Committee shall annually consult with State and local coordinators of school and community-based substance abuse and violence prevention programs and other interested groups.

Section 4124—Hate Crime Prevention. This section authorizes the Secretary to make grants to local educational agencies and community-based organizations for the purpose of providing assistance to localities most directly affected by hate crimes. Grants may be used to: (1) develop education and training programs designed to prevent and reduce the incidences of crimes motivated by hate; (2) develop curriculum to improve conflict or dispute resolution skills of students, teachers and administrators; (3) develop equipment and instructional materials to meet the needs of hate crime or conflict programs; and (4) provide professional training and development for teachers and administrators on the causes, effects, and resolutions of hate crimes.

Section 4124(b) requires local educational agencies seeking a grant under this section to submit an application to the Secretary that includes a request for funds, a description of the schools and communities to be served by the grants, and an assurance that the Federal funds will be used to supplement and not supplant non-Federal funds. Applications shall also include a comprehensive plan describing the hate crime problems within the school or community and a description of the program to be developed or augmented by Federal funds.

Section 4124(c) requires the Secretary, in awarding grants, to consider the incidence of crimes in the community and should attempt to achieve an equitable geographic distribution. If possible, the Secretary shall make available information regarding successful hate crime prevention programs.

Section 4124(d) provides that, every 2 years, the Secretary shall submit a report to Congress describing the grants and awards, the activities of grant recipients, and an evaluation of programs established by this section.

Section 4125. Grants to Combat the Impact of Experiencing or Witnessing Domestic Violence on Elementary and Secondary School Children. This section authorizes the Secretary to award competitive grants and contracts to elementary and secondary schools that work with experts to support training, programming, support services, and policies relating to children experiencing or witnessing domestic violence. The confidentiality of the victim and the victim's family must be maintained. The section includes definitions of "domestic violence," "experts," "witness domestic violence," and "witness."

Subpart 3—General provisions

Section 4131—Definitions. This section provides the meanings of certain terms used in this part, including, "community-based organization," "drug and violence prevention," "hate crime," "nonprofit," "objectively measurable goals," "protective factor, buffer, or asset," "risk factor," "school-aged population," and "school personnel."

Section 4132—Materials. This section states that drug prevention programs supported under part A should convey a message that the use of drugs and alcohol is illegal and harmful. In addition, the Secretary may not prescribe the use of specific curriculum for programs supported under this part, but may evaluate the effectiveness of the curriculum.

Section 601—Parental Involvement and Accountability. This section renames title VI as “PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT AND ACCOUNTABILITY” and amends the title to read as follows:

TITLE VI—PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT AND ACCOUNTABILITY

Part A—Parental assistance

New Section 6101—Parental Information and Resource Centers. This section states the purpose of this part which is to: (1) provide leadership, technical assistance, and financial support to nonprofit organizations and local educational agencies to help implement successful and effective parental involvement policies, programs, and activities; (2) strengthen partnerships among parents, teachers, principals, administrators, and other school personnel; (3) develop and strengthen the relationship between parents and the schools; (4) further the developmental progress of children; and (5) coordinate activities funded under this part with other parental involvement initiatives in the act.

New Section 6102—Applications. This section requires agencies and organizations seeking grants under this part to submit an application to the Secretary which must include a broad range of assurances. Each organization or consortium receiving a grant will be governed by a board of directors which includes parents or organizations that represent parents. At least $\frac{1}{2}$ of the overall funding provided each fiscal year must serve areas with high concentrations of low-income families.

New Section 6103—Uses of Funds. This section states that grant funds shall be used to: (1) assist parents in participating effectively in their children's education; (2) obtain information about the range of options, programs, services, and resources available at all levels of the government to assist parents and school personnel who work with parents; (3) help parents learn and use the technology applied in their children's education; (4) plan, implement, and fund activities for parents that coordinate the education of their children with other Federal programs that serve their children; and (5) provide support for State or local educational personnel if the participation of such personnel will further the activities assisted under the grant.

New Section 6105—Reports. This section requires agencies and organizations receiving assistance under this part to submit to the Secretary, on an annual basis, information concerning parental information and resource centers assisted under this part.

New Section 6105(b) requires the Secretary to annually disseminate to the public and the Congress, the information that each organization or consortium submits.

New Section 6106—General Provisions. This section states that no person shall be required to participate in a parent education or developmental screening program. In addition, no program or center assisted under this part shall take any action that infringes on the right of a parent to direct the education of their children.

New Section 6107—Authorization of Appropriations. This section authorizes a funding level of $50 million for fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary for each of the 6 succeeding fiscal years.

New section 6210(a) authorizes the Secretary to make “Achievement in Education Awards” to States that, beginning with the 2002–2003 school year, make the most progress in improving educational achievement. Awards will be made on the basis of: (1) the progress of economically disadvantaged and minority students in meeting State student performance standards as measured by State assessments and (beginning with the 2nd year for which data are available for all States) the progress of such students on State assessments under the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP); (2) overall improvement in student achievement as measured by State assessments and (beginning with the 2nd year for which data are available for all States) the progress of all students on State assessments NAEP; (3) improvement in the English proficiency of students who enter school with limited English proficiency; (4) increased percentage of students who graduate from high school; and (5) increased percentage of students who take advanced coursework. The Secretary is to give greatest weight to a State’s success in improving the performance of economically disadvantaged and minority students.

New section 6210(b) permits the Secretary to make 1–time bonus payments to States that develop the new assessments required by this bill in advance of the deadlines included in the bill.

New section 6210(d) permits the Secretary to make awards for activities, such as character education, that are designed to promote the improvement of elementary and secondary education.

New section 6202—Loss of Administrative Funds. New section 6202 establishes penalties for States that—based on State assessment and State NAEP results—fail to make adequate yearly progress and whose economically disadvantaged and minority students fail to make statistically significant progress in the academic subjects for which the State has developed content and student performance standards. If such failure persists for 2 consecutive fiscal years, the Secretary is required to reduce up to 30 percent of the State’s administrative funds. If such failure persists for 3 or more consecutive fiscal years, the Secretary is required to reduce up to 75 percent of the State’s administrative funds.

New section 6203—Authorization of Appropriations. New section 6203 authorizes $400 million for fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary in the 6 succeeding fiscal years to develop and implement the standards and assessments required under section 1111 of the act. The section authorizes $110 million for fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary in the 6 succeeding fiscal years to administer State assessments under NAEP. The section authorizes $50 million for fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary in the 6 succeeding fiscal years for the awards, bonuses, and improvement activities authorized under section 6201.

IX. ADDITIONAL VIEWS

ADDITIONAL VIEWS OF SENATOR MICHAEL B. ENZI

First, I want to applaud the entire Committee for unanimously advancing this important bill before the full Senate. We invested tremendous resources in attempting to reauthorize ESEA last year, and I am pleased that we have made it our first priority this year. I am also impressed with the support of the new Administration in seeing President Bush's number one priority take the next step in the legislative process.

This education reform bill reflects an understanding of the variation in needs between urban, suburban, and rural schools. The bill arguably addresses the concerns of all stakeholders in our children's education, and it does so in a bipartisan way. I believe the bill has struck a meaningful compromise and reflects a strong but appropriate role for the federal partnership in elementary and secondary education.

The state of Wyoming has invested tremendous amounts of time and money in developing high standards of learning, reliable assessments, strong parental involvement initiatives and other research-based education innovations. This bill builds upon that work and solidifies the shared commitment to academic achievement for all children.

However, the state of Wyoming is currently facing a crisis in education—a teacher shortage. It's not about class size, though. It's about teacher salaries and a dwindling supply of qualified educators, particularly in light of the high new standards which students must meet. But, this is a problem where there is a federal role in the solution. Under Title II of our bill, the focus is not only on preparing teachers, but on helping schools recruit and retain high quality teachers. Reducing class sizes will be an allowable use of funds under this Title, if that's the unique need of a particular school.

The bill also emphasizes the need to improve access to education technology and to USE it in the process of improving academic achievement. The goal of eliminating the duplicative administrative application process and allowing schools to have one pot of funds for the range of technology uses, including teacher and administrative staff training, will make a difference. The digital divide will shrink and technology will become even more relevant as an educational tool.

Very importantly, the bill clarifies the purpose of the President's requirement that states expand existing assessments and take on the new practice of participating annually in the NAEP test (National Assessment of Educational Progress). Those clarifications go a long way in addressing the fundamental concern by all parties that the federal government not enact additional unfunded mandates, and that the states continue to retain the flexibility to design their own standards of learning for students, versus nationalized standards or assessments.

And, while not a part of this reauthorization, we would be remiss in meeting our commitment to the education of all children if we do not also prioritize full funding of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act as we advocate for meaningful education reform. I look forward to this Committee's continued support for strong increases in funding for IDEA. Funding this important but costly federal requirement is as critical as requiring academic success in our classrooms.

I look forward to seeing this bill through the legislative process and am committed to enacting a reform measure that puts children first.

ADDITIONAL VIEWS OF SENATORS KENNEDY, HARKIN, BINGAMAN, MURRAY, EDWARDS, DODD, MIKULSKI, WELLSTONE, REED, AND CLINTON

Ninety percent of American children attend public schools. We owe it to them to ensure that every public school and every teacher is able to help all school children in the nation reach their full potential.

Few issues are as important as education. Democrats believe Congress should help all children meet high standards of achievement by strengthening federal support for innovative reforms and demanding tough accountability for results for our children.

Seven years ago, Congress and President Clinton took urgent steps to turn around failing schools. With passage of the GOALS 2000 legislation in 1994, and the reauthorization of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act that same year, we established bold new goals for schools to prepare children to succeed in today's world by mastering the basics and reaching high standards of achievement.

These were important actions that launched changes in schools across America. Now we need to build on this progress. More change is necessary—much more—if we are to turn around failing schools and give our children the education they need and deserve.

Democrats and Republicans alike agree that no child should be left behind—regardless of background, race, or gender, or whether a child is homeless, a child of a migrant worker, or an immigrant. Every child has the right to a high-quality education.

We commend President Bush for identifying education as one of his early priorities, and for encouraging Congress to act on needed reforms. We share the Administration's goals of greater help for local schools to meet the most urgent needs, and holding schools accountable for the results.

As we move forward on today's reforms, Democrats believe that we need to meet five important goals:

- Targeting resources to high-need districts;

- Holding schools accountable for substantial progress and improved student achievement;

- Providing our children and teachers with smaller classes in safe, modern school buildings;

- Ensuring that our children will have qualified teachers in every classroom and a qualified principal in every school;

- Helping communities and schools provide research-based programs that support learning—such as parent involvement, after-school programs, technology in the classroom and early reading programs.

In approving the BEST Act, we believe the Committee took a major step towards strengthening and expanding the federal helping hand to support these kinds of innovations, and to help all children meet high standards of achievement. The centerpiece of the bill is new testing and accountability measures that will help parents, educators, and community members gauge how well our children are learning.

The Committee took a major step forward in adopting the essential elements of Senator Bingaman's accountability bill and President Bush's testing and accountability plan.

We are also pleased that the bill includes dedicated funds for turning around failing schools—a strong step towards ensuring that more underserved children get the extra assistance they need to succeed in school. We know that these reforms can work and we want to ensure every school succeeds.

But, we must remember that tests and accountability are simply the measure of reforms—they are not the reforms themselves. Tests don't put a qualified teacher in the classroom. Tests don't reduce class size. Tests don't make schools safer or stop a building from crumbling.

Therefore, as this legislation moves forward, it is essential to strengthen it through measures to provide students and teachers with the support they need to succeed. We must ensure that teachers are guaranteed funding for professional development and mentoring; that communities are guaranteed funds to continue to reduce class sizes; and that communities get the continued help they need to meet their most urgent repair and renovation needs.

But, we know that to achieve these much needed reforms, communities require additional resources to implement reform. We must ensure that our efforts to authorize additional resources will not become an empty promise when it's time to make tough choices on the national budget and in the appropriations process. Real change in education requires real investments.

We are deeply concerned that the President's budget contains little more than a cost of living increase for our nation's schools, and few new investments to improve them.

Democrats hope that as the full Senate acts on education in the coming weeks, we will put ourselves to the test to work together to pass a bipartisan reauthorization of ESEA and a bipartisan budget that significantly increases funding for education. We should hold ourselves to a high standard of accountability for achieving those goals.

Public education is one of the finest achievements of American democracy, and one of the most critical investments we can make to ensure a bright future for the nation's children. We look forward to working with the President and colleagues on both sides of the aisle to move forward on strong reforms with solid support. We owe the nation's children no less.

Strengthening accountability for better student achievement

We applaud the bill's adoption of new requirements for statewide accountability systems based on each state's standards and assessments. The Committee also adopted Democratic proposals to hold states, districts, and schools accountable for real achievement progress for all students, and to require states, districts, and schools to set specific, measurable goals for improvement that ensure that all students will be proficient on state standards within 10 years. The bill also requires school report cards to inform parents about the quality of their schools and the progress toward meeting student achievement goals. Report cards are required at the state, district, and school levels on the results of the assessments as well as the number of students excluded from assessments. We are concerned that the bill did not adopt our proposal to report the results for prior years so that parents could clearly monitor a school's progress, or to report teacher qualifications and drop out rates.

Another significant addition to the bill that will help shine the light on the efforts of our states and districts to turn around failing schools is the requirement that states report the names and numbers of low-performing schools, and the steps that states are taking to meet their responsibility to help such schools improve. This is an important and common-sense provision to address the fact that the Department of Education does not have an exact accounting of this type of information. We also support measures in Title I that provide parents the right to know the qualifications of their children's teachers.

Importantly, the bill adopts the President's and our proposal to require that assessment results be disaggregated for various student groups. Disaggregation of results ensures that existing achievement gaps are closed between disabled students, students with limited English proficiency, migrant students, or minority students and the rest of the student population.

We are also pleased that the Committee has adopted the essential elements of Senator Edwards' School Support and Improvement Act of 2001. We believe that appointing specially trained support or assistance teams is a proven effective practice to help low-performing schools get back on track. By requiring states to make these teams a priority in their efforts to turn around their low-performing schools, we can help ensure that every child across the nation has access to a quality public school.

Democrats also have serious concerns that the bill does not effectively address the issue of the quality of assessments. The Independent Review Panel on Title I has reported to Congress that "many states use assessment results from a single test—often traditional multiple choice tests. Although these tests may have an important place in state assessment systems, they rarely capture the depth and breadth of student knowledge reflected in state content standards." The report goes on to say that "better assessments for instructional and accountability purposes are urgently needed."

Democrats are concerned that there is insufficient emphasis in this bill on ensuring that states develop the high quality assessments that are so critical to any accountability system. We believe that it is most important to ensure that quality, rather than quantity or speed in completing assessments, should be the top priority in this legislation because accountability systems will only be as effective as the measurements they include. In order to ensure that tests are of high quality, states should be required to present evidence that the assessments they use are of adequate technical quality for every purpose for which they are used including high stakes purposes for individual students.

It is also critical that states align assessments with their standards and curriculum. The best assessments measure the range and depth of student knowledge and should include more than just multiple choice questions. They should also include performance-based approaches to testing in all subjects assessed to measure higher order thinking skills and understanding.

Democrats believe that an important element of the Committee bill is the manner in which it measures “annual yearly progress.” Under the bill, we are pleased that such progress is measured not only by test results, but also reduced drop-out rates and other measures of student achievement. States should do all they can to obtain a complete picture of student achievement and school success by using multiple indicators of student achievement.

In addition, we are pleased that the Committee adopted Senator Wellstone’s amendment authorizing a National Research Council study on the impact of high stakes tests on students, teachers, and curricula. As the use of high stakes tests becomes more widespread, it is critical for policy makers to understand better how they effect student learning.

However, the Democrats believe strongly that assessments and accountability are critical, but they are only a part of education reform. Assessments must be accompanied by significant investments in the programs we know work, so that students have the opportunity to do well on the tests and schools have the resources to address the learning gaps the tests reveal. We will not be able to achieve real education reform unless we do much more to fund schools’ capacity to teach students well and to help those who are not doing well.

Targeting funds to the neediest students

We believe that providing every child with a world-class, high quality education requires both a serious investment in school reform and a rigorous insistence on educational results. The Committee-reported BEST Act makes significant strides in insisting on results. But much more work remains to be done by Congress to ensure an adequate investment in school reform.

The federal investment in school reform should be of sufficient size and focus to provide disadvantaged children the best chance at educational success. Children can learn to high standards, but not all children face the same challenges in achieving that goal.

Targeting education resources to high-need areas is a necessity. Since its inception more than 35 years ago, Title I has recognized that children in poverty are at a unique educational disadvantage. What has become increasingly clear since ESEA was first enacted is that poor children living in poor communities are at an even larger disadvantage. They have heightened educational needs and their schools have fewer resources to meet those needs.

If we fail to invest sufficient resources in high-need schools and districts, we support the status quo and support failure. We can and should do better. The Committee bill provides the authority for Congress to make significant investments in proven effective reforms targeted to the neediest communities. Now we must ensure that Congress and the Administration actually provide those investments.

Focusing on reading well early

We commend President Bush and Chairman Jeffords for their leadership in making child literacy a priority and developing this strong legislation. We also commend the First Lady for her remarkable commitment to helping all children learn to read.

Learning to read well is the cornerstone of every child's education. We know that reading skills are fundamental to effective learning in all subjects. The ability to read effectively is the gateway to opportunity and success throughout life.

Many successful programs are helping children learn to read well. But too often, the best programs are not available to all children. As a result, large numbers of children are denied the opportunity to learn to read well. Forty percent of 4th grade students do not achieve the basic reading level, and 70 percent of 4th graders are not proficient in reading.

Children who fail to acquire basic reading skills early in life are at a disadvantage throughout their education and later careers. They are more likely to drop out of school and to be unemployed. We need to do more to ensure that all children learn to read well—and learn to read well early—so they have a greater chance for successful lives and careers.

In October 1996, President and Mrs. Clinton initiated a new effort to call national attention to child literacy by proposing the "America Reads Challenge." Many of us in Congress strongly supported their call for increased aid for reading tutors and other steps to improve child literacy. Today, over 1,000 colleges and universities are committed to the "America Reads Work Study Program," and 59 of these institutions are in Massachusetts.

Their efforts led to the successful bipartisan passage of the Reading Excellence Act in 1998 that gave priority to professional development in research-based techniques for improving children's reading skills.

The committee bill builds on the Reading Excellence Act and is a major step toward meeting the goal of helping every child learn to read early in life. It embraces President Bush's proposal to expand the Reading Excellence Act by tripling funding for it, and by creating a new Early Reading First pilot program to help children get the reading skills they need before they are of school age. It provides children, parents, schools, and communities with the resources and opportunities they need to improve child and family literacy—and the help can't come a minute too soon.

The BEST Act recognizes that teachers must have adequate resources and proper training to teach reading well. Teachers often must provide special assistance to children who are having difficulty learning to read. Too often, teachers lack the time, the skills, and the resources to provide children with that assistance. The act creates new opportunities for teachers to obtain the training they need to teach reading effectively.

The committee bill encourages local school districts to build partnerships and work in cooperation with community organizations and state agencies. It ensures that local, State, and national efforts to improve literacy are coordinated, and that the most effective resources and practices are used to meet the needs of children. It also provides communities with support to provide children with trained tutors to give them the opportunity to practice reading with adults.

Children whose parents are involved in their education, who read to them, and who work with them on language skills are more likely to become successful readers. They achieve higher test scores. They have better school attendance records. They graduate at higher rates. And they are more likely to go to college. But children whose parents lack a strong educational foundation are less likely to do so.

Funds will continue to be made available to the National Institute for Literacy to gather and disseminate information about the best practices for improving child literacy, so that every school and community can take advantage of them.

This bill targets funds for literacy programs on schools where the needs are greatest. Children in poor schools are more likely to live in homes with parents who have not completed high school and are unemployed. Children from such homes are 5 to 6 times more likely to drop out of school than other children. We should help ensure that they get the opportunities they need to learn to read well.

The bill will help provide children with the readiness skills and support they need to learn to read once they enter school. It will help teach every child to read in these early years—from preschool through the 3rd grade. And it will improve the instructional practices of teachers and other staff in elementary schools with the greatest need for extra help.

The BEST Act ensures that the best methods and resources are more widely available to schools, families, and children across the country, and we are pleased to support it.

Meeting the national need to support school libraries

However, we cannot increase the literacy skills of America's students without providing students with access to an adequate supply of up-to-date reading materials. Indeed, research has documented a clear connection between well-equipped, well-staffed school libraries and increased literacy, reading achievement, and overall academic success. Unfortunately, schools across the Nation are still dependent on collections purchased in the mid-1960's and 1970's with dedicated funding provided under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. Since 1981, when this funding was folded into what is currently the title VI block grant, school libraries have suffered. This 20-year experiment in leaving school library funding to States and school districts has failed. Consequently, school library shelves are filled with inaccurate books which pre-date the landing of manned spacecraft on the moon, the breakup of the Soviet Union, the end of apartheid, the Internet, and advances in scientific research.

At the committee markup, Senator Reed presented clear examples of old school library books filled with outdated facts and offensive stereotypes that line our school library shelves. We are dismayed that the committee failed to restore funding for school libraries or to increase student access to up-to-date school library materials. The needs of school libraries have been unaddressed for too long. We urge the restoration of funding to update and improve the Nation's school libraries. Otherwise, our goal of eliminating illiteracy will be thwarted.

Public school repair and renovation

The facts about the condition of our Nation's schools are well known. The average age of our Nation's schools is 42 years and 14 million children attend classes in buildings that are unsafe or inadequate. In addition, the National Center for Education Statistics estimates that $127 billion is needed simply to bring our nation's schools up to overall good condition.

In March, the American Society of Civil Engineers issued a Report Card for America's Infrastructure which reported serious problems with the physical infrastructure in our nation. Once again, school buildings received the lowest grade of all facilities in the Nation—a D minus.

Clearly, this is a national problem that deserves a comprehensive national response. However, the committee bill does not address this pressing national concern.

Last year, we made substantial progress on this issue by including a new school repair and renovation program in the education appropriations bill. The fiscal year 2001 appropriations bill included a $1.2 billion bipartisan initiative to help communities address their most urgent repair and renovation needs. This legislation was agreed to by the House, the Senate and the White House.

In Committee, Senators Harkin and Reed offered a bipartisan amendment to reauthorize the school repair and renovation program and increase the authorization to $1.6 billion. The amendment continued the split between school modernization and IDEA as negotiated in last year's appropriations bill. Seventy-five percent of the funds would be used to finance urgent repairs such as fixing leaky roofs, replacing faulty wiring or making repairs to bring schools up to local safety and fire codes. The remaining funding would support activities related to IDEA Part B or technology related to school construction.

The school repair program is a key component in a two-prong strategy to modernize the Nation's schools. Some schools have simply outlived their usefulness and need to be replaced. In addition, the record enrollment in our nation's public schools has caused overcrowding that can only be remedied by building new schools. That's why we hope Congress will also pass much-needed legislation to provide interest-free school modernization bonds that will finance at least $25 in new construction.

Nearly three-quarters of the nation's schools are over 30 years old. According to the National Center for Education Statistics, when a school is between 20 and 30 years of age, frequent replacement of equipment is necessary. Between 30 and 40 years, all of the original equipment should have been replaced including the roof and electrical systems. After 40 years, a school begins to deteriorate rapidly and after 60 years most schools are abandoned.

There is a legitimate federal role to help fix our nation's crumbling schools, and we can do so without undermining local control of education. We were disappointed by the defeat of the Harkin-Reed Amendment on a 10-10 party line vote, and hope the Senate will adopt the program on the floor with bipartisan support.

Reducing class size

Smaller classes in the early grades can have a positive impact on students for years to come by ensuring students learn the basics, improve classroom discipline, providing more individual attention, and encouraging parents and teachers to work more closely together. By including the Class Size Reduction program in the appropriations bills over the last three years, Congress has taken an important, bipartisan step to ensure that the nation's students are learning in less crowded classrooms. Unfortunately, the committee bill does not include a guaranteed funding stream for Class Size Reduction, abandoning our bipartisan commitment to the teachers, parents, and students of this country.

The party line vote rejecting Senator Murray's amendment to include the Class Size Reduction program in this bill is a rejection of sound education policy. Studies have shown what parents, students and teachers have always known: smaller classes make a difference. Despite numerous comprehensive, high-quality studies confirming the benefits of smaller classes in the early grades, our Republican colleagues rejected the Class Size Reduction program.

In small classes, students receive more individual attention and instruction. Students with learning disabilities are identified earlier, and their needs can be met without placing them in costly special education. In small classes, teachers are better able to maintain discipline, and parents and teachers can work together more effectively to support children's education. The Federal Government has always taken a special responsibility for disadvantaged students, the very students that studies show benefit the most from smaller classes in the early grades. A recent study found that if all children were in smaller classes in the early grades, that change alone could close the black/white gap in students taking college entrance exams by as much as 60 percent. But today, there are still too many students in overcrowded classrooms. The average class size in this country is over 22 students, with some of the most crowded classrooms in urban areas. Almost half of all elementary school teachers have class sizes of 25 students or more.

Teachers, parents, and students also want high-quality, well-prepared teachers. Including class size reduction as an allowable use of funds within a teacher quality block grant may foster the illusion of "local control," but in reality it creates a false choice between investing in smaller classes and investing in professional development, mentoring, and recruiting activities. We know that good education reform includes both boosting teacher quality and reducing class sizes, and we should provide communities the support they need communities address both issues sufficiently by providing dedicated funding streams for both class size reduction and professional development.

The current Class Size Reduction program is already flexible. Small school districts that do not receive enough Federal funding to pay a starting teacher's full salary may combine these funds with other funds to pay the salary of a full or part-time teacher, or may use the funds for professional development. Any school district that has already reduced class sizes in the early grades may use these funds to reduce class sizes in other grades, or to improve teacher quality. Districts can already use up to 25 percent of their Class Size Reduction funds for professional development, mentoring, or recruitment. The only qualification is that all teachers hired with Class Size Reduction funds must be fully qualified.

The first year of Federal Class Size Reduction program has helped schools hire 29,000 teachers who are already teaching in smaller classes across the country. As a result, approximately 1.7 million students are learning in classrooms that are no longer overcrowded. An additional 8,000 teachers will be hired with the funds provided by the fiscal year 2001 appropriations, creating smaller learning environments for hundreds of thousands of additional students. We should not abandon our commitment to teachers, parents, and students to help them reduce class sizes, and we hope the full Senate will adopt Senator Murray's amendment.

Ensuring a qualified teacher in every classroom and a qualified principal in every school

Over the next 10 years, we will need to recruit more than 2 million teachers to teach the record number of elementary and secondary students in our public schools. Nothing in education is more important than ensuring a highly qualified teacher for every classroom. Research shows that what teachers know and can do is the most important influence on what students learn. Increased knowledge of academic content by teachers and effective teaching skills are associated with increases in students achievement.

Research shows that current professional development activities often fail to generate significant improvements in teaching or even impact teaching practice. Moreover, a recent survey of teachers found that professional development is too short-term, with a majority of teachers participating in professional development activities that last only 1 to 8 hours a year. As a consequence, only about one in five teachers felt very well prepared to address the needs of students with limited English proficiency, those from culturally diverse backgrounds, and those with disabilities, or to integrate educational technology into the curriculum.

The Committee bill includes strong definitions of professional development, mentoring, and highly qualified teacher, and contains strong accountability and application requirements. In particular, the bill contains many of the elements that research indicates constitute effective mentoring and professional development—sustained, intensive activities that focus on deepening teachers knowledge of content; collaborative working environments; and training that is aligned with standards and embedded in the daily work of the school.

At the same time, however, the bill allows title II–A funding to be used for purposes other than professional development and mentoring. Accordingly, districts could spend all of the funding on signing bonuses, teacher tenure system reform, merit pay, and teacher testing. As a result, teachers would not get any of the professional development they need.

An amendment was added in the markup to expand the allowable uses of funds to include merit pay for teachers, reform of tenure, and teacher testing. We underscore that this language in no way should be interpreted to interfere with or alter the integrity of existing local control or local collective bargaining agreements.

We are particularly disappointed that the Committee failed to adopt Senator Kennedy's amendment to guarantee teachers that at least 50 percent of the title II-A funds will be used for the professional development of all teachers and mentoring of new teachers. The amendment would have made professional development and mentoring a top priority to ensure that teachers get the support they need to succeed in the classroom and help all children meet high standards of achievement.

We don't disagree with any of the uses of funds under title II-A. However, the current structure of the Committee bill is a step backwards for teachers. Currently, teachers are guaranteed $485 million for professional development and mentoring activities—and it's not enough to meet the need. Under the committee bill, a local school district could spend all the funding on recruitment activities, leaving current teachers out in the cold.

We believe that local school districts should have flexibility in the use of funds, but not to the extent that they ignore the needs of teachers for on-going, high-quality, and locally designed professional development and mentoring activities.

Such a requirement is absolutely critical if we are to meet the challenge of ensuring that teachers have the training, assistance, and support to sustain them throughout their careers and increase student achievement.

It is also critical so that parents know that their child is being taught by a qualified teacher.

Democrats believe the bill should have included this goal explicitly as a requirement in Title II with a timeline and a specific date for implementation. However, we are pleased that the committee agreed to include provisions in a floor manager's package addressing Senator Kennedy's teacher quality accountability amendment. His amendment to Title II-A would require that schools serving Title I students must have a highly qualified teacher in every classroom within 4 years. Senator Gregg and Senator Jeffords argued that the Committee should modify the amendment to focus the program on schools in which at least 50 percent of their students are in poverty.

In addition, because qualified and well-prepared teachers are critical to improving student achievement, we hope that a compromise can be reached on the amendment proposed by Senator Reed to set a funding bar under Title I for professional development at the district level at 10 percent.

Although the Committee bill includes a strong definition of professional development, it does not include language to ensure that recruitment activities are of the same high quality. It does little good to recruit teachers into schools and train them if we cannot retain them in the profession. Fifty percent of urban educators leave the profession within 5 years. We want to ensure that federal funds support only those recruitment programs that are linked to or include activities that are proven effective in retaining teachers.

The key elements for effective teacher retention were laid out by the National Commission on Teaching and America's Future in 1996. Effective programs organize professional development around standards for teachers and students; provide a year long, pre-service internship; include mentoring and strong evaluation of teacher skills; and offer stable, high quality professional development.

Title II would be strengthened by including Senator Wellstone's amendment to ensure that any teacher recruitment programs funded by Federal dollars incorporate high quality retention practices, and we hope it will receive bipartisan support on the floor.

There is widespread agreement that a good principal is the keystone of a good school. However, there is great concern that the supply of quality principals may not meet the increasing demand for quality school leadership. Moreover, principals often lack opportunities for high-quality professional development. Too often, such development is in the form of one-day workshops not geared to the needs of most principals. We must do all we can to provide opportunities for mentoring and professional development for principals—and it must be of high quality, readily available, and geared toward the practical needs of principals as instructional leaders.

We are pleased that the committee bill includes a National School Leadership program, which allows the Secretary to award grants for professional development activities for principals to develop and enhance their leadership skills. However, we need to do more if we are to send a strong signal to the Nation's communities that we will help provide stronger school leaders in every school. We hope that the bill will be strengthened by adding requirements for resources to be spent on professional development and leadership activities for principals, and including principals in professional development activities, as appropriate, throughout Title II.

We should do all we can to ensure a qualified teacher in every classroom and a qualified principal in every school, particularly for the neediest children.

Expanding 21st Century Community Learning Centers

By providing high quality after-school, weekend, and summer programs, 21st Century Community Learning Centers keep children safe, help parents work, and expand children's learning opportunities. Yet, demand for these programs continues to outpace supply. According to a report from the U.S. Census Bureau last year, almost 7 million children aged 5 to 14 are left unsupervised on a regular basis during the after-school hours.

Research shows that children who are home alone after school hours report higher use of alcohol, cigarettes, and marijuana. Nearly 45 million children ages 14 years and younger are injured in their homes every year and most unintentional, injury-related deaths occur when children are out of school and unsupervised. Children home alone after school are also more likely to be victims of crime or to commit crimes themselves. Violent crimes by juveniles—murder, sexual assault, robbery and aggravated assault—peak between 3:00 p.m. and 6:00 p.m. The rate of juvenile violence during those hours is four times the rate during the standard teenage curfew hours of 10:00 p.m. to 6:00 a.m.

Yet, despite the overwhelming evidence of need for more and better quality after-school alternatives, the Department of Education had sufficient resources last year to fund only 310 of the over 2,000 applications it received under the 21st Century Community Learning Centers program. More than 1,000 high-quality applications went unfunded.

Given the critical shortage of high-quality after-school programs, we are pleased that the Committee voted unanimously to accept an amendment by Senator Dodd to increase the authorization for the 21st Century Community Learning Centers program from $846 million to $1.5 billion.

With $1.5 billion in funding, over 2.1 million children across the nation would be provided extended learning opportunities in safe environments—approximately one million more children than can now be served. This level of investment would eliminate as much as a quarter of the Nation’s “latch-key” crisis. Although the amendment that was accepted is an authorization increase, and funding is still subject to annual appropriations, the Committee’s unanimous approval of Senator Dodd’s amendment sends a strong signal to the Administration and to the Appropriations Committee that the Committee places a high priority on funding for this program.

We are also pleased that the Committee reached agreement during the Executive Session on allowing community-based organizations to apply for grants under the 21st Century Community Learning Centers program. Under the agreement, an equal priority will be given to applications from the following applicants: Title I-eligible schools; joint applications from community-based organizations and Title I-eligible schools; and community-based organizations serving Title I schools. Importantly, the agreement also provides that the locus of 21st Century Community Learning Centers programs will remain in public schools, unless the Secretary determines, on a case-by-case basis, that requiring a particular program to operate in a school would undermine the program’s effectiveness or limit its accessibility. In addition, it will clarify that a primary purpose of the 21st Century Community Learning Centers program is to enhance and increase extended learning time for students so that all children can meet high standards of achievement.

Increasing authorization of appropriations for Title I, Part A

We are pleased that the Committee increased the authorization level for grants to local educational agencies under Title I, Part A to $15 billion for fiscal year 2002. But, we are disappointed that the Committee did not accept Senator Dodd’s amendment to provide annual increases in the authorization levels for Title I over the next 7 years in order to reach full funding by fiscal year 2008. We believe that in this area, the Committee abdicated its responsibility to help ensure that all children meet high standards of achievement.

Title I grants to local educational agencies are the primary method by which Congress helps low-income schools provide services to educationally at-risk students to enable them to meet challenging academic standards. It also helps States and communities to close the achievement gap between low-income and high-income schools, and turn around failing schools.

Studies have shown that 80 percent of low-income school districts report that Title I is driving school reform and that reading and math performance has improved in low-income schools. The Department of Education’s National Assessment of Title I—which was done in consultation with an independent review panel—found that since 1992, national reading performance has improved for 9-year olds in the highest poverty public schools and math achievement also has improved among students in the highest poverty public schools.

Other studies show that since the 1994 reauthorization of ESEA, students receiving Title I services have increased their reading achievement in 21 of 24 urban districts studied, and increased their math achievement in 20 of 24 urban districts studied. Nevertheless, a significant gap remains between student achievement in low-income schools and high-income schools.

The Committee bill would impose significant testing and accountability measures to help states and schools close this gap. We agree that it is important to measure student progress and hold States and schools accountable, but testing and accountability are not the reforms themselves. We must provide schools with the necessary resources to implement reforms, such as more intensive supplemental instruction and new research-based curricula.

However, Congress provides sufficient funding to meet only one-third of the need, as defined by the Title I formula. So, not only does Title I not serve all eligible children, but local educational agencies that receive Title I funds receive only about one-third of the amount that Congress has determined is necessary to help them close the achievement gap.

Senator Dodd's amendment, although subject to annual appropriations, would have sent a strong signal that the Committee believes that Congress' goal must be to provide schools with the resources they need to provide all children with the education they need and deserve, and it should be a top national priority.

Meeting the needs of children with limited English proficiency

The Committee bill marks a step forward in providing for the academic achievement of limited English proficient (LEP) students, and ensuring that these children are not left behind. Over the past decade, the Nation's overall school enrollment has grown by 14 percent. Over the same period, the LEP student population in our schools has grown by 104 percent, and LEP children now number over 3.5 million of the nation's schoolchildren. As this population grows, so too grows the need of the Nation's schools to ensure the academic success of LEP children.

Democrats are pleased with provisions relating to LEP children in Title I, and view the disaggregation requirements included in the bill's accountability provisions as critical to ensuring that LEP students are not overlooked as states determine adequate yearly progress. Under the bill, states will set annual, numerical goals for the progress of LEP children, ensuring that schools no longer depend on average student achievement data in the aggregate to determine academic progress. These new provisions are critical to closing the achievement gap between LEP children and their English-speaking peers.

Democrats are also pleased that the bill maintains and strengthens the Bilingual Education Act, and streamlines existing bilingual education programs while incorporating additional accountability measures for achievement in all academic content areas, as well as proficiency in English. We are pleased that provisions under Title III target funds to areas with large LEP student populations, and also provide assistance to areas that have limited or no experience in serving such populations.

Closing the digital divide

Educational technology can enhance the classroom environment in ways that were unimaginable only a decade ago and can help students develop independent thinking and problem solving skills. We are pleased that the BEST Act includes a substantial investment in this important priority, and includes Senator Mikulski's national education goal to close the digital divide. We are also pleased with the requirement in the Committee bill that states and districts set aside 30 percent of technology funds for professional development for teachers. Our investment in technology infrastructure in schools will not be realized unless we ensure that teachers know how to use this important learning tool.

Despite significant gains in technological capacity and connectivity, schools serving low-income children continuously lag behind in understanding how to integrate technology effectively into the curriculum. This "digital divide" is an issue of growing concern across the country. Children who are not exposed to technology and taught how to use it are at a disadvantage in their education and in the workplace. We know that low-income and minority students are less likely to own computers at home, making the accessibility of technology at school even more critical for these children. Also, many rural districts face challenges that technology is helping them to overcome. For example, districts that could never offer Advanced Placement or foreign language courses in the past are now able to do so through distance learning. Because of the federal government's special obligation to provide extra resources to our most disadvantaged children, we are pleased that the Committee accepted Senator Murray's amendment to target funds for technology to high-poverty districts, and to ensure an equitable distribution of funds among rural and urban districts. When faced with a digital divide, it is not time to abandon this role, but to reinforce it by ensuring federal dollars go where they are most needed. We also favor a federal commitment to research and development so that new innovations in the use of technology can continue to enrich the learning experiences of the Nation's children.

Improving school and community safety

We are pleased that the bipartisan Safe and Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act, authored by Senator DeWine, Senator Dodd, and Senator Murray, is included in the Committee bill. Changes made to the act focus on improving accountability and enhancing the effectiveness of this program. The legislation requires states and schools to adhere to the "Principles of Effectiveness" in the design, implementation, and evaluation of their programs. The bill also increases federal coordination, while providing states with the flexibility to better target these dollars.

We are pleased with the adoption of Senator Wellstone's amendment concerning domestic violence and child abuse. Domestic violence and child abuse both are causes and predictors of juvenile violence, so this addition will significantly enhance the Safe and Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act. We also are pleased with the adoption of Senator Sessions' amendment concerning violence-prevention training and other allowable uses of funds.

Increasing parental involvement

Research shows that regardless of economic, ethnic, or cultural background, parental involvement is a major factor in determining a child's academic success. Parental involvement contributes to better grades and test scores, higher homework completion rates, better attendance, and greater discipline. We are pleased that the bill takes many steps to bolster the existing parental involvement provisions in ESEA.

In particular, the bill ensures that families of children in Title I schools can: access information on their children's progress and the performance of their children's school in terms they can understand; involves parents in school support teams to help in the process of turning around failing schools; ensures that parents are involved in violence and drug prevention programs so they can reinforce the safe and drug-free message at home; requires states to collect and disseminate information about effective parental involvement practices; requires states and districts to annually review parental involvement activities of districts and schools to ensure the activities are effective; and requires technical assistance for Title I schools and districts that are having problems implementing parental involvement activities.

We are also pleased that amendments proposed by Senator Reed to further strengthen parental involvement in the bill will be adopted as the bill moves to the Senate floor. These amendments support and encourage the use of technology to enhance parental involvement activities; add to the definition of professional development activities that encourage and enhance the ability of teachers to provide instruction on how to work with and involve parents; add a requirement that districts describe how they will provide training to enable teachers to involve parents in their child's education; and revise the definition of parental involvement.

But the bill does not go far enough. Too often, states, districts, and schools fail to adequately inform and involve parents because they lack the funding to do so. We are disappointed that Senator Reed's amendment, which would provide the needed resources, accountability, and flexibility to ensure that parental involvement activities are actually carried out, was not passed. Senator Reed's amendment would provide $500 million to school districts, with strict accountability measures, to supplement and support recognized and proven initiatives that improve student achievement through parental involvement. In addition, the amendment would require states seeking funding under ESEA to: (1) describe, implement, and evaluate parental involvement policies and practices; and (2) provide public notice of its parental involvement policies in a manner and language understandable to parents, and to provide the opportunity for parents and others to comment on such policies.

This amendment is critical, particularly in light of the bill's new requirement to test all students in grades 3 through 8 every year.

Given the proven connection between increased student achievement and parental involvement, we should not pass up this opportunity to provide all schools, teachers, and parents with the tools to increase parental involvement. As the bill moves to the floor, we urge the addition of these provisions.

Addressing the social, health, and other needs of children

Beyond academic concerns, we recognize that children bring many social, health, and mental health problems to school that interfere with their ability to learn. Before children can turn their full attention to school, their basic needs must be met. Therefore, we are disappointed that the bill eliminates coordinated services under title XI and eliminates the Elementary School Counseling Demonstration Program.

We are also disappointed that the Committee bill does not include Senator Reed's amendment which would authorize school-community partnerships to provide children and families with links to existing community prevention and intervention services such as child care, health, mental health, nutrition, family support, literacy, parenting skills, and dropout prevention. Such services exist in a fragmented fashion in many communities, and families which would otherwise be eligible to receive the services cannot obtain them without coordination at a site housed under one familiar roof—their child's school. The coordination of these services not only removes barriers to a successful education, but promotes the overall health and well-being of the student as well. Without this amendment, along with Senator Harkin's amendment to establish and expand effective counseling programs in elementary and secondary schools, we will not achieve the improved academic results this bill demands.

Undermining accountability, targeting, and reform through block grants

Senator Frist offered and withdrew an amendment to authorize Straight A's block grants. We believe that Straight A's would have undermined the bill, and created a tangled web of administrative chaos and policies that undermine national priorities in education, such as reducing class size, improving teacher quality, and closing the digital divide.

Block grants undermine the targeting of resources to the neediest students and eliminate critical accountability provisions that help ensure better results for all children. The Straight A's proposal undermines the tough accountability and testing requirements championed by President Bush. While we support greater flexibility in education funding and the consolidation of many existing programs, block grants are the wrong direction for education, and do nothing to spur change in public schools.

Straight A's block grants are anti-local control, anti-accountability, and pro-status quo

The Academic Achievement for All Act—"Straight A's"—abandons the national commitment to help the nation's most disadvantaged children get a good education through proven effective reforms of public schools. The amendment would give states a blank check for over $12 billion in current funding and over $22 billion in funding under the BEST Act—and then turns its back on holding states accountable for results.

History shows that block grants haven't worked—and they won't work now. Block grants eliminate accountability. A 1997 study by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities found that the Maternal and Child Health Block Grant suffered from lack of accountability and illustrated the difficulty of tracking how states use funds and how many children were reached. Under the Straight A's proposal, states are not held accountable for educational results until after 5 years. By that time, many students will have lost five years of potential gains in student achievement.

Under the amendment, states must only demonstrate statewide performance. They can ignore individual failing schools if a few schools excel—and increase the statewide average. A state could demonstrate statewide overall progress based on progress by wealthier communities, while a lack of progress in disadvantaged communities remains statistically hidden. States should have to demonstrate progress in student achievement in each school and each district, so that no community or child is left behind. This amendment is in direct conflict with President Bush's initiatives and the BEST Act provisions for annual accountability for improvement for disaggregated groups of children at the school, district, and state levels, annual report cards, rewards and sanctions based on annual progress, and for new annual tests.

In addition, the accountability provisions in the Republican block grant proposal are of little significance. If states fail to make progress, the only required response is to prohibit the state from participating in the block grant program. Even this weak repercussion is unlikely to be implemented, because the states define progress without any federal or local input or general legislative parameters. Under the BEST Act, states set goals for student performance, but these goals are reviewed by the Secretary of Education and must be set within the context of the goal that all students attain proficiency within 10 years. Annual, numeric goals must be set for improved performance, as well as separate goals for low-income and minority students, in order to ensure that achievement gaps are eliminated. If schools or districts fail to meet these goals, districts and states, respectively, must take action to assist the school or district, and supplemental resources are provided. Research-based school improvement strategies must be implemented. If the school or district continues to fail, sanctions are imposed.

But under Straight A's, none of these requirements apply. There is no real accountability for closing the achievement gap in the Republican block grant proposals. Although the proposals require states to set goals for certain groups, as mentioned above, goals for student performance are set at the state level and there is little consequence for failure. In addition, the proposal would free participants from requirements in current law to include all students in state assessments. Under the Republican block grant proposal, "all students" is defined as "all students attending public or charter schools that are participating in the state's assessment system." There are no provisions requiring states to include all students in that assessment system. Therefore, a state could exclude students from assessments without any accountability for their performance.

Block grants threaten funding for education. Historically, Congress increases funding for programs targeted on national priorities, not block grants. This is no time to reduce our investment in education. We should increase it. According to a 1995 GAO study, total funding for nine block grants created in 1981 declined by 12 percent, or $1 billion, in 1982. Funding for title VI (formerly Chapter 2) has decreased by 50 percent since FY82, when the block grant was created. In FY82, $708 million (in 1999 dollars) was appropriated for the programs. In FY99, $375 million was appropriated.

In contrast, because Title I, technology, and other Federal programs are targeted to important national priorities, appropriations for these programs have increased over time. For example, funding for Title I has almost doubled since FY82, from $4.1 billion (in FY99 dollars) to $7.9 billion in fiscal year 2000. Unfortunately, even with the increases, these programs are still underfunded.

In addition, some of the programs that were originally consolidated, such as grants for professional development, magnet schools, and gifted and talented education, were later re-created as separate Federal programs. After submerging these programs in a block grant, Congress—on a bipartisan basis—decided that these needs were not being met at the state and local levels and remained priorities of national importance.

Block grants leave the door open for waste and abuse—and provide no focus on proven effective strategies to improve schools. Last year, Senator DeWine, in urging increased accountability measures, noted the poor history of states and local districts in spending Safe and Drug-Free Schools and Communities funds; he characterized those dollars as being “raided” for pet projects or to support ineffective methods. School districts and schools could use scarce public tax dollars to support fads and gimmicks with no basis in research or proven practice. They could even use the money to support the football team, to buy computer games, or to buy new office furniture, if they decide that these uses serve “educational purposes.” In short, the Act provides no assurance that federal funds will go to improve instruction and teacher quality, strengthen curriculum, reduce class size, provide extended learning opportunities, or support other proven strategies for helping all students learn to high standards.

Under Straight A’s, there is no accountability at the school district or school level. Only the state must show that it has substantially—not entirely—met its own goals. If a state does not partially meet its goals, the only penalty is that after five years, it can no longer block grant the programs. There is no requirement for reporting at the district or school level on progress in improving student achievement, and there is no requirement for helping to improve low-performing schools.

History also shows that block grants allow the misdirection of funds. When states and localities received billions of dollars in the tobacco settlement, we heard their good intentions to use the funds to improve health care and stop children from smoking. Some state and local officials have kept that commitment. But many others have succumbed to the pressure to use the tobacco funds to build new sidewalks, provide new tax breaks, build new prisons, and, in the case of Los Angeles, pay the legal settlement costs in the recent police corruption cases. The tobacco funds do not have the limitations that would apply to this education bill. But we all know that there will be large pressures on the states to use the education block grant proposed in this bill for activities that do very little to enhance the quality of public schools.

The block grants authorized by the amendment harken back to mistakes made during the early days of Title I. A 1969 report on how the 1965 Title I program funds were spent—when Title I was a state block grant—shows that states seriously misused the funds. State bureaucracies were fattened with funds that were supposed to go to schools. States and districts used funds to purchase football and band uniforms. Some purchased swimming pools. We cannot afford to go back to those days. We must insist that Federal funds are spent on improving the academic achievement of all students.

Block grants also undermine targeting to disadvantaged communities. The Straight A's program holds school districts harmless for the amount of funding they received under Title I in the previous year. Therefore, any new money appropriated could be reallocated to wealthier districts and schools. Needy districts would no longer be assured the additional funding they should get due to increased enrollments of poor children. In addition, the amendment does not protect any within-district targeting provisions under Title I. At FY2001 funding levels other than title I, over $4.3 billion could be spent in any district without a single dime going to needy schools.

We acknowledge the pressures that state governments face in funding education. But we know that States don't target resources to the neediest schools and children who need additional help. Federal funds are significantly more targeted to low-income children than state funds. A recent General Accounting Office (GAO) report found that state formulas are less targeted on high-need children and school districts than federal formulas. GAO found that states provide an additional 62 cents for each needy child for every dollar for all children, while the federal investment provided $4.73 per poor child for every dollar for all children.

The Straight A's program also undermines local control. The amendment concentrates educational decision-making at the state level. By authorizing the state to decide whether it will enter into a performance agreement, the Act gives the state ultimate authority to determine the parameters of the agreement, including which schools and school districts will receive funds and how funds may be spent. Far from giving local districts flexibility, as policies and waiver provisions under current law have, Straight A's would increase the power of governors over local education policy at the expense of local districts, local school officials, and parents.

Proponents of Straight A's argue that block grants are needed to return control of education to local communities. The reality is that there is already significant local control of education, and the 1994 ESEA reauthorization provided even more flexibility to local authorities in how they spend Title I dollars. States and communities provide 92 percent of funding for education. The federal government—which provides only 8 percent of all K-12 education funding—cannot run local schools. What Washington can do, however, is help local communities meet education reform priorities when their budgets are stretched too thin. Washington can also target scarce public tax dollars on areas of national need, serve as a strong partner in education reform, and help establish a system that holds all officials accountable for children’s academic progress.

GAO found that for major federal elementary and secondary education programs, the Department of Education sent over 99 cents of every dollar to states, and states, in turn, sent 94 cents to local school districts. There is no massive waste or federal bureaucracy in federal education programs.

The Straight A’s block grants also deny special populations of students guaranteed help for meeting high standards. Migrant, homeless, and immigrant students would no longer be assured the extra help they need to stay in school and succeed in school.

States could use the money for any “educational purposes,” including private school vouchers that would drain funds away from public schools. In the Committee mark up last year, Senator Gregg confirmed that funds under Straight A’s could be used to support private school vouchers if a state approved them. Billions of public tax dollars could be diverted to private and religious schools, with no accountability for raising students’ academic achievement. This diversion would represent a major shift in priorities for the role of the federal government in education.

Finally, Straight A’s abdicates our responsibility in a reauthorization to examine and improve federal efforts. If there are issues with federal programs, we should fix them—not just hand them off to the states and local communities.

We would have staunchly opposed the Straight A’s amendment in Committee had it been offered, and we will oppose it if it is offered on the floor.

Undermining standards-based reform under Title I and diverting scarce public dollars from needy public schools to private schools through vouchers

Currently, Title I is funded at approximately $8.6 billion, only one-third of the level needed to fully fund the program. We are pleased that the Committee maintained Senator Dodd’s amendment to increase the Title I authorization from $10 billion to $15 billion that was adopted unanimously last year. However, at the same time that we signaled strong support for the program and standards-based reform, Senator Gregg’s amendment to make Title I “portable” would have undermined them.

The portability proposal gives students and parents false hope by promising increased educational support for low-income students. “Portability” under Senator Gregg’s amendment would allocate a per-child share of Title I funds to virtually every school in a district, regardless of whether a school contains the concentration of need presently required to receive a Title I allocation. Because Title I funding levels are only sufficient to serve about one-third of eligible students, this provision would result in an immediate and drastic cut in the level and quality of supplementary educational services provided to low-achieving children.

Under portability, the targeting of Title I funds on schools and pupils with the greatest need for assistance would be substantially reduced. Districts in the highest poverty quartile currently receive 43 percent of Title I funds, but only 23 percent of state and local funds. This amendment would enable states to distribute Title I funds in a way that creates further inequities in spending and result in a significant reduction in Title I resources for the neediest recipients and the highest poverty schools.

For decades, Congress has recognized that schools enrolling high concentrations of children living in poverty face the most difficult challenges, and are much more likely to have higher proportions of children who are failing to meet state academic standards. As a result, Title I grants have been historically concentrated on the higher poverty schools, and they should continue to be targeted in this way if they are to address the greatest needs. If Title I funds are dispersed among public schools regardless of need, or to numerous private outside providers, the program will not be able to function as intended. The solution to ensuring that all eligible children are served by Title I is not an unworkable portability scheme, but it is for Congress to fully fund Title I. The Congressional Research Service has estimated that it would cost over $24 billion to fully serve all eligible children—three times the current funding level.

Redistributing funds through portability hurts poor children. The Congressionally-mandated Prospects Study strongly suggests that the need for Federal assistance is greatest in schools with high concentrations of poverty. As shown before, children can be given more public school choice, without destroying the targeting of funds to schools with high concentrations of poverty.

Portability would also provide too little money to purchase educational services on an individual basis, or in schools with small numbers of Title I students. When funds are combined and concentrated on a substantial number of low-income pupils, however, they are far more effective. In fact, the bill already recognizes this important fact. Section 1001 (Statement of Purpose) states that one of the purposes of Title I is accomplished by “. . . distributing resources sufficient to make a difference to local education agencies and schools where the needs are greatest.” Under Senator Gregg’s amendment, if students opt to take their allotment to an outside provider, what happens to the students who remain in the original school? The school will not be able to maintain the same level of services with only a fraction of what it had been receiving. Further, what if a parent requests supplemental services from an outside provider but also elects to stay in the home school and continue to receive Title I services there?

Portability undermines reform. Since the 1994 reauthorization, states, districts and schools have been restructuring their Title I programs with a focus on helping all children achieve to high state standards. The National Assessment of Title I reports that these changes are beginning to show results and are contributing to increased student achievement. Portability would wreak havoc on this process by disrupting program funding in current Title I schools. The current average Title I per-pupil expenditure of $775 can provide a significant amount of resources and services, but only if combined to help a substantial number of students in a school.

Tying Title I dollars to individual students diminishes the benefits and success of schoolwide programs and research-based school reform models.

Portability reduces or eliminates Title I program accountability for the achievement of eligible students. Current provisions hold schools accountable for improved student achievement. Under this proposal, parents of eligible children could use their Title I funds to purchase supplementary educational services from a wide variety of providers, including private and religious schools and for-profit businesses. There is no mechanism to ensure such providers provide quality services to children, and no accountability measures are required of these providers.

Portability also opens the door to private school vouchers, at a time when courts are again rejecting these questionable policies enacted at the state and local levels. Public schools would be required at the request of parents to contract with a tutorial assistance provider, which could include private and religious schools and other religious entities. The proposal would allow public money to pay such entities for provision of private educational services. Since the public school administers the program, will the public school also be responsible for assuring that a child's academic achievement is improving, even if the students are receiving services at nonpublic schools?

Portability doesn't guarantee any child a better education. Allowing children to take their portable grant to a private school or an off-campus after-school program does not necessarily mean they will receive a better education. Unless private schools are required to publicly report student achievement data in the same manner as public schools, we have no information regarding the quality of education in those schools. It would be irresponsible to send public dollars into "mystery" institutions of questionable quality.

We know that standards-based reform and schoolwide programs are making a difference. For example, approximately 80 percent of the students at Baldwin Elementary School in Boston, Massachusetts are identified as low income and many of the students are recent immigrants. With a strong focus on professional development and high standards and with Title I funds, test scores increased substantially from 1996 to 2000 when 96 percent of third graders and 91 percent of fifth graders passed the reading test. Sixty percent of third graders and 39 percent of fifth graders scored at the proficient or advanced levels.

At Gladys Noon Spellman Elementary in Cheverly, Maryland, in 1994, only 17 percent of third graders scored at or above the satisfactory level on the state test. Title I funds were used to implement reform. Each teacher was paired with another staff member to provide small group instruction during a 90 minute reading and language arts block in the mornings. All staff utilized their specialties as a basis for language instruction and were provided with professional development. By 1999, 73 percent of third-graders performed at or above satisfactory on the state test.

Democrats strongly believe that Title I and other Federal programs should be focused on the neediest students, and should provide consequences for failure. Portability and voucher schemes undermine those efforts and support the status quo.

We believe that we must change the status quo for children attending failing schools. We must invest additional resources in programs that work to improve student achievement. We must hold schools, districts, and states accountable for better results. We must require schools to change when they are failing their students and to offer parents public school choice options. The Committee bill meets these goals. We should strengthen school reform, not undermine it.

Conclusion

The Committee bill represents important progress in strengthening and improving public schools in every community. This progress includes a strong federal helping hand, accountability for results, targeting to the neediest communities, and a clear focus on priority areas of national need. The nation's children deserve no less.

[TITLE I—HELPING DISADVANTAGED CHILDREN MEET HIGH STANDARDS

[(a) STATEMENT OF POLICY.—

[(1) IN GENERAL.—The Congress declares it to be the policy of the United States that a high-quality education for all individuals and a fair and equal opportunity to obtain that education are a societal good, are a moral imperative, and improve the life of every individual, because the quality of our individual lives ultimately depends on the quality of the lives of others.

【(2) ADDITIONAL POLICY.—The Congress further declares it to be the policy of the United States to expand the program authorized by this title over the fiscal years 1996 through 1999 by increasing funding for this title by at least $750,000,000 over baseline each fiscal year and thereby increasing the percentage of eligible children served in each fiscal year with the intent of serving all eligible children by fiscal year 2004.

【(b) RECOGNITION OF NEED.—The Congress recognizes that—

【(1) although the achievement gap between disadvantaged children and other children has been reduced by half over the past two decades, a sizable gap remains, and many segments of our society lack the opportunity to become well educated;

【(2) the most urgent need for educational improvement is in schools with high concentrations of children from low-income families and achieving the National Education Goals will not be possible without substantial improvement in such schools;

【(3) educational needs are particularly great for low-achieving children in our Nation's highest-poverty schools, children with limited English proficiency, children of migrant workers, children with disabilities, Indian children, children who are neglected or delinquent, and young children and their parents who are in need of family-literacy services;

【(4) while title I and other programs funded under this Act contribute to narrowing the achievement gap between children in high-poverty and low-poverty schools, such programs need to become even more effective in improving schools in order to enable all children to achieve high standards; and

【(5) in order for all students to master challenging standards in core academic subjects as described in the third National Education Goal described in section 102(3) of the Goals 2000: Educate America Act, students and schools will need to maximize the time spent on teaching and learning the core academic subjects.

【(c) WHAT HAS BEEN LEARNED SINCE 1988.—To enable schools to provide all children a high-quality education, this title builds upon the following learned information:

【(1) All children can master challenging content and complex problem-solving skills. Research clearly shows that children, including low-achieving children, can succeed when expectations are high and all children are given the opportunity to learn challenging material.

【(2) Conditions outside the classroom such as hunger, unsafe living conditions, homelessness, unemployment, violence, inadequate health care, child abuse, and drug and alcohol abuse can adversely affect children's academic achievement and must be addressed through the coordination of services, such as health and social services, in order for the Nation to meet the National Education Goals.

【(3) Use of low-level tests that are not aligned with schools' curricula fails to provide adequate information about what children know and can do and encourages curricula and instruction that focus on the low-level skills measured by such tests.

[(4) Resources are more effective when resources are used to ensure that children have full access to effective high-quality regular school programs and receive supplemental help through extended-time activities.

[(5) Intensive and sustained professional development for teachers and other school staff, focused on teaching and learning and on helping children attain high standards, is too often not provided.

[(6) Insufficient attention and resources are directed toward the effective use of technology in schools and the role technology can play in professional development and improved teaching and learning.

[(7) All partners can contribute to their children's success by helping at home and becoming partners with teachers so that children can achieve high standards.

[(8) Decentralized decisionmaking is a key ingredient of systemic reform. Schools need the resources, flexibility, and authority to design and implement effective strategies for bringing their children to high levels of performance.

[(9) Opportunities for students to achieve high standards can be enhanced through a variety of approaches such as public school choice and public charter schools.

[(10) Attention to academics alone cannot ensure that all children will reach high standards. The health and other needs of children that affect learning are frequently unmet, particularly in high-poverty schools, thereby necessitating coordination of services to better meet children's needs.

[(11) Resources provided under this title can be better targeted on the highest-poverty local educational agencies and schools that have children most in need.

[(12) Equitable and sufficient resources, particularly as such resources relate to the quality of the teaching force, have an integral relationship to high student achievement.

[(d) STATEMENT OF PURPOSE.—The purpose of this title is to enable schools to provide opportunities for children served to acquire the knowledge and skills contained in the challenging State content standards and to meet the challenging State performance standards developed for all children. This purpose shall be accomplished by—

[(1) ensuring high standards for all children and aligning the efforts of States, local educational agencies, and schools to help children served under this title to reach such standards;

[(2) providing children an enriched and accelerated educational program, including, when appropriate, the use of the arts, through schoolwide programs or through additional services that increase the amount and quality of instructional time so that children served under this title receive at least the classroom instruction that other children receive;

[(3) promoting schoolwide reform and ensuring access of children (from the earliest grades) to effective instructional strategies and challenging academic content that includes extensive complex thinking and problem-solving experiences;

[(4) significantly upgrading the quality of instruction by providing staff in participating schools with substantial opportunities for professional development;

[(5) coordinating services under all parts of this title with each other, with other educational services, and, to the extent feasible, with health and social service programs funded from other sources;

[(6) affording parents meaningful opportunities to participate in the education of their children at home and at school;

[(7) distributing resources, in amounts sufficient to make a difference, to areas and schools where needs are greatest;

[(8) improving accountability, as well as teaching and learning, by using State assessment systems designed to measure how well children served under this title are achieving challenging State student performance standards expected of all children; and

[(9) providing greater decisionmaking authority and flexibility to schools and teachers in exchange for greater responsibility for student performance.

[(a) LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY GRANTS.—For the purpose of carrying out part A, other than section 1120(e), there are authorized to be appropriated $7,400,000,000 for fiscal year 1995 and such sums as may be necessary for each of the four succeeding fiscal years.

[(b) EVEN START.—For the purpose of carrying out part B, there are authorized to be appropriated $118,000,000 for fiscal year 1995 and such sums as may be necessary for each of the four succeeding fiscal years.

[(c) EDUCATION OF MIGRATORY CHILDREN.—For the purpose of carrying out part C, there are authorized to be appropriated $310,000,000 for fiscal year 1995 and such sums as may be necessary for each of the four succeeding fiscal years.

[(E) For the subjects in which students will be served under this part, but for which a State is not required by subparagraphs (A), (B), and (C) to develop, and has not otherwise developed such standards, the State plan shall describe a strategy for ensuring that such students are taught the same knowledge and skills and held to the same expectations as are all children.

(1) IN GENERAL.—Any State desiring to receive a grant under this part shall submit to the Secretary, by March 1, 2002, a plan that satisfies the requirements of this section and that is coordinated with other programs under this Act, the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, the Carl D. Perkins Vocational and Technical Education Act of 1998, the Adult Education and Family Literacy Act, and the Head Start Act.

(2) CONSOLIDATION PLAN.—A State plan submitted under paragraph (1) may be submitted as part of a consolidation plan under section 5506.

(b) STANDARDS, ASSESSMENTS, AND ACCOUNTABILITY.—

(1) CHALLENGING STANDARDS.—(A) Each State plan shall demonstrate that the State has adopted challenging content standards and challenging student performance standards that will be used by the State, its local educational agencies, and its schools to carry out this part, except that a State shall not be required to submit such standards to the Secretary.

(C) The State shall have the standards described in subparagraph (A) for all public elementary school and secondary school children served under this part in subjects determined by the State, but including at least mathematics, reading or language arts, history, and science, which shall include the same knowledge skills, and levels of achievement expected of all children, except that no State shall be required to meet the requirements under this part relating to history or science standards until the beginning of the 2005–2006 school year.

(D) Standards under this paragraph shall include—

(i) challenging content standards in academic subjects that—

(I) specify what children are expected to know and be able to do;

(II) contain coherent and rigorous content; and

(III) encourage the teaching of advanced skills; and

(ii) challenging student performance standards that—

(I) are aligned with the State's content standards;

(II) describe 2 levels of high performance, proficient and advanced, that determine how well children are mastering the material in the State content standards; and

(III) describe a third level of performance, partially proficient, to provide complete information about the progress of the lower performing children toward achieving to the proficient and advanced levels of performance.

(E) For the subjects in which students served under this part will be taught, but for which a State is not required by subparagraphs (A), (B), and (C) to develop standards, and has not otherwise developed standards, the State plan shall describe a strategy for ensuring that such students are taught the same knowledge and skills and held to the same expectations as are all children.

(2) ACCOUNTABILITY.—(A) Each State plan shall demonstrate that the State has developed and is implementing a single, statewide State accountability system that has been or will be effective in ensuring that all local educational agencies, elementary schools, and secondary schools make adequate yearly progress as defined under subparagraph (B). Each State accountability system shall—

(i) be based on the standards and assessments adopted under paragraphs (1) and (3) and take into account the performance of all students;

(ii) be used for all schools or all local educational agencies in the State, except that schools and local educational agencies not participating under this part are not subject to the requirements of section 1116(c);

(II) the achievement of economically disadvantaged students, students with disabilities, students with limited English proficiency, migrant students, students by racial and ethnic group, and students by gender, except that such disaggregation shall not be required in any case in which the number of students in a category is insufficient to yield statistically reliable information or the results would reveal individually identifiable information about an individual student;

(vi) includes a timeline for ensuring that each group of students described in clause (v) meets or exceeds the State's proficient level of performance on the State assessment used for the purposes of this section and section 1116 within 10 years from the date of enactment of the Better Education for Students and Teachers Act; and

(vii) includes school completion or dropout rates and at least 1 other academic indicator, as determined by the States, except that inclusion of such indicators shall not decrease the number of schools or local educational agencies that would otherwise be subject to identification for improvement or corrective action if the discretionary indicators were not included.

(C) Each State shall ensure that in developing its plan, the State diligently seeks public comment from a range of institutions and individuals in the State with an interest in improved student achievement and performance, including parents, teachers, local educational agencies, pupil services personnel, administrators (including those described in other parts of this title), and other staff, and that the State will continue to make a substantial effort to ensure that information under this part is widely known and understood by the public, parents, teachers, and school administrators throughout the State. Such efforts shall include, at a minimum, publication of such information and explanatory text, broadly to the public through such means as the Internet, the media, and public agencies.

(D) If a State educational agency provides evidence, which is satisfactory to the Secretary, that neither the State educational agency nor any other State government official, agency, or entity has sufficient authority, under State law, to adopt curriculum content and student performance standards, and assessments aligned with such standards, which will be applicable to all students enrolled in the State's public schools, the State educational agency may meet the requirements of this subsection by—

(i) adopting standards and assessments that meet the requirements of this subsection, on a statewide basis, and limiting the applicability of the standards and assessments to students served under this part; or

(ii) adopting and implementing policies that ensure that each local educational agency in the State which receives a grant under this part will adopt curriculum content and student performance standards, and assessments aligned with such standards, which meet all of the criteria of this subsection.

(E) Each State plan shall describe the standard the State will use for judging statistically significant educational progress for purposes of implementing the reconstitution provisions contained in section 1116 and, in so doing, describe how the State will take into account issues such as the size of a school and the mobility of the students in a school.

(3) ASSESSMENTS.—Each State plan shall demonstrate that the State, in consultation with local educational agencies, has a system of high-quality, yearly student assessments in subjects that include, at a minimum, mathematics, reading or language arts, and science that will be used as the primary means of determining the yearly performance of each local educational agency and school in enabling all children to meet the State's student performance standards, except that no State shall be required to meet the requirements of this part relating to science assessments until the beginning of the 2007–2008 school year. Such assessments shall—

(A) be the same assessments used to measure the performance of all children;

(B) be aligned with the State's challenging content and student performance standards and provide coherent information about student attainment of such standards;

(C) be used for purposes for which such assessments are valid and reliable, and be consistent with relevant, nationally recognized professional and technical standards for such assessments;

(D) measure the proficiency of students in the academic subjects in which a State has adopted challenging content and student performance standards and be administered not less than 1 or more times during—

(i) grades 3 through 5;

(iii) grades 10 through 12;

(E) involve multiple up-to-date measures of student performance, including measures that assess higher order thinking skills and understanding;

(F) beginning not later than school year 2005–2006, measure the annual performance of students against the challenging State content and student performance standards in grades 3 through 8 in at least mathematics and reading or language arts, except that—

(i) the Secretary may provide the State 1 additional year if the State demonstrates that exceptional or uncontrollable circumstances, such as a natural disaster or a precipitous and unforeseen decline in the financial resources of the local educational agency or school, prevented full implementation of the assessments by that deadline and that the State will complete the implementation within the additional 1-year period; and

(ii) a State shall not be required to conduct any assessments under this subparagraph, that were not required on the day preceding the date of enactment of the Better Education for Students and Teachers Act, in any school year, if the amount made available to the State under section 6403(a) for use in that school year for such assessments is less than 50 percent of the costs of administering such assessments by the State in the previous school year, or if such assessments were not administered in the previous school year (in accordance with this clause), in the most recent school year in which such assessments were administered;

(G) provide for—

[SEC, 116, [20 U.S.C. 6317] ASSESSMENT AND LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY AND SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT.

[(a) LOCAL REVIEW.—Each local educational agency receiving funds under this part shall—

[(1) use the State assessments described in the State plan;

[(2) use any additional measures or indicators described in the local educational agency's plan to review annually the progress of each school served under this part to determine whether the school is meeting, or making adequate progress as defined in section 1111(b)(2)(A)(i) toward enabling its students to meet the State's student performance standards described in the State plan;

[(3) publicize and disseminate to teachers and other staff, parents, students, and the community, the results of the annual review under paragraph (2) of all schools served under this part in individual school performance profiles that include statistically sound disaggregated results as required by section 1111(b)(3)(I); and

[(4) provide the results of the local annual review to schools so that the schools can continually refine the program of instruction to help all children served under this part in those schools meet the State's student performance standards.

[(b) DESIGNATION OF DISTINGUISHED SCHOOLS.—Each State educational agency and local educational agency receiving funds under this part shall designate distinguished schools in accordance with section 1117.

[(c) SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT.—

[(1) IN GENERAL.—A local educational agency shall identify for school improvement any school served under this part that—

[(A) has been in program improvement under section 1020 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (as such section was in effect on the day preceding the date of enactment of the Improving America's Schools Act of 1994), for at least two consecutive school years prior to such day;

[(B) has not made adequate progress as defined in the State's plan under section 1111(b)(2)(A)(i) for two consecutive school years, except that—

[(i) this subparagraph shall not apply to a school if almost every student in such school is meeting the State's advanced level of performance; or

[(ii) in the case of a targeted assistance school, such school may be reviewed on the progress of only those students that have been or are served under this part; or

[(C) has failed to meet the criteria established by the State through the State's transitional procedure under section 1111(b)(7)(B) for two consecutive years.

[(2) REQUIREMENT.—(A) Each school identified under paragraph (1) shall—

[(i) in consultation with parents, the local educational agency, and the school support team, develop or revise a school plan in ways that have the greatest likelihood of improving the performance of participating children in meeting the State's student performance standards; and

[(ii) submit the plan or revised plan to the local educational agency for approval.

[(B) Before identifying a school for school improvement under paragraph (1), the local educational agency shall provide the school with an opportunity to review the school-level data, including assessment data, on which such identification is based. If the school believes that such identification for school improvement is in error for statistical or other substantive reasons, such school may provide evidence to the local educational agency to support such belief.

[(C) During the first year immediately following such identification, the school shall implement such school's plan or revised plan.

[(3) PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT.—(A) Each school identified under paragraph (1) shall, as part of the school plan under paragraph (2), improve the skills of its staff by providing effective professional development activities. A school shall demonstrate such school's compliance with this paragraph by—

[(i) devoting to such activities, over two consecutive years, an amount equivalent to at least 10 percent of the funds received by the school under this part during one fiscal year; or

[(ii) otherwise demonstrating that such school is effectively carrying out professional development activities.

[(B) A school may use funds from any source to meet the requirements of this subsection.

[(C) Decisions about how to use the funds made available under this part which the school makes available for professional development shall be made by teachers, principals, and other school staff in that school.

[(4) TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.—(A) For each school identified under paragraph (1), the local educational agency shall provide technical or other assistance as the school develops an implements such school’s plan or revised plan, such as a joint plan between the local educational agency and school that addresses specific elements of student performance problems and that specifies school and local educational agency responsibilities under the plan, and waivers or modifications of requirements of local educational agency policy or regulation that impede the ability of the school to educate students.

[(B) Such technical assistance may be provided directly by the local educational agency, through mechanisms authorized under section 1117, or with the local educational agency’s approval, by an institution of higher education, a private non-profit organization, an educational service agency, a comprehensive regional assistance center under part A of title XIII, or other entities with experience in helping schools improve achievement.

[(5) CORRECTIVE ACTION.—(A) Except as provided in subparagraph (C), after providing technical assistance pursuant to paragraph (4) and taking other remediation measures, the local educational agency may take corrective action at any time against a school that has been identified under paragraph (1), but, during the third year following identification under paragraph (1), shall take such action against any school that still fails to make adequate progress.

[(B)(i) Corrective actions are those, consistent with State and local law, determined and made public and disseminated by the local educational agency, which may include—

[(I) withholding funds;

[(II) interagency collaborative agreements between the school and other public agencies to provide health, counseling, and other social services needed to remove barriers to learning;

[(III) revoking authority for a school to operate a schoolwide program;

[(IV) decreasing decisionmaking authority at the school level;

[(V) making alternative governance arrangements such as the creation of a public charter school;

[(VI) reconstituting the school staff; and

[(VII) authorizing students to transfer, including transportation costs, to other public schools served by the local educational agency.

[(ii) Notwithstanding clause (i), corrective actions taken pursuant to this part shall not include the actions described in subclause (I), (III), (IV), (VI), or (VII) of clause (i) until the State has developed assessments that meet the requirements of subparagraph (C) of section 1111(b)(3).

[(C) Prior to implementing any corrective action, the local educational agency may refrain from such corrective action for one additional year to the extent that the failure to make progress can be attributed to extenuating circumstances as determined by the local educational agency.

[(D) A school that is no longer operating its schoolwide program due to a corrective action may not resume operation of such a program until the local educational agency determines that the school has adequately reformed its schoolwide program plan to enable the school to make adequate progress toward meeting the State's challenging student performance standards.

[(6) STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY RESPONSIBILITIES.—The State educational agency shall—

[(A) make technical assistance under section 1117 available to the schools farthest from meeting the State's challenging student performance standards, if requested by the school or local educational agency; and

[(B) if such agency determines that a local educational agency failed to carry out the local educational agency's responsibilities under paragraphs (4) and (5), take such corrective actions as the State educational agency deems appropriate and which are in compliance with State law.

[(7) SPECIAL RULE.—Schools that, for at least two of the three years following identification under paragraph (1), make adequate progress toward meeting the State's proficient and advanced levels of performance shall no longer need to be identified for school improvement.

[(d) STATE REVIEW AND LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY IMPROVEMENT.—

[(1) IN GENERAL.—A State educational agency shall—

[(A) annually review the progress of each local educational agency receiving funds under this part to determine whether schools receiving assistance under this part are making adequate progress as defined in section 1111(b)(2)(A)(ii) toward meeting the State's student performance standards; and

[(B) publicize and disseminate to local educational agencies, teachers and other staff, parents, students, and the community the results of the State review, including statistically sound disaggregated results, as required by section 1111(b)(3)(I).

[(2) REWARDS.—In the case of a local educational agency that for three consecutive years has met or exceeded the State's definition of adequate progress as defined in section 1111(b)(2)(A)(ii), the State may make institutional and individual rewards of the kinds described for individual schools in paragraph (2) of section 1117(c).

[(3) IDENTIFICATION.—(A) A State educational agency shall identify for improvement any local educational agency that—

[(i) for two consecutive years, is not making adequate progress as defined in section 1111(b)(2)(A)(ii) in schools served under this part toward meeting the State's student performance standards, except that schools served by the local educational agency that are operating targeted assistance programs may be reviewed on the basis of the progress of only those students served under this part; or

[(ii) has failed to meet the criteria established by the State through such State's transitional procedure under section 1111(b)(7)(B) for two consecutive years.

[(B) Before identifying a local educational agency for improvement under paragraph (1), the State educational agency shall provide the local educational agency with an opportunity to review the school-level data, including assessment data, on which such identification is based. If the local educational agency believes that such identification for improvement is in error due to statistical or other substantive reasons, such local educational agency may provide evidence to the State educational agency to support such belief.

[(4) LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY REVISIONS.—(A) Each local educational agency identified under paragraph (3) shall, in consultation with schools, parents, and educational experts, revise its local educational agency plan under section 1112 in ways that have the greatest likelihood of improving the performance of schools served by the local educational agency under this part in meeting the State's student performance standards.

[(B) Such revision shall include determining why the local educational agency's plan failed to bring about increased achievement.

[(5) STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY RESPONSIBILITY.—(A) For each local educational agency identified under paragraph (3), the State educational agency shall—

[(i) provide technical or other assistance, if requested, as authorized under section 1117, to better enable the local educational agency to—

[(I) develop and implement the local educational agency's revised plan; and

[(II) work with schools needing improvement; and

[(ii) make available to the local educational agencies farthest from meeting the State's standards, if requested, assistance under section 1117.

[(B) Technical or other assistance may be provided by the State educational agency directly, or by an institution of higher education, a private nonprofit organization, an educational service agency or other local consortium, a technical assistance center, or other entities with experience in assisting local educational agencies improve achievement, and may include—

[(i) interagency collaborative agreements between the local educational agency and other public agencies to provide health, pupil services, and other social services needed to remove barriers to learning; and

[(ii) waivers or modification of requirements of State law or regulation (in States in which such waivers are permitted) that impede the ability of a local educational agency to educate students.

[(6) CORRECTIVE ACTION.—(A) Except as provided in subparagraph (C), after providing technical assistance pursuant to paragraph (5) and taking other remediation measures, the State educational agency may take corrective action at any time against a local educational agency that has been identified under paragraph (3) but during the fourth year following identification under paragraph (3), shall take such action against any local educational agency that still fails to make adequate progress.

[(B)(i) Corrective actions are those actions, consistent with State law, determined and made public and disseminated by the State educational agency, which may include—

[(I) the withholding of funds;

[(II) reconstitution of school district personnel;

[(III) removal of particular schools from the jurisdiction of the local educational agency and establishment of alternative arrangements for public governance and supervision of such schools;

[(IV) appointment by the State educational agency of a receiver or trustee to administer the affairs of the local educational agency in place of the superintendent and school board;

[(V) the abolition or restructuring of the local educational agency;

[(VI) the authorizing of students to transfer from a school operated by one local educational agency to a school operated by another local educational agency; and

[(VII) a joint plan between the State and the local educational agency that addresses specific elements of student performance problems and that specifies State and local responsibilities under the plan.

[(ii) Notwithstanding clause (i), corrective actions taken pursuant to this part shall not include the actions described in subclauses (I), (II), and (III) of clause (i) until the State has developed assessments that meet the requirements of paragraph (3)(C) of section 1111(b).

[(C) Prior to implementing any corrective action, the State educational agency shall provide due process and a hearing (if State law provides for such due process and a hearing) to any local educational agency identified under paragraph (3) and may refrain from such corrective action for one year after the four-year period described in subparagraph (A) to the extent that the failure to make progress can be attributed to such extenuating circumstances as determined by the State educational agency.

[(7) SPECIAL RULE.—Local educational agencies that for at least two of the three years following identification under paragraph (3) make adequate progress toward meeting the State's standards no longer need to be identified for local educational agency improvement.

[(e) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to alter or otherwise affect the rights, remedies, and procedures afforded school or school district employees under Federal, State, or local laws (including applicable regulations or court orders) or under the terms of collective bargaining agreements, memoranda of understanding, or other agreements between such employees and their employers.]

(a) LOCAL REVIEW.—Each local educational agency receiving funds under this part shall—

(1) use the State assessments described in the State plan;

(2) use any additional measures or indicators described in the local educational agency's plan to review annually the progress of each school served under this part to determine whether the school is meeting, or making adequate progress as defined in section 1111(b)(2)(B) toward enabling its students to meet the State's student performance standards described in the State plan;

(3) provide the results of the local annual review to schools so that the schools can continually refine the program of instruction to help all children served under this part in those schools meet the State's student performance standards; and

(4) annually review the effectiveness of the actions and activities the schools are carrying out under this part with respect to parental involvement activities under section 1118, professional development activities under section 1119, and other activities assisted under this Act.

(b) DESIGNATION OF DISTINGUISHED SCHOOLS.—Each State educational agency and local educational agency receiving funds under this part shall designate distinguished schools in accordance with section 1117.

(ii) was in school improvement status under this section on the day preceding the date of enactment of the Better Education for Students and Teachers Act.

(B) Subparagraph (A) shall not apply to a school if almost every student in such school is meeting the State's proficient level of performance.

(C) To determine if an elementary school or a secondary school that is conducting a targeted assistance program under section 1115 should be identified for school improvement under this subsection, a local educational agency may choose to review the progress of only the students in the school who are served, or are eligible for services, under this part.

(2) OPPORTUNITY TO REVIEW AND PRESENT EVIDENCE; TIME LIMIT.—(A) Before identifying an elementary school or a secondary school for school improvement under paragraph (1), for corrective action under paragraph (6), or for reconstitution under paragraph (7), the local educational agency shall provide the school with an opportunity to review the school-level data, including assessment data, on which such identification is based.

(B) If the principal of a school proposed for identification under paragraph (1), (6), or (7) believes that the proposed identification is in error for statistical or other substantive reasons, the principal may provide supporting evidence to the local educational agency, which shall consider that evidence before making a final determination.

(C) Not later than 30 days after a local educational agency makes an initial determination concerning identifying a school under paragraph (1), (6), or (7), the local educational agency shall make public a final determination on the status of the school.

(3) SCHOOL PLAN.—(A) Each school identified under paragraph (1) for school improvement shall, not later than 3 months after being so identified, develop or revise a school plan, in consultation with parents, school staff, the local educational agency serving the school, the local school board, and other outside experts, for approval by such local educational agency. The school plan shall cover a 2-year period and—

(i) incorporate scientifically based research strategies that strengthen the core academic subjects in the school and address the specific academic issues that caused the school to be identified for school improvement;

(ii) adopt policies and practices concerning the school's core academic subjects that have the greatest likelihood of ensuring that all groups of students specified in section 1111(b)(2)(B)(v)(II) and enrolled in the school will meet the State's proficient level of performance on the State assessment described in section 1111(b)(3) within 10 years after the date of enactment of the Better Education for Students and Teachers Act;

(iii) provide an assurance that the school will reserve not less than 10 percent of the funds made available to the school under this part for each fiscal year that the school is in school improvement status, for the purpose of providing to the school's teachers and principal high-quality professional development that—

(I) directly addresses the academic performance problem that caused the school to be identified for school improvement; and

(iv) specify how the funds described in clause (iii) will be used to remove the school from school improvement status;

(v) establish specific annual, objective goals for continuous and significant progress by each group of students specified in section 1111(b)(2)(B)(v)(II) and enrolled in the school that will ensure that all such groups of students will meet the State's proficient level of performance on the State assessment described in section 1111(b)(3) within 10 years after the date of enactment of the Better Education for Students and Teachers Act;

(vi) identify how the school will provide written notification about the identification to the parents of each student enrolled in such school, in a format and, to the extent practicable, in a language the parents can understand;

(vii) specify the responsibilities of the school, the local educational agency, and the State educational agency serving the school under the plan, including the technical assistance to be provided by the local educational agency under paragraph (4); and

(viii) include strategies to promote effective parental involvement in the school.

(B) The local educational agency may condition approval of a school plan on inclusion of 1 or more of the corrective actions specified in paragraph (6)(D)(ii).

(C) A school shall implement the school plan (including a revised plan) expeditiously, but not later than the beginning of the school year following the school year in which the school was identified for school improvement.

(D) The local educational agency, within 45 days after receiving a school plan, shall—

(i) establish a peer-review process to assist with review of a school plan prepared by a school served by the local educational agency; and

(ii) promptly review the school plan, work with the school as necessary, and approve the school plan if the plan meets the requirements of this paragraph.

(4) TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.—(A) For each school identified for school improvement under paragraph (1), the local educational agency serving the school shall provide technical assistance as the school develops and implements the school plan.

(B) Such technical assistance—

(i) shall include assistance in analyzing data from the assessments required under section 1111(b)(3), and other samples of student work, to identify and address instructional problems and solutions;

(ii) shall include assistance in identifying and implementing instructional strategies and methods that are tied to scientifically based research and that have proven effective in addressing the specific instructional issues that caused the school to be identified for school improvement;

(iii) shall include assistance in analyzing and revising the school's budget so that the school resources are more effectively allocated for the activities most likely to increase student performance and to remove the school from school improvement status; and

(iv) may be provided—

(I) by the local educational agency, through mechanisms authorized under section 1117; or

(II) by the State educational agency, an institution of higher education (in full compliance with all the reporting provisions of title II of the Higher Education Act of 1965), a private not-for-profit organization or for-profit organization, an educational service agency, or another entity with experience in helping schools improve performance.

(C) Technical assistance provided under this section by a local educational agency or an entity approved by that agency shall be based on scientifically based research.

(5) NOTIFICATION TO PARENTS.—A local educational agency shall promptly provide parents (in a format and, to the extent practicable, in a language they can understand) of each student in an elementary school or a secondary school identified for school improvement—

(A) an explanation of what the school improvement identification means, and how the school identified for school improvement compares in terms of academic performance to other elementary schools or secondary schools served by the local educational agency and the State educational agency involved;

(B) the reasons for the identification;

(C) an explanation of what the school identified for school improvement is doing to address the problem of low performance;

(D) an explanation of what the local educational agency or State educational agency is doing to help the school address the performance problem; and

(E) an explanation of how parents described in this paragraph can become involved in addressing the academic issues that caused the school to be identified for school improvement.

(6) CORRECTIVE ACTION.—(A) In this subsection, the term ‘corrective action’ means action, consistent with State and local law, that—

(i) substantially and directly responds to—

(I) the consistent academic failure of a school that caused the local educational agency to take such action; and

(II) any underlying staffing, curriculum, or other problem in the school; and

(ii) is designed to increase substantially the likelihood that students enrolled in the school identified for corrective action will perform at the State’s proficient and advanced levels of performance on the State assessment described in section 1111(b)(3).

(B) In order to help students served under this part meet challenging State standards, each local educational agency shall implement a system of corrective action in accordance with subparagraphs (C) through (F) and paragraph (7).

(C) After providing technical assistance under paragraph (4), the local educational agency—

(i) may identify for corrective action and take corrective action with respect to any school served by the local educational agency under this part that fails to make adequate yearly progress, as defined by the State under section 1111(b)(2)(B), at the end of the first year after the school year in which the school was identified under paragraph (1);

(ii) shall identify for corrective action and take corrective action with respect to any school served by the local educational agency under this part that—

(I) fails to make adequate yearly progress, as defined by the State under section 1111(b)(2)(B), at the end of the second year after the school year in which the school was identified under paragraph (1); or

(II) was in program-improvement status for 2 years or in corrective-action status under this subsection on the day preceding the date of enactment of the Better Education for Students and Teachers Act;

(iii) shall continue to provide technical assistance while instituting any corrective action under clause (i) or (ii); and

(iv) shall promptly notify parents of the option to transfer their child to another public school under subparagraph (D)(i).

(D) In the case of a school described in subparagraph (C)(ii), the local educational agency shall—

(i) provide all students enrolled in the school with the option to transfer to another public school within the local educational agency, including a public charter school, that has not been identified for school improvement under paragraph (1), unless—

(I) such an option is prohibited by State law or local law (which includes a policy adopted by the school board); or

(II) the local educational agency demonstrates to the satisfaction of the State educational agency that the local educational agency lacks the capacity to provide that option to all students in the school who request it, in which case it shall permit as many students as possible (selected by the agency on an equitable basis) to make such a transfer; and

(ii) take at least 1 of the following corrective actions:

(I) Make alternative governance arrangements, such as reopening the school as a public charter school.

(II) Replace the relevant school staff.

(III) Institute and fully implement a new curriculum, including providing appropriate professional development for all relevant staff, that is tied to scientifically based research and offers substantial promise of improving educational performance for low-performing students.

(E) A local educational agency may delay, for a period not to exceed 1 year, implementation of corrective action only if the school's failure to make adequate yearly progress was justified due to exceptional or uncontrollable circumstances, such as a natural disaster or a precipitous and unforeseen decline in the financial resources of the local educational agency or school.

(F) The local educational agency shall publish and disseminate information regarding any corrective action the local educational agency takes under this paragraph at a school—

(i) to the public and to the parents of each student enrolled in the school subject to corrective action;

(ii) in a format and, to the extent practicable, in a language that the parents can understand; and

(iii) through such means as the Internet, the media, and public agencies.

(7) RECONSTITUTION.—(A) If, after 1 additional year, a school subject to corrective action under paragraph (6) continues to fail to make adequate yearly progress and students in the school who are from economically disadvantaged families are not making statistically significant progress in the subjects included in the State's definition of adequate yearly progress, the local educational agency shall—

(i) provide all students enrolled in the school with the option to transfer to another public school within the local educational agency, including a public charter school, that has not been identified for school improvement under paragraph (1), including affording each such student the same right to attend any such school as is afforded to any child who is a new resident of that school's attendance area; and

(ii) prepare a plan and make necessary arrangements to carry out subparagraph (B).

(B) Not later than the beginning of the school year following the year in which the local educational agency implements subparagraph (A), the local educational agency shall implement 1 of the following alternative governance arrangements for the school:

(i) Reopening the school as a public charter school.

(ii) Replacing all or most of the school staff.

(iii) Making alternative governance arrangements.

(C) The local educational agency shall provide prompt notice to teachers and parents whenever subparagraph (A) or (B) applies, shall provide the teachers and parents adequate opportunity to comment before taking any action under those paragraphs and to participate in developing any plan under subparagraph (A)(ii), and shall provide parents an explanation of the option under subparagraph (A)(i).

(8) TRANSPORTATION.—In any case described in paragraph (6)(D)(i) or (7)(A)(i), the local educational agency shall provide, or shall pay for the provision of, transportation for the student to the school the child attends, provided that payments for such purpose do not exceed 15 percent of the local educational agency's allocation under this part.

(9) DURATION OF RECONSTITUTION.—If any school identified for reconstitution under paragraph (7) makes adequate yearly progress for 2 consecutive years and children in that school from economically disadvantaged families are making statistically significant educational progress over that 2-year period, then the local educational agency need no longer subject the school to corrective action or identify the school as in need of improvement.

(10) STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY RESPONSIBILITIES.—The State educational agency shall—

(A) make technical assistance under section 1117 available to all schools identified for school improvement and corrective action under this subsection, to the extent possible with funds reserved under section 1003; and

(B) if the State educational agency determines that a local educational agency failed to carry out its responsibilities under this subsection, take such corrective actions as the State educational agency determines appropriate and in compliance with State law.

(d) STATE REVIEW AND LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY IMPROVEMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—A State educational agency shall review annually—

(A) the progress of each local educational agency receiving funds under this part to determine whether schools receiving assistance under this part are making adequate progress as defined in section 1111(b)(2)(B) toward meeting the State's student performance standards and to determine whether each local educational agency is carrying out its responsibilities under section 1116 and section 1117; and

(B) the effectiveness of the activities carried out under this part by each local educational agency that receives funds under this part and is served by the State educational agency with respect to parental involvement, professional development, and other activities assisted under this part.

(2) REWARDS.—In the case of a local educational agency that for 3 consecutive years has met or exceeded the State's definition of adequate progress as defined in section 1111(b)(2)(B), the State may make institutional and individual rewards of the kinds described for individual schools in paragraph (2) of section 1117(c).

(3) IDENTIFICATION.—(A) A State educational agency shall identify for improvement any local educational agency that for 2 consecutive years, is not making adequate progress as defined in section 1111(b)(2)(B) in schools served under this part toward meeting the State's student performance standards, except that schools served by the local educational agency that are operating targeted assistance programs may be reviewed on the basis of the progress of only those students served under this part.

(B) Before identifying a local educational agency for improvement under paragraph (1), the State educational agency shall provide the local educational agency with an opportunity to review the school-level data, including assessment data, on which such identification is based. If the local educational agency believes that such identification for improvement is in error due to statistical or other substantive reasons, such local educational agency may provide evidence to the State educational agency to support such belief.

[(1) FISCAL YEAR 1995.—For fiscal year 1995, appropriations for this part shall be allocated according to the provisions of sections 1005, except subsection (a)(3), and 1006, part A of chapter 1 of title I, Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, as in effect on September 30, 1994, except that the State minimum for section 1005 shall be the lesser of 0.25 percent of total appropriations or the average of 0.25 percent of total appropriations and 150 percent of the national average grant per child counted for grants under section 1005 multiplied by the State's number of children counted for such grants, and for grants under section 1006, the State minimum shall be the lesser of—

[(i) 0.25 percent of total appropriations; and

[(ii) the greater of 150 percent of the national average grant per child counted for grants under such section 1006 multiplied by the State total number of such children, or $340,000.

[(2) SUCCEEDING FISCAL YEARS.—For fiscal years 1996 through 1999, an amount of the appropriations for this part equal to the appropriation for fiscal year 1995 for section 1005, shall be allocated in accordance with section 1124, and an amount equal to the appropriation for fiscal year 1995 for section 1006 shall be allocated in accordance with section 1124A. Any additional appropriations under section 1002(a) for any fiscal year after application of the preceding sentence, shall be allocated in accordance with section 1125.

[(b) ADJUSTMENT WHERE NECESSITATED BY APPROPRIATIONS.—

[(1) IN GENERAL.—If the sums available under this part for any fiscal year are insufficient to pay the full amounts that all local educational agencies in States are eligible to receive under sections 1124, 1124A, and 1125 for such year, the Secretary shall ratably reduce the allocations to such local educational agencies, subject to subsections (c) and (d) of this section.

[(2) ADDITIONAL FUNDS.—If additional funds become available for making payments under sections 1124, 1124A, and 1125 for such fiscal year, allocations that were reduced under paragraph (1) shall be increased on the same basis as they were reduced.

[(c) HOLD-HARMLESS AMOUNTS.—

[(1) IN GENERAL.—For fiscal year 1995, notwithstanding subsection (b) and without regard to amounts available for delinquent children under subpart 2 of part D, the amount made available to each local educational agency under such section

1005 shall be at least 85 percent of the amount such local educational agency received for the preceding year under such section 1005.

[(2) FISCAL YEAR 1996.—Notwithstanding subsection (b) and without regard to amounts available for delinquent children under subpart 2 of part D, for fiscal year 1996 the total amount made available to each local educational agency under each of sections 1124 and 1124A for any fiscal year shall be at least 100 percent of the total amount such local educational agency was allocated under such sections (or their predecessor authorities) for the preceding fiscal year.

[(3) FISCAL YEARS 1997–1999.—For fiscal years 1997 through 1999, notwithstanding subsection (b) and without regard to amounts available for delinquent children under subpart 2 of part D, the amount made available to each local educational agency under each of sections 1124 and 1125 shall be at least 95 percent of the previous year's amount if the number of children counted for grants under section 1124 is at least 30 percent of the total number of children aged 5 to 17 years, inclusive, in the local educational agency, 90 percent of the previous year amount if this percentage is between 15 percent and 30 percent, and 85 percent if this percentage is below 15 percent. For fiscal years 1997 and 1998, in calculating grants on the basis of population data for counties, the Secretary shall apply the hold-homeless percentages in the preceding sentence to counties. For fiscal years 1996 through 1998, if the Secretary's allocation for a county is not sufficient to meet the hold-harmless requirements of this paragraph for every local educational agency within that county, then the State educational agency shall reallocate funds proportionately from all other local educational agencies in the State that are receiving funds in excess of the hold-harmless amounts specified in this paragraph.

[(d) RATABLE REDUCTIONS.—

[(1) IN GENERAL.—If the sums made available under this part for any fiscal year are insufficient to pay the full amounts that all States are eligible to receive under subsection (c) for such year, the Secretary shall ratably reduce such amounts for such year.

[(2) ADDITIONAL FUNDS.—If additional funds become available for making payments under subsection (c) for such fiscal year, amounts that were reduced under paragraph (1) shall be increased on the same basis as such amounts reduced.

[(e) DEFINITION.—For the purpose of this section and sections 1124 and 1125, the term State means each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

[SEC 1124. [20 U.S.C. 6333] BASIC GRANTS TO LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.

[(a) AMOUNT OF GRANTS.—

[(1) GRANTS FOR LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES AND PUERTO RICO.—The grant which a local educational agency in a State is eligible to receive under this subpart for a fiscal year shall (except as provided in section 1126), be determined by multiplying the number of children counted under subsection (c) by

40 percent of the amount determined under the next sentence. The amount determined under this sentence shall be the average per pupil expenditure in the State except that—

【(A) if the average per pupil expenditure in the State is less than 80 percent of the average per pupil expenditure in the United States, such amount shall be 80 percent of the average per pupil expenditure in the United States; or

【(B) if the average per pupil expenditure in the State is more than 120 percent of the average per pupil expenditure in the United States, such amount shall be 120 percent of the average per pupil expenditure in the United States.

【(2) BASIS FOR CALCULATING GRANTS.—For fiscal years 1995 through 1998, grants shall be calculated by the Secretary on the basis of the number of children counted under subsection (c) for counties, and State educational agencies shall suballocate county amounts to local educational agencies, in accordance with regulations published by the Secretary. In any State in which a large number of local educational agencies overlap county boundaries, the State educational agency may apply to the Secretary for authority during any particular fiscal year to make the allocations under this part (other than section 1124A) directly to local educational agencies without regard to the counties. If the Secretary approves an application of a State educational agency for a particular year under this subparagraph, the State educational agency shall provide assurances that—

【(A) such allocations will be made using precisely the same factors for determining a grant as are used under this part;

【(B) such allocations will be made using alternative data approved by the Secretary that the State determines best reflects the distribution of children in poor families and is adjusted to be equivalent in proportion to the number of children determined in accordance with subsection (c); or

【(C) such allocations will be made using data that the State educational agency submits to the Secretary for approval that more accurately target poverty.

In addition, the State educational agency shall provide assurances that a procedure will be established through which local educational agencies dissatisfied with the determinations made by the State educational agency may appeal directly to the Secretary for a final determination. Beginning in fiscal year 1999, grants shall be calculated by the Secretary on the basis of population data compiled for local educational agencies, unless the Secretary and the Secretary of Commerce determine that use of the updated population data would be inappropriate or unreliable taking into consideration the recommendations of the study to be conducted by the National Academy of Sciences. If the Secretary and the Secretary of Commerce determine that some or all of the data referred to in this paragraph are inappropriate or unreliable, the Secretaries shall jointly issue a report setting forth their reasons in detail. In years when grants are calculated by the Secretary on the basis of local educational agency data, for each local educational agency serving an area with a total population of at least 20,000 persons, the grant under this section shall be the amount determined by the Secretary. For local educational agencies servicing areas with total populations of fewer than 20,000 persons, the State educational agency may either—

[(i) distribute to such local educational agencies grants under this section equal to the amounts determined by the Secretary; and

[(ii) use an alternative method, approved by the Secretary, to distribute the share of the State's total grants under this section that is based on local educational agencies with total populations of fewer than 20,000 persons. Such an alternative method of distributing grants under this section among a State's local educational agencies servicing areas with total populations of fewer than 20,000 persons shall be based upon population data that the State educational agency determines best reflect the current distribution of children in poor families among the State's local educational agencies serving areas with total populations of fewer than 20,000 persons. If a local educational agency serving an area with total population of less than 20,000 persons is dissatisfied with the determination of its grant by the State education agency, then such local educational agency may appeal this determination to the Secretary. The Secretary must respond to this appeal within 45 days of receipt.

[(3) PUERTO RICO.—For each fiscal year, the Secretary shall determine the percentage which the average per pupil expenditure in the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico is of the lowest average per pupil expenditure of any of the 50 States. The grant which the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico shall be eligible to receive under this section for a fiscal year shall be the amount arrived at by multiplying the number of children counted under subsection (c) for the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico by the product of—

[(4) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this subsection, the term “State” does not include Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, the Northern Mariana Islands, and Palau.

[(b) MINIMUM NUMBER OF CHILDREN TO QUALIFY.—Subject to the succeeding sentence, a local educational agency shall be eligible for a basic grant for a fiscal year under this subpart only if the number of children counted under subsection (c) in the school district of such local educational agency is at least 10. Beginning in fiscal year 1996, no local educational agency shall be eligible for a grant under this section if the number of children counted for grants under this section is equal to 2 percent or less of the total school age population in the local educational agency. For fiscal years 1996 through 1998, grants not made as a result of applying the preceding sentence shall be reallocated by the State educational agency to other eligible local education agencies in the State in proportion to the distribution of other funds under this section.

[(c) CHILDREN TO BE COUNTED.—

[(1) CATEGORIES OF CHILDREN.—The number of children to be counted for purposes of this section is the aggregate of—

[(A) the number of children aged 5 to 17, inclusive, in the school district of the local educational agency from families below the poverty level as determined under paragraph (2);

[(B) the number of children aged 5 to 17, inclusive, in the school district of such agency from families above the poverty level as determined under paragraph (5); and

[(C) the number of children aged 5 to 17, inclusive, in the school district of such agency in institutions for neglected and delinquent children (other than such institutions operated by the United States), but not counted pursuant to subpart 1 of part D for the purposes of a grant to a State agency, or being supported in foster homes with public funds.

[(2) DETERMINATION OF NUMBER OF CHILDREN.—For the purposes of this section, the Secretary shall determine the number of children aged 5 to 17, inclusive, from families below the poverty level on the basis of the most recent satisfactory data, described in paragraph (3), available from the Department of Commerce. For fiscal year 1999 and beyond, the District of Columbia and the Commonwealth of Puerto shall be treated as individual local educational agencies. If a local educational agency contains two or more counties in their entirety, then each county will be treated as if such county were a separate local educational agency for purposes of calculating grants under this part. The total of grants for such counties shall be allocated to such a local educational agency, which local educational agency shall distribute to schools in each county within such agency a share of the local educational agency's total grant that is no less than the county's share of the population counts used to calculate the local educational agency's grant.

[(3) POPULATION UPDATES.—In fiscal year 1997 and every 2 years thereafter, the Secretary shall use updated data on the number of children, aged 5 to 17, inclusive, from families below the poverty level for counties or local educational agencies, published by the Department of Commerce, unless the Secretary and the Secretary of Commerce determine that use of the updated population data would be inappropriate or unreliable, taking into consideration the recommendations of the study to be conducted by the National Academy of Sciences. If the Secretary and the Secretary of Commerce determine that some or all of the data referred to in this paragraph are inappropriate or unreliable, they shall jointly issue a report setting forth their reasons in detail. In determining the families which are below the poverty level, the Secretary shall utilize the criteria of poverty used by the Bureau of the Census in compiling the most recent decennial census, in such form as those criteria have been updated by increases in the Consumer Price

Index for all urban consumers, published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

[(4) STUDY.—(A) The Secretary of Education shall, within 30 days after the date of enactment of the Improving America’s School’s Act of 1994, contract with the National Academy of Sciences (hereafter in this section referred to as the “Academy”) to study the program to produce intercensal poverty data for small geographic areas and certain age cohorts being developed by the Bureau of the Census.

[(B) In conducting its study, the Academy shall consider such matters as—

[(i) the methodology used to produce and publish intercensal poverty data, and possible alternative methods to improve the usefulness of the data for Federal program purposes;

[(ii) the availability of alternative indicators of poverty for small geographic areas, against which the poverty data produced and published by the Bureau of the Census could be compared;

[(iii) the reliability of the poverty data produced and published by the Bureau of the Census, particularly for less populous geographic areas;

[(iv) the reliability of intercensal poverty data produced and published by the Bureau of the Census, as compared over time to similar data produced by the Bureau of the Census during the most recent decennial census; and

[(v) the usefulness of poverty data produced and published by the Bureau of the Census for Federal programs that allocate funds to State and subState areas based, in whole or in part, on such data.

[(C) The Academy shall submit to the Secretary and the Secretary of Commerce, as well as to the Committee on Education and Labor and the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Labor and Human Resources and the Committee on Governmental Affairs of the Senate—

[(i) not later than 18 months after the date on which a contract is entered into under subsection (a), and not later than every 18 months thereafter, such interim reports on the Academy’s activities under this Act that the Academy deems appropriate, including a detailed statement of the Academy’s findings and conclusions with respect to any poverty data which the Bureau of the Census publishes and produces, within 90 days of such publication; and

[(ii) not later than December 31, 1998, a final report which shall include a more detailed statement of the Academy’s findings and conclusions with respect to the use of any intercensal poverty data produced and published by the Bureau of the Census as the basis for allocating Federal funds under this Act.

[(D) Of the funds appropriated under section 1002(f) of this Act, the Secretary shall use such sums as are necessary in each of fiscal years 1995, 1996, 1997, 1998, and 1999 to carry out the provisions of this paragraph.

[(5) OTHER CHILDREN TO BE COUNTED.—For purposes of this section, the Secretary shall determine the number of children aged 5 to 17, inclusive, from families above the poverty level on the basis of the number of such children from families receiving an annual income, in excess of the current criteria of poverty, from payments under a State program funded under part A of title IV of the Social Security Act; and in making such determinations the Secretary shall utilize the criteria of poverty used by the Bureau of the Census in compiling the most recent decennial census for a family of 4 in such form as those criteria have been updated by increases in the Consumer Price Index for all urban consumers, published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The Secretary shall determine the number of such children and the number of children of such ages living in institutions for neglected or delinquent children, or being supported in foster homes with public funds, on the basis of the caseload data for the month of October of the preceding fiscal year (using, in the case of children described in the preceding sentence, the criteria of poverty and the form of such criteria required by such sentence which were determined for the calendar year preceding such month of October) or, to the extent that such data are not available to the Secretary before January of the calendar year in which the Secretary's determination is made, then on the basis of the most recent reliable data available to the Secretary at the time of such determination. The Secretary of Health and Human Services shall collect and transmit the information required by this subparagraph to the Secretary not later than January 1 of each year.

[(6) ESTIMATE.—When requested by the Secretary, the Secretary of Commerce shall make a special updated estimate of the number of children of such ages who are from families below the poverty level (as determined under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph) in each school district, and the Secretary is authorized to pay (either in advance or by way of reimbursement) the Secretary of Commerce the cost of making this special estimate. The Secretary of Commerce shall give consideration to any request of the chief executive of a State for the collection of additional census information. For purposes of this section, the Secretary shall consider all children who are in correctional institutions to be living in institutions for delinquent children.

[(d) STATE MINIMUM.—Notwithstanding subsection (b)(1) or (d) of section 1122, the aggregate amount allotted for all local educational agencies within a State may not be less than the lesser of—

[(1) 0.25 percent of total grants under this section; or

[(2) the average of—

[(B) the number of children in such State counted under subsection (c) in the fiscal year multiplied by 150 percent of the national average per pupil payment made with funds available under this section for that year.

[SEC. 1124A. [20 U.S.C. 6334] CONCENTRATION GRANTS TO LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.

[(a) ELIGIBILITY FOR AND AMOUNT OF GRANTS.—

[(1) IN GENERAL.—(A) Except as otherwise provided in this paragraph, each local educational agency, in a State other than Guam, American Samoa, the Virgin Islands, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and Palau, which is eligible for a grant under this part for any fiscal year shall be eligible for an additional grant under this section for that fiscal year if—

[(i) the number of children counted under section 1124(c) in the county (for fiscal years 1996 through 1998), or local educational agency (for fiscal years beginning with 1999) for the fiscal year exceeds 6,500; or

[(ii) the number of children counted under section 1124(c) exceeds 15 percent of the total number of children aged 5 to 17, inclusive, in the county (for fiscal years 1996 through 1998), or local educational agency (for fiscal years beginning with 1999) in that fiscal year.

[(B) Notwithstanding such subsections (b)(1) and (d) of section 1122, no State described in subparagraph (A) shall receive less than the lesser of—

[(i) 0.25 percent of total grants; or

[(ii) the average of—

[(I) one-quarter of 1 percent of the sums available to carry out this section for such fiscal year; and

[(II) the greater of—

[(aa) $340,000; or

[(bb) the number of children in such State counted for purposes of this section in that fiscal year multiplied by 150 percent of the national average per pupil payment made with funds available under this section for that year.

[(2) SPECIAL RULE.—For each county or local educational agency eligible to receive an additional grant under this section for any fiscal year the Secretary shall determine the product of—

[(A) the number of children counted under section 1124(c) for that fiscal year; and

[(B) the quotient resulting from the division of the amount determined for those agencies under section 1124(a)(1) for the fiscal year for which the determination is being made divided by the total number of children counted under section 1124(c) for that agency for fiscal year.

[(3) AMOUNT.—The amount of the additional grant for which an eligible local educational agency or county is eligible under this section for any fiscal year shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to the amount available to carry out this section for that fiscal year as the product determined under paragraph (2) for such local educational agency for that fiscal year bears to the sum of such products for all local educational agencies in the United States for that fiscal year.

[(4) SUBALLOCATION.—For fiscal years 1996 through 1998, county amounts shall be suballocated to local educational agencies meeting the criteria of paragraph (1)(A) by State educational agencies, in accordance with regulations published by the Secretary. For fiscal years 1995 through 1998, grants shall be calculated by the Secretary on the basis of the number of children counted under section 1124(c) for counties, and State educational agencies shall suballocate county amounts to local educational agencies, in accordance with regulations published by the Secretary. In any State in which a large number of local educational agencies overlap county boundaries, the State educational agency may apply to the Secretary for authority during any particular fiscal year to make the allocations under this part (other than this section) directly to local educational agencies without regard to the counties. If the Secretary approves an application of a State educational agency for a particular year under this paragraph, the State educational agency shall provide assurances that—

[(A) such allocations will be made using precisely the same factors for determining a grant as are used under this part;

[(B) such allocations will be made using alternative data approved by the Secretary that the State determines best reflects the distribution of children in poor families and is adjusted to be equivalent in proportion to the number of children determined in accordance with section 1124(c); or

[(C) such allocations will be made using data that the State educational agency submits to the Secretary for approval that more accurately target poverty.

In addition, the State educational agency shall provide assurances that a procedure will be established through which local educational agencies dissatisfied with the determinations made by the State educational agency may appeal directly to the Secretary for a final determination. A State may reserve not more than 2 percent of its allocations in fiscal years 1996 through 1998 under this section for the purpose of making grants to local educational agencies that meet the criteria of clause (i) or (ii) of paragraph (1)(A), but are in ineligible counties. For fiscal years beginning with 1999, for each local educational agency serving an area with a total population of at least 20,000 persons, the grant under this section shall be the amount determined by the Secretary. For local educational agencies serving areas with total populations of fewer than 20,000 persons, the State educational agency may either (i) distribute to such local educational agencies grants under this section equal to the amounts determined by the Secretary; or (ii) use an alternative method, approved by the Secretary, to distribute the share of the State's total grants under this section that is based on local educational agencies with total populations of fewer than 20,000 persons. Such an alternative method of distributing grants under this section among a State's local educational agencies serving areas with total populations of fewer than 20,000 persons shall be based upon population data that the State educational agency determines best reflects the current distribution of children in poor families among the State's local educational agencies serving areas with total populations of fewer than 20,000 persons and meeting the eligibility criteria of paragraph (1)(A). If a local educational agency serving an area with total population of less than 20,000 persons is dissatisfied with the determination of its grant by the State educational agency, then such local educational agency may appeal this determination to the Secretary. The Secretary shall respond to this appeal within 45 days of receipt. The Secretary shall consult with the Secretary of Commerce regarding whether available data on population for local educational agencies service areas with total populations of fewer than 20,000 persons are sufficiently reliable to be used to determine final grants to such areas meeting the eligibility criteria of paragraph (1)(A).

[(b) RESERVATION OF FUNDS.—Of the total amount of funds available for this section and sections 1124 and 1125, an amount equal to the appropriation for fiscal year 1995 for section 1006 of this Act (as such section was in effect on the day preceding the date of enactment of this Act) shall be available to carry out this section.

[(c) RATABLE REDUCTION RULE.—If the sums available under subsection (b) for any fiscal year for making payments under this section are not sufficient to pay in full the total amounts which all States are eligible to receive under subsection (a) for such fiscal year, the maximum amounts which all States are eligible to receive under subsection (a) for such fiscal year shall be ratably reduced. In the case that additional funds become available for making such payments for any fiscal year during which the preceding sentence is applicable, such reduced amounts shall be increased on the same basis as they were reduced.

[(d) STATES RECEIVING MINIMUM GRANTS.—In States that receive the minimum grant under subsection (a)(1)(B), the State educational agency shall allocate such funds among the local educational agencies in each State either—

[(1) in accordance with paragraphs (2) and (4) of subsection (a); or

[(2) based on their respective concentrations and numbers of children counted under section 1124(c), except that only those local educational agencies with concentrations or numbers of children counted under section 1124(c) that exceed the statewide average percentage of such children or the statewide average number of such children shall receive any funds on the basis of this paragraph.

[SEC. 1125. [20 U.S.C. 6335] TARGETED GRANTS TO LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.

[(a) ELIGIBILITY OF LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.—A local educational agency in a State is eligible to receive a targeted grant under this section for any fiscal year if the number of children in the local educational agency counted under subsection 1124(c), before application of the weighting factor described in subsection (c) is at least 10, and if the number of children counted for grants under section 1124 is at least 5 percent of the total population aged 5 to 17 years, inclusive, in the local educational agency. Funds made available as a result of applying this subsection shall be re-allocated by the State educational agency to other eligible local educational agencies in the State in proportion to the distribution of other funds under this section.

[(b) GRANTS FOR LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES, THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, AND PUERTO RICO.—

[(1) IN GENERAL.—The amount of the grant that a local educational agency in a State or that the District of Columbia is eligible to receive under this section for any fiscal year shall be the product of—

[(A) the weighted child count determined under subsection (c); and

[(B) the amount in the second of subparagraph 1124(a)(1)(A).

[(2) PUERTO RICO.—For each fiscal year, the amount of the grant for which the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico is eligible under this section shall be equal to the number of children counted under subsection (c) for Puerto Rico, multiplied by the amount determined in subparagraph 1124(a)(3).

[(1) FISCAL YEARS 1966–1998.—

[(A) IN GENERAL.—The weighted child count used to determine a county's allocation under this section is the larger of the two amounts determined under clause (i) or (ii), as follows:

[(i) BY PERCENTAGE OF CHILDREN.—This amount is determined by adding—

[(I) the number of children determined under section 1124(c) for that county constituting up to 12.20 percent, inclusive, of the county's total population aged 5 to 17, inclusive, multiplied by 1.0;

[(II) the number of such children constituting more than 12.20 percent, but not more than 17.70 percent, of such population, multiplied by 1.75;

[(III) the number of such children constituting more than 17.70 percent, but not more than 22.80 percent, of such population, multiplied by 2.5;

[(IV) the number of such children constituting more than 22.80 percent, but not more than 29.70 percent, of such population, multiplied by 3.25; and

[(V) the number of such children constituting more than 29.70 percent, of such population, multiplied by 4.0.

[(ii) BY NUMBER OF CHILDREN.—This amount is determined by adding—

[(I) the number of children determined under section 1124(c) constituting up to 1,917, inclusive, of the county's total population aged 5 to 17, inclusive, multiplied by 1.0;

[(II) the number of such children between 1,918 and 5,938, inclusive, in such population, multiplied by 1.5;

[(III) the number of such children between 5,939 and 20,199, inclusive, in such population, multiplied by 2.0;

[(IV) the number of such children between 20,200 and 77,999, inclusive, in such population, multiplied by 2.5; and

[(V) the number of such children in excess of 77,999 in such population, multiplied by 3.0.

[(B) PUERTO RICO.—Notwithstanding subparagraph (A), the weighting factor for Puerto Rico under this paragraph shall not be greater than the total number of children counted under subsection 1124(c) multiplied by 1.72.

[(2) FISCAL YEARS AFTER 1999.—

[(A) IN GENERAL.—For each fiscal year beginning with fiscal year 1999 for which the Secretary uses local educational agency data, the weighted child count used to determine a local educational agency's grant under this section is the larger of the two amounts determined under clauses (i) and (ii), as follows:

[(i) BY PERCENTAGE OF CHILDREN.—This amount is determined by adding—

[(I) the number of children determined under section 1124(c) for that local educational agency constituting up to 14.265 percent, inclusive, of the agency's total population aged 5 to 17, inclusive, multiplied by 1.0;

[(II) the number of such children constituting more than 14.265 percent, but not more than 21.553 percent, of such population, multiplied by 1.75;

[(III) the number of such children constituting more than 21.553 percent, but not more than 29.223 percent, of such population, multiplied by 2.5;

[(IV) the number of such children constituting more than 29.223 percent, but not more than 36.538 percent, of such population, multiplied by 3.25; and

[(V) the number of such children constituting more than 36,538 percent of such population, multiplied by 4.0.

[(ii) BY NUMBER OF CHILDREN.—This amount is determined by adding—

[(I) the number of children determined under section 1124(c) constituting up to 575, inclusive, of the agency's total population aged 5 to 17, inclusive, multiplied by 1.0;

[(II) the number of such children between 576 and 1,870, inclusive, in such population, multiplied by 1.5;

[(III) the number of such children between 1,871 and 6,910, inclusive, in such population, multiplied by 2.0;

【(IV) the number of such children between 6,911 and 42,000, inclusive, in such population, multiplied by 2.5; and

【(V) the number of such children in excess of 42,000 in such population, multiplied by 3.0.

【(B) PUERTO RICO.—Notwithstanding subparagraph (A), the weighting factor for Puerto Rico under this paragraph shall not be greater than the total number of children counted under section 1124(c) multiplied by 1.72.

【(d) LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY ALLOCATIONS.—For fiscal years 1995 through 1998, grants shall be calculated by the Secretary on the basis of the number of children counted under section 1124 for counties, and State educational agencies shall suballocate county amounts to local educational agencies, in accordance with regulations published by the Secretary. In any State in which a large number of local educational agencies overlap county boundaries, the State educational agency may apply to the Secretary for authority during any particular fiscal year to make the allocations under this part (other than section 1124A) directly to local educational agencies without regard to the counties. If the Secretary approves an application of a State educational agency for a particular year under this subparagraph, the State educational agency shall provide assurances that—

【(1) such allocations will be made using precisely the same factors for determining a grant as are used under this part;

【(2) such allocations will be made using alternative data approved by the Secretary that the State determines best reflects the distribution of children in poor families and is adjusted to be equivalent in proportion to the number of children determined in accordance with section 1124(c); or

【(3) such allocations will be made using data that the State educational agency submits to the Secretary for approval that more accurately target poverty.

In addition, the State educational agency shall provide assurances that a procedure will be established through which local educational agencies dissatisfied with the determinations made by the State educational agency may appeal directly to the Secretary for a final determination. For fiscal years beginning in 1999, for each local educational agency serving an area with a total population of at least 20,000 persons, the grant under this section shall be the amount determined by the Secretary. For local educational agencies serving areas with total populations of fewer than 20,000 persons, the State educational agency may either (1) distribute to such local educational agencies grants under this section equal to the amounts determined by the Secretary; or (2) use an alternative method, approved by the Secretary, to distribute the share of the State's total grants under this section that is based on local educational agencies with total populations of fewer than 20,000 persons. Such an alternative method of distributing grants under this section among a State's local educational agencies serving areas with total populations of fewer than 20,000 persons shall be based upon population data that the State educational agency determines best reflects the current distribution of children in poor families among the State's local educational agencies serving areas with total populations of fewer than 20,000 persons. If a local educational agency serving an area with total populations of less than 20,000 persons is dissatisfied with the determination of its grant by the State educational agency, then the local educational agency may appeal this determination to the Secretary. The Secretary shall respond to this appeal within 45 days of receipt.

[(e) STATE MINIMUM.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this section or subsection (b)(1) of (d) of section 1122, from the total amount available for any fiscal year to carry out this section, each State shall be allotted at least the lesser of—

[(1) 0.25 percent of total appropriations; or

[(2) the average of—

[(A) one-quarter of 1 percent of the total amount available to carry out this section; and

[(B) 150 percent of the national average grant under this section per child described in section 1124(c), without application of a weighting factor, multiplied by the State's total number of children described in section 1124(c), without application of a weighting factor.

[SEC. 1125A. [20 U.S.C. 6336] EDUCATION FINANCE INCENTIVE PROGRAM.

[(a) GRANTS.—The Secretary is authorized to make grants to States from the sums appropriated pursuant to subsection (e) to carry out the purposes of this part.

[(b) DISTRIBUTION BASED UPON FISCAL EFFORT AND EQUITY.—

[(1) IN GENERAL.—Funds appropriated pursuant to subsection (e) shall be allotted to each State based upon the number of children aged 5 to 17, inclusive, of such State multiplied by the product of—

[(A) such State's effort factor described in paragraph (2); multiplied by

except that for each fiscal year no State shall receive less than one-quarter of 1 percent of the total amount appropriated pursuant to subsection (e) for such fiscal year.

[(2) EFFORT FACTOR.—(A) Except as provided in subparagraph (b), the effort factor for a State shall be determined in accordance with the succeeding sentence, except that such factor shall not be less than .95 nor greater than 1.05. The effort factor determined under this sentence shall be a fraction the numerator of which is the product of the three-year average per-pupil expenditure in the State multiplied by the three-year average per capita income in the United States and the denominator of which is the product of the three-year average per capita income in such State multiplied by the three-year average per-pupil expenditure in the United States.

[(B) The effort factor for the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico shall be equal to the lowest effort factor calculated under subparagraph (A) for any State.

[(3) EQUITY FACTOR.—(A)(i) Except as provided in subparagraph (B), the Secretary shall determine the equity factor under this section for each State in accordance with clause (ii).

[(ii)(I) For each State, the Secretary shall compute a weighted coefficient of variation for the per-pupil expenditures of local educational agencies in accordance with subclauses (II), (III), (IV), and (V).

[(II) In computing coefficients of variation, the Secretary shall weigh the variation between per-pupil expenditures in each local educational agency and the average per-pupil expenditures in the State according to the number of pupils in the local educational agency.

[(III) In determining the number of pupils under this paragraph in each local educational agency and each State, the Secretary shall multiply the number of children from low-income families by 1.4 under this paragraph.

[(IV) In computing coefficients of variation, the Secretary shall include only those local educational agencies with an enrollment of more than 200 students.

[(V) The Secretary shall compute separate coefficients of variation for elementary, secondary, and unified local educational agencies and shall combine such coefficients into a single weighted average coefficient for the State by multiplying each coefficient by the total enrollments of the local educational agencies in each group, adding such products, and dividing such sum by the total enrollments of the local educational agencies in the State.

[(B) The equity factor for a State that meets the disparity standard described in section 222.64 of title 34, Code of Federal Regulations (as such section was in effect on the day preceding the date of enactment of this Act) or a State with only one local educational agency shall be not greater than .10.

[(C) The Secretary may revise each State's equity factor as necessary based on the advice of independent education finance scholars to reflect other need-based costs of local educational agencies in addition to low-income student enrollment, such as differing geographic costs, costs associated with students with disabilities, children with limited-English proficiency or other meaningful educational needs, which deserve additional support. In addition and also with the advice of independent education finance scholars, the Secretary may revise each State's equity factor to incorporate other valid and accepted methods to achieve adequacy of educational opportunity that may not be reflected in a coefficient of variation method.

[(c) USE OF FUNDS.—All funds awarded to each State under this section shall be allocated to local educational agencies and schools on a basis consistent with the distribution of other funds to such agencies and schools under sections 1124, 1124A, and 1125 to carry out activities under this part.

[(d) MAINTENANCE OF EFFORT.—

[(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), a State is entitled to receive its full allotment of funds under this part for any fiscal year if the Secretary finds that either the combined fiscal effort per student or the aggregate expenditures within the State with respect to the provision of free public education for the fiscal year preceding the fiscal year for which the determination is made was not less than 90 percent of such combined fiscal effort or aggregate expenditures for the second fiscal year preceding the fiscal year for which the determination is made.

[(2) REDUCTION OF FUNDS.—The Secretary shall reduce the amount of the funds awarded to any State under this section in any fiscal year in the exact proportion to which the State fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (1) by falling below 90 percent of both the fiscal effort per student and aggregate expenditures (using the measure most favorable to the State), and no such lesser amount shall be used for computing the effort required under paragraph (1) for subsequent years.

[(3) WAIVERS.—The Secretary may waive, for one fiscal year only, the requirements of this subsection if the Secretary determines that such a waiver would be equitable due to exceptional or uncontrollable circumstances such as a natural disaster or a precipitous and unforeseen decline in the financial resources of the State.

[(e) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—For the purpose of making grants under this section, there are authorized to be appropriated $200,000,000 for fiscal year 1996 and such sums as may be necessary for each of the three succeeding fiscal years.

[(a) ALLOCATIONS FOR NEGLECTED CHILDREN.—

[(1) IN GENERAL.—If a State educational agency determines that a local educational agency in the State is unable or unwilling to provide for the special educational needs of children who are living in institutions for neglected children as described in subparagraph 1124(c)(1)(C), the State educational agency shall, if such agency assumes responsibility for the special educational needs of such children, receive the portion of such local educational agency's allocation under sections 1124, 1124A, and 1125 that is attributable to such children.

[(2) SPECIAL RULE.—If the State educational agency does not assume such responsibility, any other State or local public agency that does assume such responsibility shall receive that portion of the local educational agency's allocation.

[(b) ALLOCATIONS AMONG LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.—The State educational agency may allocate the amounts of grants under sections 1124, 1124A, and 1125 among the affected local educational agencies—

[(1) if two or more local educational agencies serve, in whole or in part, the same geographical area;

[(2) if a local educational agency provides free public educational for children who reside in the school district of another local educational agency; or

[(3) to reflect the merger, creation, or change of boundaries of one or more local educational agencies.

[(c) REALLOCATION.—If a State educational agency determines that the amount of a grant a local educational agency would receive under sections 1124, 1124A, and 1125 is more than such local agency will use, the State educational agency shall make the excess amount available to other local educational agencies in the State that need additional funds in accordance with criteria established by the State educational agency.

[SEC. 1127. [20 U.S.C. 6338] CARRYOVER AND WAIVER.

[(a) LIMITATION ON CARRYOVER.—Notwithstanding section 421 of the General Education Provisions Act or any other provision of law, not more than 15 percent of the funds allocated to a local educational agency for any fiscal year under this subpart (but not including funds received through any reallocation under this subpart) may remain available for obligation by such agency for one additional fiscal year.

[(b) WAIVER.—A State educational agency may, once every three years, waive the percentage limitation in subsection (a) if—

[(1) the agency determines that the request of a local educational agency is reasonable and necessary; or

[(2) supplemental appropriations for this subpart become available.

[(c) EXCLUSION.—The percentage limitation under subsection (a) shall not apply to any local education agency that receives less than $50,000 under this subpart for any fiscal year.]

Subpart 2—Allocations

SEC. 1121. GRANTS FOR THE OUTLYING AREAS AND THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

(a) RESERVATION OF FUNDS.—From the amount appropriated for any fiscal year under section 1002(a), the Secretary shall reserve a total of 1 percent to provide assistance to—

(1) the outlying areas on the basis of their respective need for such assistance according to such criteria as the Secretary determines will best carry out the purpose of this part; and

(2) the Secretary of the Interior in the amount necessary to make payments pursuant to subsection (c).

(b) ASSISTANCE TO THE OUTLYING AREAS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—From amounts made available under subsection (a)(1) in each fiscal year the Secretary shall make grants to local educational agencies in the outlying areas.

The Secretary shall award such grants according to the recommendations of the Pacific Region Educational Laboratory which shall conduct a competition for such grants.*

(B) USES.—Except as provided in subparagraph (C), grant funds awarded under this paragraph only may be used—

(i) for programs described in this Act, including teacher training, curriculum development, instructional materials, or general school improvement and reform; and

(ii) to provide direct educational services.

(C) ADMINISTRATIVE COSTS.—The Secretary may provide 5 percent of the amount made available for grants under this paragraph to the Pacific Region Educational Laboratory to pay the administrative costs of the Pacific Region Educational Laboratory regarding activities assisted under this paragraph.

(c) ALLOTMENT TO THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The amount reserved for payments to the Secretary of the Interior under subsection (a)(2) for any fiscal year shall be, as determined pursuant to criteria established by the Secretary, the amount necessary to meet the special educational needs of—

(A) Indian children on reservations served by elementary schools and secondary schools for Indian children operated or supported by the Department of the Interior; and

(B) out-of-State Indian children in elementary schools and secondary schools in local educational agencies under special contracts with the Department of the Interior.

(2) PAYMENTS.—From the amount reserved for payments to the Secretary of the Interior under subsection (a)(2), the Secretary of the Interior shall make payments to local educational agencies, upon such terms as the Secretary determines will best carry out the purposes of this part, with respect to out-of-State Indian children described in paragraph (1)(B). The amount of such payment may not exceed, for each such child, the greater of—

(A) 40 percent of the average per-pupil expenditure in the State in which the agency is located; or

(B) 48 percent of such expenditure in the United States.

SEC. 1122. AMOUNTS FOR BASIC GRANTS, CONCENTRATION GRANTS, AND TARGETED GRANTS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—For each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2008—

(1) the amount appropriated to carry out this part that is less than or equal to the amount appropriated to carry out section 1124 for fiscal year 2001, shall be allocated in accordance with section 1124;

(2) the amount appropriated to carry out this part that is not used under paragraph (1) that equals the amount appropriated to carry out section 1124A for fiscal year 2001, shall be allocated in accordance with section 1124A; and

(3) any amount appropriated to carry out this part for the fiscal year for which the determination is made that is not used to carry out paragraphs (1) and (2) shall be allocated in accordance with section 1125.

(b) ADJUSTMENTS WHERE NECESSITATED BY APPROPRIATIONS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—If the sums made available under this part for any fiscal year are insufficient to pay the full amounts that all local educational agencies in States are eligible to receive under sections 1124, 1124A, and 1125 for such year, the Secretary shall ratably reduce the allocations to such local educational agencies, subject to subsections (c) and (d).

(2) ADDITIONAL FUNDS.—If additional funds become available for making payments under sections 1124, 1124A, and 1125 for such fiscal year, allocations that were reduced under paragraph (1) shall be increased on the same basis as the allocations were reduced.

(c) HOLD-HARMLESS AMOUNTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—For each fiscal year the amount made available to each local educational agency under each of sections 1124, 1124A, and 1125 shall be not less than—

(A) 95 percent of the amount made available to the local educational agency under each such section for the preceding fiscal year if the number of children counted for grants under section 1124 is not less than 30 percent of the total number of children aged 5 to 17 years, inclusive, served by the local educational agency;

(B) 90 percent of the amount made available to the local educational agency under each such section for the preceding fiscal year if such percentage is not less than 15 percent and not more than 30 percent; and

(C) 85 percent of the amount made available to the local educational agency under each such section for the preceding fiscal year if such percentage is less than 15 percent.

(2) SPECIAL RULES.—If sufficient funds are appropriated, the hold-harmless amounts described in paragraph (1) shall be paid to all local educational agencies that received grants under section 1124, 1124A, or 1125 for the preceding fiscal year, regardless of whether the local educational agency meets the minimum eligibility criteria provided in section 1124(b), 1124A(a)(1)(A), or 1125(a), respectively, except that a local educational agency that does not meet such minimum eligibility criteria for 5 consecutive years shall no longer be eligible to receive a hold-harmless amount under this subsection.

(3) COUNTY CALCULATION BASIS.—For any fiscal year for which the Secretary calculates grants on the basis of population data for counties, the Secretary shall apply the hold-homeless percentages in paragraphs (1) and (2) to counties, and if the Secretary's allocation for a county is not sufficient to meet the hold-harmless requirements of this subsection for every local educational agency within that county, then the State educational agency shall reallocate funds proportionately from all other local educational agencies in the State that receive funds for the fiscal year in excess of the hold-harmless amounts specified in this paragraph.

(d) RATABLE REDUCTIONS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—If the sums made available under this part for any fiscal year are insufficient to pay the full amounts that all States are eligible to receive under subsection (c) for such year, the Secretary shall ratably reduce such amounts for such year.

(2) ADDITIONAL FUNDS.—If additional funds become available for making payments under subsection (c) for such fiscal year, amounts that were reduced under paragraph (1) shall be increased on the same basis as such amounts were reduced.

SEC. 1123. DEFINITIONS.

In this subpart:

(1) FREELY ASSOCIATED STATES.—The term “Freely Associated States” means the Republic of the Marshall Islands, the Federated States of Micronesia, and the Republic of Palau.

(2) OUTLYING AREAS.—The term “outlying areas” means the United States Virgin Islands, Guam, American Samoa, and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands.

(3) STATE.—The term “State” means each of the several States of the United States, the District of Columbia, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

SEC. 1124. BASIC GRANTS TO LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.

(a) AMOUNT OF GRANTS.—

(1) GRANTS FOR LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES AND PUERTO RICO.—Except as provided in paragraph (4) and in section 1126, the grant that a local educational agency is eligible to receive under this section for a fiscal year is the amount determined by multiplying—

(A) the number of children counted under subsection (c); and

(B) 40 percent of the average per-pupil expenditure in the State, except that the amount determined under this subparagraph shall not be less than 32 percent, and not more than 48 percent, of the average per-pupil expenditure in the United States.

(2) CALCULATION OF GRANTS.—

(A) ALLOCATIONS TO LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.—The Secretary shall calculate grants under this section on the basis of the number of children counted under subsection (c) for local educational agencies, unless the Secretary and the Secretary of Commerce determine that some or all of those data are unreliable or that their use would be otherwise inappropriate, in which case—

(i) the Secretary and the Secretary of Commerce shall publicly disclose the reasons for their determination in detail; and

(ii) paragraph (3) shall apply.

(B) ALLOCATIONS TO LARGE AND SMALL LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.—

(i) LARGE LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.—In the case of an allocation under this section to a large local educational agency, the amount of the grant under this section for the large local educational agency shall be the amount determined under paragraph (1).

(ii) SMALL LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.—

(I) IN GENERAL.—In the case of an allocation under this section to a small local educational agency the State educational agency may—

(aa) distribute grants under this section in amounts determined by the Secretary under paragraph (1); or

(bb) use an alternative method approved by the Secretary to distribute the portion of the State’s total grants under this section that is based on those small local educational agencies.

(II) ALTERNATIVE METHOD.—An alternative method under subclause (I)(bb) shall be based on population data that the State educational agency determines best reflect the current distribution of children in poor families among the State’s small local educational agencies that meet the minimum number of children to qualify described in subsection (b).

(III) APPEAL.—If a small local educational agency is dissatisfied with the determination of the amount of its grant by the State educational agency under subclause (I)(bb), the small local educational agency may appeal the determination to the Secretary, who shall respond within 45 days of receiving the appeal.

(iii) DEFINITIONS.—In this subparagraph—

(I) the term “large local educational agency” means a local educational agency serving a school district with a total population of 20,000 or more; and

(II) the term “small local educational agency” means a local educational agency serving a school district with a total population of less than 20,000.

(3) ALLOCATIONS TO COUNTIES.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—For any fiscal year to which this paragraph applies, the Secretary shall calculate grants under this section on the basis of the number of children counted under section 1124(c) for counties, and State educational agencies shall allocate county amounts to local educational agencies, in accordance with regulations promulgated by the Secretary.

(B) APPLICATION.—In any State in which a large number of local educational agencies overlap county boundaries, or for which the State believes the State has data that would better target funds than allocating the funds by county, the State educational agency may apply to the Secretary for authority to make the allocations under this part for a particular fiscal year directly to local educational agencies without regard to counties.

(C) ALLOCATIONS TO LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.—If the Secretary approves its application under subparagraph (B), the State educational agency shall provide the Secretary an assurance that the allocations will be made—

(i) using precisely the same factors for determining a grant as are used under this section; or

(ii) using data that the State educational agency submits to the Secretary for approval that more accurately target poverty.

(D) APPEAL.—The State educational agency shall provide the Secretary an assurance that a procedure is or will be established through which local educational agencies that are dissatisfied with determinations under subparagraph (B) may appeal directly to the Secretary for a final determination.

(4) PUERTO RICO.—For each fiscal year, the Secretary shall determine the percentage which the average per-pupil expenditure in the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico is of the lowest average per-pupil expenditure of any of the 50 States. The grant which the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico shall be eligible to receive under this section for a fiscal year shall be the amount arrived at by multiplying the number of children counted under subsection (c) for the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico by the product of—

(A) the percentage determined under the preceding sentence; and

(B) 32 percent of the average per-pupil expenditure in the United States.

(b) MINIMUM NUMBER OF CHILDREN TO QUALIFY.—A local educational agency is eligible for a basic grant under this section for any fiscal year only if the number of children counted under subsection (c) for that agency is—

(1) 10 or more; and

(2) more than 2 percent of the total school-age population in the school district of the local educational agency.

(c) CHILDREN TO BE COUNTED.—

(1) CATEGORIES OF CHILDREN.—The number of children to be counted for purposes of this section is the aggregate of—

(A) the number of children aged 5 to 17, inclusive, in the school district of the local educational agency from families below the poverty level as determined under paragraphs (2) and (3);

(B) the number of children aged 5 to 17, inclusive, in the school district of such agency from families above the poverty level as determined under paragraph (4); and

(C) the number of children determined under paragraph (4) for the preceding year (as described in that paragraph, or for the second preceding year, as the Secretary finds appropriate) aged 5 to 17, inclusive, in the school district of such agency in institutions for neglected and delinquent children and youth (other than such institutions operated by the United States), but not counted pursuant to chapter 1 of subpart 1 of part D for the purposes of a grant to a State agency, or being supported in foster homes with public funds.

(2) DETERMINATION OF NUMBER OF CHILDREN.—For the purposes of this section, the Secretary shall determine the number of children aged 5 to 17, inclusive, from families below the poverty level on the basis of the most recent satisfactory data, described in paragraph (3), available from the Department of Commerce. The District of Columbia and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico shall be treated as individual local educational agencies. If a local educational agency contains 2 or more counties in their entirety, then each county shall be treated as if such county were a separate local educational agency for purposes of calculating grants under this part. The total of grants for such counties shall be allocated to such a local educational agency, which local educational agency shall distribute to schools in each county within such agency a share of the local educational agency's total grant that is no less than the county's share of the population counts used to calculate the local educational agency's grant.

(3) POPULATION UPDATES.—In fiscal year 2001 and every 2 years thereafter, the Secretary shall use updated data on the number of children, aged 5 to 17, inclusive, from families below the poverty level for counties or local educational agencies, published by the Department of Commerce, unless the Secretary and the Secretary of Commerce determine that use of the updated population data would be inappropriate or unreliable. If the Secretary and the Secretary of Commerce determine that some or all of the data referred to in this paragraph are inappropriate or unreliable, the Secretary and the Secretary of Commerce shall publicly disclose their reasons. In determining the families which are below the poverty level, the Secretary shall utilize the criteria of poverty used by the Bureau of the Census in compiling the most recent decennial census, in such form as those criteria have been updated by increases in the Consumer Price Index for all urban consumers, published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

(4) OTHER CHILDREN TO BE COUNTED.—For purposes of this section, the Secretary shall determine the number of children aged 5 to 17, inclusive, from families above the poverty level on the basis of the number of such children from families receiving an annual income, in excess of the current criteria of poverty, from payments under a State program funded under part A of title IV of the Social Security Act. In making such determinations the Secretary shall utilize the criteria of poverty used by the Bureau of the Census in compiling the most recent decennial census for a family of 4 in such form as those criteria have been updated by increases in the Consumer Price Index for all urban consumers, published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The Secretary shall determine the number of such children and the number of children aged 5 through 17 living in institutions for neglected or delinquent children, or being supported in foster homes with public funds, on the basis of the caseload data for the month of October of the preceding fiscal year (using, in the case of children described in the preceding sentence, the criteria of poverty and the form of such criteria required by such sentence which were determined for the calendar year preceding such month of October) or, to the extent that such data are not available to the Secretary before January of the calendar year in which the Secretary's determination is made, then on the basis of the most recent reliable data available to the Secretary at the time of such determination. The Secretary of Health and Human Services shall collect and transmit the information required by this subparagraph to the Secretary not later than January 1 of each year. For the purpose of this section, the Secretary shall consider all children who are in correctional institutions to be living in institutions for delinquent children.

(5) ESTIMATE.—When requested by the Secretary, the Secretary of Commerce shall make a special updated estimate of the number of children of such ages who are from families below the poverty level (as determined under paragraph (2)) in each school district, and the Secretary is authorized to pay (either in advance or by way of reimbursement) the Secretary of Commerce the cost of making this special estimate. The Secretary of Commerce shall give consideration to any request of the chief executive of a State for the collection of additional census information.

(d) STATE MINIMUM.—Notwithstanding section 1122, the aggregate amount allotted for all local educational agencies within a State may not be less than the lesser of—

(1) 0.25 percent of the total amount made available to carry out this section for such fiscal year; or

(2) the average of—

(A) 0.25 percent of the total amount made available to carry out this section for such fiscal year; and

(B) the number of children in such State counted under subsection (c) in the fiscal year multiplied by 150 percent of the national average per-pupil payment made with funds available under this section for that fiscal year.

SEC. 1124A. CONCENTRATION GRANTS TO LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.

(a) ELIGIBILITY FOR AND AMOUNT OF GRANTS.—

(1) ELIGIBILITY.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Except as otherwise provided in this paragraph, each local educational agency in a State that is eligible for a grant under section 1124 for any fiscal year is eligible for an additional grant under this section for that fiscal year if the number of children counted under section 1124(c) who are served by the agency exceeds—

(i) 6,500; or

(ii) 15 percent of the total number of children aged 5 through 17 served by the agency.

(B) MINIMUM.—Notwithstanding section 1122, no State shall receive under this section an amount that is less than the lesser of—

(i) 0.25 percent of the total amount made available to carry out this section for such fiscal year; or

(ii) the average of—

(I) 0.25 percent of the sums available to carry out this section for such fiscal year; and

(II) the greater of—

(aa) $340,000; or

(bb) the number of children in such State counted for purposes of this section in that fiscal year multiplied by 150 percent of the national average per-pupil payment made with funds available under this section for that fiscal year.

(2) DETERMINATION.—For each county or local educational agency eligible to receive an additional grant under this section for any fiscal year the Secretary shall determine the product of—

(A) the number of children counted under section 1124(c) for that fiscal year; and

(B) the amount in section 1124(a)(1)(B) for all States except the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, and the amount in section 1124(a)(3) for the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

(3) AMOUNT.—The amount of the additional grant for which an eligible local educational agency or county is eligible under this section for any fiscal year shall be an amount that bears the same ratio to the amount available to carry out this section for that fiscal year as the product determined under paragraph (2) for such local educational agency for that fiscal year bears to the sum of such products for all local educational agencies in the United States for that fiscal year.

(4) LOCAL ALLOCATIONS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Grant amounts under this section shall be calculated in the same manner as grant amounts are calculated under section 1124(a) (2) and (3).

(B) SPECIAL RULE.—For any fiscal year for which the Secretary allocates funds under this section on the basis of counties, a State may reserve not more than 2 percent of the amount made available to the State under this section for any fiscal year to make grants to local educational agencies that meet the criteria in paragraph (1)(A) (i) or (ii) but that are in ineligible counties.

(b) RATABLE REDUCTION RULE.—If the sums available under subsection (a) for any fiscal year for making payments under this section are not sufficient to pay in full the total amounts which all States are eligible to receive under subsection (a) for such fiscal year, the maximum amounts that all States are eligible to receive under subsection (a) for such fiscal year shall be ratably reduced. In the case that additional funds become available for making such payments for any fiscal year during which the preceding sentence is applicable, such reduced amounts shall be increased on the same basis as they were reduced.

(c) STATES RECEIVING 0.25 PERCENT OR LESS.—In States that receive 0.25 percent or less of the total amount made available to carry out this section for a fiscal year, the State educational agency shall allocate such funds among the local educational agencies in the State—

(1) in accordance with paragraphs (2) and (4) of subsection (a); or

(2) based on their respective concentrations and numbers of children counted under section 1124(c), except that only those local educational agencies with concentrations or numbers of children counted under section 1124(c) that exceed the statewide average percentage of such children or the statewide average number of such children shall receive any funds on the basis of this paragraph.

SEC. 1125. TARGETED GRANTS TO LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.

(a) ELIGIBILITY OF LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—A local educational agency in a State is eligible to receive a targeted grant under this section for any fiscal year if—

(A) the number of children in the local educational agency counted under section 1124(c), before application of the weighted child count described in subsection (c), is at least 10; and

(B) if the number of children counted for grants under section 1124(c), before application of the weighted child count described in subsection (c), is at least 5 percent of the total number of children aged 5 to 17 years, inclusive, in the school district of the local educational agency.

(2) SPECIAL RULE.—For any fiscal year for which the Secretary allocates funds under this section on the basis of counties, funds made available as a result of applying this subsection shall be reallocated by the State educational agency to other eligible local educational agencies in the State in proportion to the distribution of other funds under this section.

(b) GRANTS FOR LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES, THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, AND THE COMMONWEALTH OF PUERTO RICO.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The amount of the grant that a local educational agency in a State (other than the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico) is eligible to receive under this section for any fiscal year shall be the product of—

(b) DISTRIBUTION BASED UPON FISCAL EFFORT AND EQUITY.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in subparagraph (B), funds appropriated pursuant to subsection (e) shall be allotted to each State based upon the number of children counted under section 1124(c) in such State multiplied by the product of—

- (i) such State's effort factor described in paragraph (2); multiplied by
- (ii) 1.30 minus such State's equity factor described in paragraph (3).

(B) MINIMUM.—For each fiscal year no State shall receive under this section less than 0.5 percent of the total amount appropriated under subsection (e) for the fiscal year.

(2) EFFORT FACTOR.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in subparagraph (B), the effort factor for a State shall be determined in accordance with the succeeding sentence, except that such factor shall not be less than 0.95 nor greater than 1.05. The effort factor determined under this sentence shall be a fraction the numerator of which is the product of the 3-year average per-pupil expenditure in the State multiplied by the 3-year average per capita income in the United States and the denominator of which is the product of the 3-year average per capita income in such State multiplied by the 3-year average per-pupil expenditure in the United States.

(B) COMMONWEALTH OF PUERTO RICO.—The effort factor for the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico shall be equal to the lowest effort factor calculated under subparagraph (A) for any State.

(3) EQUITY FACTOR.—

(A) DETERMINATION.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in subparagraph (B), the Secretary shall determine the equity factor under this section for each State in accordance with clause (ii).

(ii) COMPUTATION.—

(I) IN GENERAL.—For each State, the Secretary shall compute a weighted coefficient of variation for the per-pupil expenditures of local educational agencies in accordance with subclauses (II), (III), and (IV).

(II) VARIATION.—In computing coefficients of variation, the Secretary shall weigh the variation between per-pupil expenditures in each local educational agency and the average per-pupil expenditures in the State according to the number of pupils served by the local educational agency.

(III) NUMBER OF PUPILS.—In determining the number of pupils under this paragraph served by each local educational agency and in each State, the Secretary shall multiply the number of children from low-income families by a factor of 1.4.

(IV) ENROLLMENT REQUIREMENT.—In computing coefficients of variation, the Secretary shall include only those local educational agencies with an enrollment of more than 200 students.

(B) SPECIAL RULE.—The equity factor for a State that meets the disparity standard described in section 222.162 of title 34, Code of Federal Regulations (as such section was in effect on the day preceding the date of enactment of the Better Education for Students and Teachers Act) or a State with only 1 local educational agency shall be not greater than 0.10.

(C) REVISIONS.—The Secretary may revise each State's equity factor as necessary based on the advice of independent education finance scholars to reflect other need-based costs of local educational agencies in addition to low-income student enrollment, such as differing geographic costs, costs associated with students with disabilities, children with limited English-proficiency or other meaningful educational needs, which deserve additional support. In addition, after obtaining the advice of independent education finance scholars, the Secretary may revise each State's equity factor to incorporate other valid and accepted methods to achieve adequacy of educational opportunity that may not be reflected in a coefficient of variation method.

(c) USE OF FUNDS.—All funds awarded to each State under this section shall be allocated to local educational agencies and schools on a basis consistent with the distribution of other funds to such agencies and schools under sections 1124, 1124A, and 1125 to carry out activities under this part.

(2) REDUCTION OF FUNDS.—The Secretary shall reduce the amount of funds awarded to any State under this section in any fiscal year in the exact proportion to which the State fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (1) by falling below 90 percent of both the fiscal effort per student and aggregate expenditures (using the measure most favorable to the State), and no such lesser amount shall be used for computing the effort required under paragraph (1) for subsequent years.

(3) WAIVERS.—The Secretary may waive, for 1 fiscal year only, the requirements of this subsection if the Secretary determines that such a waiver would be equitable due to exceptional or uncontrollable circumstances such as a natural disaster or a precipitous and unforeseen decline in the financial resources of the State.

(e) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $200,000,000 for fiscal year 2002 and such sums as may be necessary for each of the 6 succeeding fiscal years.

(2) SPECIAL RULE.—If the State educational agency does not assume such responsibility, any other State or local public agency that does assume such responsibility shall receive that portion of the local educational agency's allocation.

(b) ALLOCATIONS AMONG LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.—The State educational agency may allocate the amounts of grants under sections 1124, 1124A, and 1125 among the affected local educational agencies—

(2) if a local educational agency provides free public education for children who reside in the school district of another local educational agency; or

(3) to reflect the merger, creation, or change of boundaries of 1 or more local educational agencies.

(c) REALLOCATION.—If a State educational agency determines that the amount of a grant a local educational agency would receive under sections 1124, 1124A, and 1125 is more than such local educational agency will use, the State educational agency shall make the excess amount available to other local educational agencies in the State that need additional funds in accordance with criteria established by the State educational agency.

SEC. 1127. CARRYOVER AND WAIVER.

(a) LIMITATION ON CARRYOVER.—Notwithstanding section 421 of the General Education Provisions Act or any other provision of law, not more than 15 percent of the funds allocated to a local educational agency for any fiscal year under this subpart (but not including funds received through any reallocation under this subpart) may remain available for obligation by such agency for one additional fiscal year.

- (2) supplemental appropriations for this subpart become available.

(c) EXCLUSION.—The percentage limitation under subsection (a) shall not apply to any local educational agency that receives less than $50,000 under this subpart for any fiscal year.

PART D—PREVENTION AND INTERVENTION PROGRAMS FOR CHILDREN AND YOUTH WHO ARE NEGLECTED, DELINQUENT, OR AT RISK OF DROPPING OUT

[SEC. 1401. [20 U.S.C. 6421] FINDINGS; PURPOSE; PROGRAM AUTHORIZED.

- [(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:
 - [(1) A large percentage of youth in the juvenile justice system have poor academic achievement, are a year or more behind grade level, and have dropped out of school.
 - [(2) There is a strong correlation between academic failure and involvement in delinquent activities.
 - [(3) Preventing students from dropping out of local schools and addressing the educational needs of delinquent youth can help reduce the dropout rate and involvement in delinquent activities at the same time.
 - [(4) Many schools and correctional facilities fail to communicate regarding a youth’s academic needs and students often return to their home school ill-prepared to meet current curriculum requirements.
 - [(5) Schools are often reluctant to deal with youth returning from facilities and receive no funds to deal with the unique educational and other needs of such youth.
 - [(6) A continuing need exists for activities and programs to reduce the incidence of youth dropping out of school.
 - [(7) Federal dropout prevention programs have demonstrated effectiveness in keeping children and youth in school.
 - [(8) Pregnant and parenting teens are a high at-risk group for dropping out of school and should be targeted by dropout prevention programs.
 - [(9) Such youth need a strong dropout prevention program which provides such youth with high level skills and which provides supports to youth returning from correctional facilities in order to keep such youth in school.
- [(b) PURPOSE.—It is the purpose of this part—

[TITLE II—DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

[SEC. 2001. FINDINGS.

[The Congress finds as follows:

[(1) Reaching the National Education Goals, particularly the third, fourth, and fifth National Education Goals, requires a comprehensive educational reform strategy that involves parents, schools, government, communities, and other public and private organizations at all levels.

[(2) A crucial component of the strategy for achieving such goals is ensuring, through sustained and intensive high-quality professional development, that all teachers will provide challenging learning experiences in the core academic subjects for their students.

[(3) Decisionmaking as to what activities a State or local educational agency should undertake to improve teaching and learning are best made by individuals in the schools closest to the classroom and most knowledgeable about the needs of schools and students.

[(4) The potential positive impact of high-quality professional development is underscored by recent research findings that—

[(A) professional development must be focused on teaching and learning in order to improve the opportunities of all students to achieve higher standards;

[(B) effective professional development focuses on discipline-based knowledge and effective subject-specific pedagogical skills, involves teams of teachers, and, where appropriate, administrators and pupil services personnel, in a school and, through professional networks of teachers, and, where appropriate, teacher educators, administrators, pupil services personnel, and parents, is interactive and collaborative, motivates by its intrinsic content and relationship to practice, builds on experience and learning-by-doing, and becomes incorporated into the everyday life of the school;

[(C) professional development can dramatically improve classroom instruction and learning when teachers, and, where appropriate, administrators, pupil services personnel, and parents, are partners in the development and implementation of such professional development; and

[(D) new and innovative strategies for teaching to high standards will require time for teachers, outside of the time spent teaching, for instruction, practice, and collegial collaboration.

[(5) Special attention must be given in professional development activities to ensure that education professionals are knowledgeable of, and make use of, strategies for serving populations that historically have lacked access to equal opportunities for advanced learning and career advancement.

[(6) Professional development is often a victim of budget reductions in fiscally difficult times.

[(7) The Federal Government has a vital role in helping States and local educational agencies to make sustained and intensive high-quality professional development in the core academic subjects become an integral part of the elementary and secondary education system.

[(8) Professional development activities must prepare teachers, pupil services personnel, paraprofessionals and other staff in the collaborative skills needed to appropriately teach children with disabilities, in the core academic subjects.

[(9) Parental involvement is an important aspect of school reform and improvement. There is a need for special attention to ensure the effective involvement of parents in the education of their children. Professional development should include methods and strategies to better prepare teachers and, where appropriate, administrators, to enable parents to participate fully and effectively in their children's education.

[SEC. 2103. NATIONAL TEACHER TRAINING PROJECT.]

【(a) SHORT TITLE; FINDINGS; DEFINITIONS.—

【(1) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the “National Teacher Training Project Act of 1994”.

【(2) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds that—

【(A) teachers must be major players in educational reform in the United States;

【(B) teachers are isolated from their peers and have virtually no time during the school day to consult with other teachers;

【(C) there is a shortage of sustained, year-round professional development programs for teachers;

【(D) successful teaching methods are not adequately shared among teachers;

【(E) teachers are the best teachers of other teachers because practicing classroom teachers have experience that no outside consultant can match;

【(F) it is important for universities and schools to collaborate on teacher development programs if teaching and learning are to be improved;

【(G) pertinent research is not shared among teachers in a professional setting;

【(H) exemplary teachers should be recognized for their abilities and contributions and encouraged to refine their teaching methods;

【(I) each State should support a nationally based teacher training program, that is modeled after the National Writing Project, for teachers of early childhood education, and for teachers of core academic subjects including teachers of mathematics, science, English, civics and government, foreign languages, and arts;

【(J) the National Writing Project is a nationally recognized and honored nonprofit organization that recognizes there are teachers in every region of the United States who have developed successful methods for teaching writing and that such teachers can be trained and encouraged to train other teachers;

[TITLE III—TECHNOLOGY FOR EDUCATION

[SEC. 3101. SHORT TITLE.

[This title may be cited as the “Technology for Education Act of 1994”.

PART A—TECHNOLOGY FOR EDUCATION OF ALL STUDENTS

[SEC. 3111. FINDINGS.

[The Congress finds that—

[(1) technology can produce far greater opportunities for all students to learn to high standards, promote efficiency and effectiveness in education, and help propel our Nation’s school systems into very immediate and dramatic reform, without which our Nation will not meet the National Education Goals by the target year 2000;

[(2) the use of technology as a tool in the teaching and learning process is essential to the development and maintenance of a technologically literate citizenry and an internationally competitive workforce;

[(3) the acquisition and use of technology in education throughout the United States has been inhibited by—

[(A) the absence of Federal leadership;

[(B) the inability of many State and local educational agencies to invest in and support needed technologies;

[(C) the limited exposure of students and teachers to the power of technology as a cost-effective tool to improve student learning and achievement;

[(D) the lack of appropriate electrical and telephone connections in the classroom; and

[(E) the limited availability of appropriate technology-enhanced curriculum, instruction, professional development, and administrative support resources and services in the educational marketplace;

[(4) policies at the Federal, State, and local levels concerning technology in education must address disparities in the availability of technology to different groups of students, give priority to serving students in greatest need, and recognize that educational telecommunications and technology can address educational equalization concerns and school restructuring needs by providing universal access to high-quality teaching and programs, particularly in urban and rural areas;

[(5) the increasing use of new technologies and telecommunications systems in business has increased the gap between schooling and work force preparation, and underscores the need for technology policies at the Federal, State, tribal, and local levels that address preparation for school-to-work transitions;

[(6) technology can enhance the ongoing professional development of teachers and administrators by providing constant access to updated research in teaching and learning by means of telecommunications, and, through exposure to technology advancements, keep teachers and administrators excited and knowledgeable about unfolding opportunities for the classroom;

[(7) planned and creative uses of technology, combined with teachers adequately trained in the use of technology, can reshape our Nation's traditional method of providing education and empower teachers to create an environment in which students are challenged through rigorous, rich classroom instruction provided at a pace suited to each student's learning style, and in which students have increased opportunities to develop higher order thinking and technical skills;

[(8) schools need new ways of financing the acquisition and maintenance of educational technology;

[(9) the needs for educational technology differ from State to State;

[(10) technology can provide students, parents, teachers, other education professionals, communities, and industry with increased opportunities for partnerships and with increased access to information, instruction, and educational services in schools and other settings, including homes, libraries, pre-school and child-care facilities, adult and family education programs, and postsecondary institutions;

[(11) the Department, consistent with the overall national technology policy established by the President, must assume a vital leadership and coordinating role in developing the national vision and strategy to infuse advanced technology throughout all educational programs;

[(12) Federal support can ease the burden at the State and local levels by enabling the acquisition of advanced technology and initiating the development of teacher training and support as well as new educational products;

[(13) leadership at the Federal level should consider guidelines to ensure that educational technology is accessible to all users with maximum interoperability nationwide;

[(14) the rapidly changing nature of technology requires coordination and flexibility in Federal leadership; and

[(15) technology has the potential to assist and support the improvement of teaching and learning in schools and other settings.

[SEC. 3112. STATEMENT OF PURPOSE.

[The purpose of this part is to support a comprehensive system for the acquisition and use by elementary and secondary schools in the United States of technology and technology-enhanced curricula, instruction, and administrative support resources and services to improve the delivery of educational services. Such system shall include—

[(1) national leadership with respect to the need for, and the provision of, appropriate technology-enhanced curriculum, instruction, and administrative programs to improve learning in the United States, and to promote equal access for all students to educational opportunities in order to achieve the National Educational Goals by the year 2000;

[(2) funding mechanisms which will support the development, interconnection, implementation, improvement, and maintenance of an effective educational technology infrastructure, including activities undertaken by State and local educational agencies to promote and provide equipment, training for teachers and school library and media personnel, and technical support;

[(3) support for technical assistance, professional development, information and resource dissemination, in order to help States, local educational agencies, teachers, school library and media personnel, and administrators successfully integrate technology into kindergarten through 12th grade classrooms and library media centers;

[(4) support for the development of educational and instructional programming in core subject areas, which shall address the National Education Goals;

[(5) strengthening and building upon, but not duplicating, existing telecommunications infrastructures dedicated to educational purposes;

[(6) development and evaluation of new and emerging educational technologies, telecommunications networks, and state-of-the-art educational technology products that promote the use of advanced technologies in the classroom and school library media center;

[(7) assessment data regarding state-of-the-art uses of technologies in United States education upon which commercial and noncommercial telecommunications entities, and governments can rely for decisionmaking about the need for, and provision of, appropriate technologies for education in the United States;

[(8) ensuring that uses of educational technology are consistent with the overall national technology policy established by the President, and ensuring that Federal technology-related policies and programs will facilitate the use of technology in education;

[(9) ensuring that activities supported under this part will form the basis for sound State and local decisions about investing in, sustaining, and expanding uses of technology in education;

[(10) establishing working guidelines to ensure maximum interoperability nationwide and ease of access for the emerging technologies so that no school system will be excluded from the technological revolution;

[(11) ensuring that, as technological advances are made, the educational uses of these advances are considered and their applications are developed; and

[(12) encouragement of collaborative relationships among the State agency for higher education, the State library administrative agency, the State telecommunications agency, and the State educational agency, in the area of technology support to strengthen the system of education.

PART C—EMERGENCY IMMIGRANT EDUCATION PROGRAM

SEC. 3301. PURPOSE.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds that—

(1) the education of our Nation's children and youth is one of the most sacred government responsibilities;

(2) local educational agencies have struggled to fund adequately education services;

(3) in the case of Plyler v. Doe, the Supreme Court held that States have a responsibility under the Equal Protection Clause of the Constitution to educate all children, regardless of immigration status; and

(4) immigration policy is solely a responsibility of the Federal Government.

(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this part is to assist eligible local educational agencies that experience unexpectedly large increases in their student population due to immigration to—

(1) provide high-quality instruction to immigrant children and youth; and

(2) help such children and youth—

(A) with their transition into American society; and

(B) meet the same challenging State performance standards expected of all children and youth.

SEC. 3302. STATE ADMINISTRATIVE COSTS.

For any fiscal year, a State educational agency may reserve not more than 1.5 percent (2 percent if the State educational agency distributes funds received under this part to local educational agencies on a competitive basis) of the amount allocated to such agency under section 3304 to pay the costs of performing such agency's administrative functions under this part.

SEC. 3303. WITHHOLDING.

Whenever the Secretary, after providing reasonable notice and opportunity for a hearing to any State educational agency, finds that there is a failure to meet the requirement of any provision of this part, the Secretary shall notify that agency that further payments will not be made to the agency under this part, or in the discretion of the Secretary, that the State educational agency shall not make further payments under this part to specified local educational agencies whose actions cause or are involved in such failure until the Secretary is satisfied that there is no longer any such failure to comply. Until the Secretary is so satisfied, no further payments shall be made to the State educational agency under this part, or payments by the State educational agency under this part shall be limited to local educational agencies whose actions did not cause or were not involved in the failure, as the case may be.

SEC. 3304. STATE ALLOCATIONS.

(a) PAYMENTS.—The Secretary shall, in accordance with the provisions of this section, make payments to State educational agencies for each of the fiscal years 2002 through 2008 for the purpose set forth in section 3301.

(b) ALLOCATIONS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in subsections (c) and (d), of the amount appropriated for each fiscal year for this part, each State participating in the program assisted under this part shall receive an allocation equal to the proportion of such State's number of immigrant children and youth who are enrolled in public elementary schools or secondary schools under the jurisdiction of each local educational agency described in paragraph (2) within such State, and in nonpublic elementary schools or secondary schools within the district served by each such local educational agency, relative to the total number of immigrant children and youth so enrolled in all the States participating in the program assisted under this part.

(2) ELIGIBLE LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.—The local educational agencies referred to in paragraph (1) are those local educational agencies in which the sum of the number of immigrant children and youth who are enrolled in public elementary schools or secondary schools under the jurisdiction of such agencies, and in nonpublic elementary schools or secondary schools within the districts served by such agencies, during the fiscal year for which the payments are to be made under this part, is equal to—

(A) at least 500; or

whichever number is less.

(c) DETERMINATIONS OF NUMBER OF CHILDREN AND YOUTH.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Determinations by the Secretary under this section for any period with respect to the number of immigrant children and youth shall be made on the basis of data or estimates provided to the Secretary by each State educational agency in accordance with criteria established by the Secretary, unless the Secretary determines, after notice and opportunity for a hearing to the affected State educational agency, that such data or estimates are clearly erroneous.

(2) SPECIAL RULE.—No such determination with respect to the number of immigrant children and youth shall operate because of an underestimate or overestimate to deprive any State educational agency of the allocation under this section that such State would otherwise have received had such determination been made on the basis of accurate data.

(d) REALLOCATION.—Whenever the Secretary determines that any amount of a payment made to a State under this part for a fiscal year will not be used by such State for carrying out the purpose for which the payment was made, the Secretary shall make such amount available for carrying out such purpose to one or more other States to the extent the Secretary determines that such other States will be able to use such additional amount for carrying out such purpose. Any amount made available to a State from any appropriation for a fiscal year in accordance with the preceding sentence shall, for purposes of this part, be regarded as part of such State's payment (as determined under subsection (b)) for such year, but shall remain available until the end of the succeeding fiscal year.

(e) RESERVATION OF FUNDS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this part, if the amount appropriated to carry out this part exceeds $50,000,000 for a fiscal year, a State educational agency may reserve not more than 20 percent of such agency's payment under this part for such year to award grants, on a competitive basis, to local educational agencies within the State as follows:

SEC. 3305. STATE APPLICATIONS.

(1) provide that the educational programs, services, and activities for which payments under this part are made will be administered by or under the supervision of the agency;

(2) provide assurances that payments under this part will be used for purposes set forth in sections 3301 and 3307, including a description of how local educational agencies receiving funds under this part will use such funds to meet such purposes and will coordinate with other programs assisted under this Act, and other Acts as appropriate;

(5) provide assurances that the State educational agency will not finally disapprove in whole or in part any application for funds received under this part without first affording the local educational agency submitting an application for such funds reasonable notice and opportunity for a hearing;

(6) provide for making such reports as the Secretary may reasonably require to perform the Secretary's functions under this part;

(7) provide assurances—

(A) that to the extent consistent with the number of immigrant children and youth enrolled in the nonpublic elementary or secondary schools within the district served by a local educational agency, such agency, after consultation with appropriate officials of such schools, shall provide for the benefit of such children and youth secular, neutral, and nonideological services, materials, and equipment necessary for the education of such children and youth;

(B) that the control of funds provided under this part to any materials, equipment, and property repaired, remodeled, or constructed with those funds shall be in a public agency for the uses and purposes provided in this part, and a public agency shall administer such funds and property; and

(C) that the provision of services pursuant to this paragraph shall be provided by employees of a public agency or through contract by such public agency with a person, association, agency, or corporation who or which, in the provision of such services, is independent of such nonpublic elementary school or secondary school and of any religious organization, and such employment or contract shall be under the control and supervision of such public agency, and the funds provided under this paragraph shall not be commingled with State or local funds;

(8) provide that funds reserved under subsection (e) of section 3304 be awarded on a competitive basis based on merit and need in accordance with such subsection; and sultation, withholding, notice, and judicial review requirements in accordance with the provisions of title I.

[TITLE IV—SAFE AND DRUG-FREE SCHOOLS AND COMMUNITIES

[SEC. 4001. SHORT TITLE.

[This title may be cited as the “Safe and Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act of 1994”.

[SEC. 4002. FINDINGS.

[(1) The seventh National Education Goal provides that by the year 2000, all schools in America will be free of drugs and violence and the unauthorized presence of firearms and alcohol, and offer a disciplined environment that is conducive to learning.

[(2) The widespread illegal use of alcohol and other drugs among the Nation’s secondary school students, and increasingly by students in elementary schools as well, constitutes a grave threat to such students’ physical and mental well-being, and significantly impedes the learning process. For example, data show that students who drink tend to receive lower grades and are more likely to miss school because of illness than students who do not drink.

[(3) Our Nation’s schools and communities are increasingly plagued by violence and crime. Approximately 3,000,000 thefts and violent crimes occur in or near our Nation’s schools every year, the equivalent of more than 16,000 incidents per school day.

[(4) Violence that is linked to prejudice and intolerance victimizes entire communities leading to more violence and discrimination.

[(5) The tragic consequences of violence and the illegal use of alcohol and drugs by students are felt not only by students and such students’ families, but by such students communities and the Nation, which can ill afford to lose such students’ skills, talents, and vitality.

[(6) While use of illegal drugs is a serious problem among a minority of teenagers, alcohol use is far more widespread. The proportion of high school students using alcohol, though lower than a decade ago, remains unacceptably high. By the 8th grade, 70 percent of youth report having tried alcohol and by the 12th grade, about 88 percent have used alcohol. Alcohol use by young people can and does have adverse consequences for users, their families, communities, schools, and colleges.

[(7) Alcohol and tobacco are widely used by young people. Such use can, and does, have adverse consequences for young people, their families, communities, schools, and colleges. Drug prevention programs for youth that address only controlled drugs send an erroneous message that alcohol and tobacco do not present significant problems, or that society is willing to overlook their use. To be credible, messages opposing illegal drug use by youth should address alcohol and tobacco as well.

【(8) Every day approximately 3,000 children start smoking. Thirty percent of all secondary school seniors are smokers. Half of all new smokers begin smoking before the age of 14, 90 percent of such smokers begin before the age of 21, and the average age of the first use of smokless tobacco is under the age of 10. Use of tobacco products has been linked to serious health problems. Drug education and prevention programs that include tobacco have been effective in reducing teenage use of tobacco.

【(9) Drug and violence prevention programs are essential components of a comprehensive strategy to promote school safety and to reduce the demand for and use of drugs throughout the Nation. Schools and local organizations in communities throughout the Nation have a special responsibility to work together to combat the growing epidemic of violence and illegal drug use and should measure the success of their programs against clearly defined goals and objectives.

【(10) Students must take greater responsibility for their own well-being, health, and safety if schools and communities are to achieve the goals of providing a safe, disciplined, and drug-free learning environment.

【The purpose of this title is to support programs to meet the seventh National Education Goal by preventing violence in and around schools and by strengthening programs that prevent the illegal use of alcohol, tobacco, and drugs, involve parents, and are coordinated with related Federal, State, and community efforts and resources, through the provision of Federal assistance to—

【(1) States for grants to local educational agencies and educational service agencies and consortia of such agencies to establish, operate, and improve local programs of school drug and violence prevention, early intervention, rehabilitation referral, and education in elementary and secondary schools (including intermediate and junior high schools);

【(2) States for grants to, and contracts with, community-based organizations and other public and private nonprofit agencies and organizations for programs of drug and violence prevention, early intervention, rehabilitation referral, and education;

【(3) States for development, training, technical assistance, and coordination activities;

【(4) public and private nonprofit organizations to conduct training, demonstrations, and evaluation, and to provide supplementary services for the prevention of drug use and violence among students and youth; and

PART A—STATE GRANTS

SEC. 4001. SHORT TITLE.

This part may be cited as the “Safe and Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act of 1994”.

SEC. 4002. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Every student should attend a school in a drug- and violence-free learning environment.

(2) The widespread illegal use of alcohol and drugs among the Nation's secondary school students, and increasingly by students in elementary schools as well, constitutes a grave threat to such students' physical and mental well-being, and significantly impedes the learning process. For example, data show that students who drink tend to receive lower grades and are more likely to miss school because of illness than students who do not drink.

(3) Drug and violence prevention programs are essential components of a comprehensive strategy to promote school safety, youth development, positive school outcomes, and to reduce the demand for and illegal use of alcohol, tobacco and drugs throughout the Nation. Schools, local organizations, parents, students, and communities throughout the Nation have a special responsibility to work together to combat the continuing epidemic of violence and illegal drug use and should measure the success of their programs against clearly defined goals and objectives.

(4) Drug and violence prevention programs are most effective when implemented within a scientifically based research, drug and violence prevention framework of proven effectiveness.

(5) Research clearly shows that community contexts contribute to substance abuse and violence.

(6) Substance abuse and violence are intricately related and must be dealt with in a holistic manner.

(7) Research has documented that parental behavior and environment directly influence a child's inclination to use alcohol, tobacco or drugs.

SEC. 4003. PURPOSE.

The purpose of this part is to support programs that prevent violence in and around schools and prevent the illegal use of alcohol, tobacco, and drugs, involve parents, and are coordinated with related Federal, State, school, and community efforts and resources, through the provision of Federal assistance to—

(1) States for grants to local educational agencies and educational service agencies and consortia of such agencies to establish, operate, and improve local programs of school drug and violence prevention, early intervention, rehabilitation referral, and education in elementary and secondary schools for the development and implementation of policies that set clear and appropriate standards regarding the illegal use of alcohol, tobacco and drugs, and for violent behavior (including intermediate and junior high schools);

(2) States for grants to, and contracts with, community-based organizations and other public and private nonprofit agencies and organizations for programs of drug and violence prevention including community mobilization, early intervention, rehabilitation referral, and education;

(3) States for development, training, technical assistance, and coordination activities; and

(4) public and private nonprofit organizations to provide technical assistance, conduct training, demonstrations, and evaluation, and to provide supplementary services and community mo- bilization activities for the prevention of drug use and violence among students and youth.

[TITLE V—PROMOTING EQUITY

[SEC. 5101. FINDINGS.

[The Congress finds that—

[(1) magnet schools are a significant part of our Nation’s effort to achieve voluntary desegregation in our Nation’s schools;

[(2) the use of magnet schools has increased dramatically since the date of enactment of the Magnet Schools Assistance program, with approximately 1,400,000 students nationwide now attending such schools, of which more than 60 percent of the students are nonwhite;

[(3) magnet schools offer a wide range of distinctive programs that have served as models for school improvement efforts;

[(4) in administering the Magnet Schools Assistance program, the Federal Government has learned that—

[(A) where magnet programs are implemented for only a portion of a school’s student body, special efforts must be made to discourage the isolation of—

[(ii) students by racial characteristics;

[(B) local educational agencies can maximize their effectiveness in achieving the purposes of the Magnet Schools Assistance program if such agencies have more flexibility in the administration of such program in order to serve students attending a school who are not enrolled in the magnet school program;

[(C) local educational agencies must be creative in designing magnet schools for students at all academic levels, so that school districts do not skim off only the highest achieving students to attend the magnet schools;

[(D) consistent with desegregation guidelines, local educational agencies must seek to enable participation in magnet school programs by students who reside in the neighborhoods where the programs operate; and

[(E) in order to ensure that magnet schools are sustained after Federal funding ends, the Federal Government must assist school districts to improve their capacity to continue to operate magnet schools at a high level of performance; and

[(5) it is in the best interest of the Federal Government to—

[(A) continue the Federal Government's support of school districts implementing court-ordered desegregation plans and school districts seeking to foster meaningful interaction among students of different racial and ethnic backgrounds, beginning at the earliest stage of such students' education;

[(B) ensure that all students have equitable access to quality education that will prepare such students to function well in a culturally diverse, technologically oriented, and highly competitive, global community; and

[(C) maximize the ability of local educational agencies to plan, develop, implement and continue effective and innovative magnet schools that contribute to State and local systemic reform.

[SEC. 5102. STATEMENT OF PURPOSE.

[The purpose of this part is to assist in the desegregation of schools served by local educational agencies by providing financial assistance to eligible local educational agencies for—

[(1) The elimination, reduction, or prevention of minority group isolation in elementary and secondary schools with substantial proportions of minority students;

[(2) the development and implementation of magnet school projects that will assist local educational agencies in achieving systemic reforms and providing all students the opportunity to meet challenging State content standards and challenging State student performance standards;

[(3) the development and design of innovative educational methods and practices; and

[(4) courses of instruction within magnet schools that will substantially strengthen the knowledge of academic subjects and the grasp of tangible and marketable vocational skills of students attending such schools.

[SEC. 5103. PROGRAM AUTHORIZED.

[The Secretary, in accordance with this part, is authorized to make grants to eligible local educational agencies, and consortia of such agencies where appropriate, to carry out the purpose of this part for magnet schools that are—

[(1) part of an approved desegregation plan; and

[SEC. 5104. DEFINITION.

【For the purpose of this part, the term “magnet school” means a public elementary or secondary school or public elementary or secondary education center that offers a special curriculum capable of attracting substantial numbers of students of different racial background.

[SEC. 5105. ELIGIBILITY.

【(2) without having been required to do so, has adopted and is implementing, or will, if assistance is made available to such local educational agency or consortium of such agencies under this part, adopt and implement a plan that has been approved by the Secretary as adequate under title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 for the desegregation of minority-group-segregated children or faculty in such schools.

[SEC. 5106. APPLICATIONS AND REQUIREMENTS.

[(b) STATEMENT OF PURPOSE.—It is the purpose of programs under this title—

[(1) to support local education reform efforts which are consistent with and support statewide reform efforts under Goals 2000; Educate America Act;

[(ii) children from low-income families; or

[(iii) children living in sparsely populated areas.

[(B) The Secretary shall review criteria submitted by a State educational agency for adjusting allocations under paragraph (1) and shall approve such criteria only if the Secretary determines that such criteria are reasonably calculated to produce an adjusted allocation that reflects the relative needs within the State's local educational agencies based on the factors set forth in subparagraph (A).

[(B) In any fiscal year, any local educational agency that elects to allocate such additional funds in the manner described in subparagraph (A) shall allocate all additional funds to schools within the local educational agency in such manner.

[(2) REDUCTION OF FUNDS.—The Secretary shall reduce the amount of the allocation of funds under this part in any fiscal year in the exact proportion to which the State fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (1) by falling below 90 percent of both the fiscal effort per student and aggregate expenditures (using the measure most favorable to the State), and no such lesser amount shall be used for computing the effort required under paragraph (1) for subsequent years.

[(3) WAIVERS.—The Secretary may waive, for one fiscal year only, the requirements of this section if the Secretary determines that such a waiver would be equitable due to exceptional or uncontrollable circumstances such as a natural disaster or a precipitous and unforeseen decline in the financial resources of the State.

[(b) FEDERAL FUNDS SUPPLEMENTARY.—A State or local educational agency may use and allocate funds received under this part only so as to supplement and, to the extent practical, increase the level of funds that would, in the absence of Federal funds made available under this part, be made available from non-Federal sources, and in no case may such funds be used so as to supplant funds from non-Federal sources.

[(2) COURT ACTION.—If a State or local educational agency is dissatisfied with the Secretary's final action after a proceeding under paragraph (1), such agency may, not later than 60 days after notice of such action, file with the United States court of appeals for the circuit in which such State is located a petition for review of that action. [TITLE VII—BILINGUAL EDUCATION,
LANGUAGE ENHANCEMENT, AND LAN-GUAGE ACQUISITION PROGRAMS

[SEC. 7101. SHORT TITLE.

[This part may be cited as the “Bilingual Education Act”].

[SEC. 7102. FINDINGS, POLICY, AND PURPOSE.

[(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds that—

[(1) language-minority Americans speak virtually all world languages plus many that are indigenous to the United States;

[(2) there are large and growing numbers of children and youth of limited-English proficiency, many of whom have a cultural heritage that differs from that of their English-proficient peers;

[(3) the presence of language-minority Americans is related in part to Federal immigration policies;

[(4) many language-minority Americans are limited in their English proficiency, and many have limited education and income;

[(5) limited English proficient children and youth face a number of challenges in receiving an education that will enable such children and youth to participate fully in American society, including—

[(A) segregated education programs;

[(B) disproportionate and improper placement in special education and other special programs due to the use of inappropriate evaluation procedures;

[(C) the limited-English proficiency of their own parents, which hinders the parents' ability to fully participate in the education of their children; and

[(D) a shortage of teachers and other staff who are professionally trained and qualified to serve such children and youth;

【(6) Native Americans and Native American languages (as such terms are defined in section 103 of the Native American Languages Act), including native residents of the outlying areas, have a unique status under Federal law that requires special policies within the broad purposes of this Act to serve the education needs of language minority students in the United States;

【(7) institutions of higher education can assist in preparing teachers, administrators and other school personnel to understand and build upon the educational strengths and needs of language-minority and culturally diverse student enrollments;

【(8) it is the purpose of this title to help ensure that limited English proficient students master English and develop high levels of academic attainment in content areas;

【(9) quality bilingual education programs enable children and youth to learn English and meet high academic standards including proficiency in more than one language;

【(10) as the world becomes increasingly interdependent and as international communication becomes a daily occurrence in government, business, commerce, and family life, multilingual skills constitute an important national resource which deserves protection and development;

【(11) educational technology has the potential for improving the education of language-minority and limited English proficient students and their families, and the Federal Government should foster this development;

【(12) parent and community participation in bilingual education programs contributes to program effectiveness;

【(13) research, evaluation, and data-collection capabilities in the field of bilingual education need to be strengthened so that educators and other staff can better identify and promote those programs, program implementation strategies, and instructional practices that result in effective education of limited English proficient children;

【(14) the use of a child or youth's native language and culture in classroom instruction can—

【(A) promote self-esteem and contribute to academic achievement and learning English by limited English proficient children and youth;

【(B) benefit English-proficient children and youth who also participate in such programs; and

【(C) develop our Nation's national language resources, thus promoting our Nation's competitiveness in the global economy;

【(15) the Federal Government, as exemplified by title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and section 204(f) of the Equal Education Opportunities Act of 1974, has a special and continuing obligation to ensure that States and local school districts take appropriate action to provide equal educational opportunities to children and youth of limited English proficiency; and

【(16) the Federal Government also, as exemplified by the Federal Government's efforts under this title, has a special and continuing obligation to assist States and local school districts in developing the capacity to provide programs of instruction that offer limited English proficient children and youth an equal educational opportunity.

[(b) POLICY.—The Congress declares it to be the policy of the United States, in order to ensure equal educational opportunity for all children and youth and to promote educational excellence, to assist State and local educational agencies, institutions of higher education and community-based organizations to build their capacity to establish, implement, and sustain programs of instruction for children and youth of limited English proficiency.

[(c) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this part is to educate limited English proficient children and youth to meet the same rigorous standards for academic performance expected of all children and youth, including meeting challenging State content standards and challenging State student performance standards in academic areas by—

[(1) developing systemic improvement and reform of educational programs serving limited English proficient students through the development and implementation of exemplary bilingual education programs and special alternative instruction programs;

[(2) developing bilingual skills and multicultural understanding;

[(3) developing the English of such children and youth and, to the extent possible, the native language skills of such children and youth;

[(4) providing similar assistance to Native Americans with certain modifications relative to the unique status of Native American languages under Federal law;

[(5) developing data collection and dissemination, research, materials development, and technical assistance which is focused on school improvement for limited English proficient students; and

[(6) developing programs which strengthen and improve the professional training of educational personnel who work with limited English proficient students.

[SEC. 7103 AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

[PART B—FOREIGN LANGUAGE ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

[SEC. 7201. SHORT TITLE.

[SEC. 7202. FINDINGS.

【The Congress finds as follows:

【(1) Foreign language proficiency is crucial to our Nation’s economic competitiveness and national security. Significant improvement in the quantity and quality of foreign language instruction offered in our Nation’s elementary and secondary schools is necessary.

【(2) All Americans need a global perspective. To understand the world around us, we must acquaint ourselves with the languages, cultures, and history of other nations.

【(3) Proficiency in two or more languages should be promoted for all American students. Multilingualism enhances cognitive and social growth, competitiveness in the global marketplace, national security, and understanding of diverse people and cultures.

【(4) The United States lags behind other developed countries in offering foreign language study to elementary and secondary school students.

【(5) Four out of five new jobs in the United States are created from foreign trade.

【(6) The optimum time to begin learning a second language is in elementary school, when children have the ability to learn and excel in several foreign language acquisition skills, including pronunciation, and when children are most open to appreciating and valuing a culture other than their own.

【(7) Foreign language study can increase childrens’ capacity for critical and creative thinking skills and children who study a second language show greater cognitive development in areas such as mental flexibility, creativity, tolerance, and higher order thinking skills.

【(8) Children who have studied a foreign language in elementary school achieve expected gains and score higher on standardized tests of reading, language arts, and mathematics than children who have not studied a foreign language.

【(a) PROGRAM AUTHORITY.—

【(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall make grants, on a competitive basis, to State educational agencies or local educational agencies to pay the Federal share of the cost of innovative model programs providing for the establishment, improvement or expansion of foreign language study for elementary and secondary school students.

[(3) SPECIAL RULE.—Not less than three-fourths of the funds appropriated under section 7206 shall be used for the expansion of foreign language learning in the elementary grades.

[(4) RESERVATION.—The Secretary may reserve not more than 5 percent of funds appropriated under section 7206 to evaluate the efficacy of programs under this part.

[(b) AMOUNT.—The Secretary shall determine the amount of the incentive payment under subsection (a) for each public elementary school for each fiscal year on the basis of the number of students participating in a program described in such subsection at such school for such year compared to the total number of such students at all such schools in the United States for such year.

[(c) REQUIREMENT.—The Secretary shall consider a program to be designed to lead to communicative competency in a foreign language if such program is comparable to a program that provides not less than 45 minutes of instruction in a foreign language not less than four days per week throughout an academic year.

Until the Secretary is so satisfied, no further payments shall be made to the State educational agency under this part, or payments by the State educational agency under this part shall be limited to local educational agencies whose actions did not cause or were not involved in the failure, as the case may be.

[SEC. 7304. STATE ALLOCATIONS.

(3) ADJUSTMENTS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Relative enrollments under subsection (a) shall be adjusted, in accordance with criteria approved by the Secretary under subparagraph (B), to provide higher per pupil allocations only to local educational agencies which serve the greatest numbers or percentages of—

(a) MAINTENANCE OF EFFORT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in paragraph (2), a State is entitled to receive its full allocation of funds under this subpart for any fiscal year if the Secretary finds that either the combined fiscal effort per student or the aggregate expenditures within the State with respect to the provision of free public education for the fiscal year preceding the fiscal year for which the determination is made was not less than 90 percent of such combined fiscal effort or aggregate expenditures for the second fiscal year preceding the fiscal year for which the determination is made.

(2) REDUCTION OF FUNDS.—The Secretary shall reduce the amount of the allocation of funds under this subpart in any fiscal year in the exact proportion to which the State fails to meet the requirements of paragraph (1) by falling below 90 percent of both the fiscal effort per student and aggregate expenditures (using the measure most favorable to the State), and no such lesser amount shall be used for computing the effort required under paragraph (1) for subsequent years.

(3) WAIVERS.—The Secretary may waive, for 1 fiscal year only, the requirements of this section if the Secretary determines that such a waiver would be equitable due to exceptional or uncontrollable circumstances such as a natural disaster or a precipitous and unforeseen decline in the financial resources of the State.

(b) FEDERAL FUNDS SUPPLEMENTARY.—A State or local educational agency may use and allocate funds received under this subpart only so as to supplement and, to the extent practical, increase the level of funds that would, in the absence of Federal funds made available under this subpart, be made available from non-Federal sources, and in no case may such funds be used so as to supplant funds from non-Federal sources.

(2) OTHER PROVISIONS FOR SERVICES.—If no program or project is carried out under paragraph (1) in the school district of a local educational agency, the State educational agency shall make arrangements, such as through contracts with nonprofit agencies or organizations, under which children in private schools in such district are provided with services and materials to the extent that would have occurred if the local educational agency had received funds under this subpart.

(3) APPLICATION OF REQUIREMENTS.—The requirements of this section relating to the participation of children, teachers, and other personnel serving such children shall apply to programs and projects carried out under this subpart by a State or local educational agency, whether directly or through grants to or contracts with other public or private agencies, institutions, or organizations.

(b) EQUAL EXPENDITURES.—Expenditures for programs pursuant to subsection (a) shall be equal (consistent with the number of children to be served) to expenditures for programs under this subpart for children enrolled in the public schools of the local educational agency, taking into account the needs of the individual children and other factors which relate to such expenditures, and when funds available to a local educational agency under this subpart are used to concentrate programs or projects on a particular group, attendance area, or grade or age level, children enrolled in private schools who are included within the group, attendance area, or grade or age level selected for such concentration shall, after consultation with the appropriate private school officials, be assured equitable participation in the purposes and benefits of such programs or projects.

(1) WRITTEN OBJECTIONS.—The Secretary shall not take any final action under this section until the State educational agency and the local educational agency affected by such action have had an opportunity, for not less than 45 days after receiving written notice thereof, to submit written objections and to appear before the Secretary or the Secretary's designee to show cause why that action should not be taken.

(2) COURT ACTION.—If a State or local educational agency is dissatisfied with the Secretary's final action after a proceeding under paragraph (1), such agency may, not later than 60 days after notice of such action, file with the United States court of appeals for the circuit in which such State is located a petition for review of that action. A copy of the petition shall be transmitted by the clerk of the court to the Secretary. The Secretary thereupon shall file in the court the record of the proceedings on which the Secretary based this action, as provided in section 2112 of title 28, United States Code.

Such new or modified findings of fact shall likewise be conclusive if supported by substantial evidence.

(4) COURT REVIEW.—Upon the filing of such petition, the court shall have jurisdiction to affirm the action of the Secretary or to set such action aside, in whole or in part. PART E—ADVANCED PLACEMENT PROGRAMS

SEC. 5601. SHORT TITLE.

This part may be cited as the "Access to High Standards Act".

SEC. 5602. FINDINGS AND PURPOSES.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) far too many students are not being provided sufficient academic preparation in secondary school, which results in limited employment opportunities, college dropout rates of over 25 percent for the first year of college, and remediation for almost one-third of incoming college freshmen;

(2) there is a growing consensus that raising academic standards, establishing high academic expectations, and showing concrete results are at the core of improving public education;

(3) modeling academic standards on the well-known program of advanced placement courses is an approach that many education leaders and almost half of all States have endorsed;

(4) advanced placement programs already are providing 30 different college-level courses, serving almost 60 percent of all secondary schools, reaching over 1,000,000 students (of whom 80 percent attend public schools, 55 percent are females, and 30 percent are minorities), and providing test scores that are accepted for college credit at over 3,000 colleges and universities, every university in Germany, France, and Austria, and most institutions in Canada and the United Kingdom;

(5) 24 States are now funding programs to increase participation in advanced placement programs, including 19 States that provide funds for advanced placement teacher professional development, 3 States that require that all public secondary schools offer advanced placement courses, 10 States that pay the fees for advanced placement tests for some or all students, and 4 States that require that their public universities grant uniform academic credit for scores of 3 or better on advanced placement tests; and

(6) the State programs described in paragraph (5) have shown the responsiveness of schools and students to such programs, raised the academic standards both for students participating in such programs and for other children taught by teachers who are involved in advanced placement courses, and have shown tremendous success in increasing enrollment, achievement, and minority participation in advanced placement programs.

(b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this part are—

(1) to encourage more of the 600,000 students who take advanced placement courses but do not take advanced placement exams each year to demonstrate their achievements through taking the exams;

(2) to build on the many benefits of advanced placement programs for students, which benefits may include the acquisition of skills that are important to many employers, Scholastic Aptitude Tests (SAT) scores that are 100 points above the national averages, and the achievement of better grades in secondary school and in college than the grades of students who have not participated in the programs;

(3) to support State and local efforts to raise academic standards through advanced placement programs, and thus further increase the number of students who participate and succeed in advanced placement programs;

(4) to increase the availability and broaden the range of schools that have advanced placement programs, which programs are still often distributed unevenly among regions, States, and even secondary schools within the same school district, while also increasing and diversifying student participation in the programs;

(5) to build on the State programs described in subsection (a)(5) and demonstrate that larger and more diverse groups of students can participate and succeed in advanced placement programs;

(6) to provide greater access to advanced placement courses for low-income and other disadvantaged students;

(7) to provide access to advanced placement courses for secondary school juniors at schools that do not offer advanced placement programs, increase the rate of secondary school juniors and seniors who participate in advanced placement courses to 25 percent of the secondary school student population, and increase the numbers of students who receive advanced placement test scores for which college academic credit is awarded; and

(8) to increase the participation of low-income individuals in taking advanced placement tests through the payment or partial payment of the costs of the advanced placement test fees.

TITLE VII—INDIAN, NATIVE HAWAIIAN, AND ALASKA NATIVE EDUCATION

SEC. 7101. FINDINGS.

Congress finds that—

(1) the Federal Government has a special responsibility to ensure that educational programs for all American Indian and Alaska Native children and adults—

(A) are based on high-quality, internationally competitive content standards and student performance standards, and build on Indian culture and the Indian community;

(B) assist local educational agencies, Indian tribes, and other entities and individuals in providing Indian students the opportunity to achieve the standards described in subparagraph (A); and

(C) meet the unique educational and culturally related academic needs of American Indian and Alaska Native students;

(2) since the date of enactment of the Indian Education Act in 1972, the level of involvement of Indian parents in the planning, development, and implementation of educational programs that affect such parents and their children has increased significantly, and schools should continue to foster such involvement;

(3) although the number of Indian teachers, administrators, and university professors has increased since 1972, teacher training programs are not recruiting, training, or retraining a sufficient number of Indian individuals as educators to meet the needs of a growing Indian student population in elementary, secondary, vocational, adult, and higher education;

(4) the dropout rate for Indian students is unacceptably high: 9 percent of Indian students who were eighth graders in 1988 had already dropped out of school by 1990;

(5) during the period from 1980 to 1990, the percentage of Indian individuals living at or below the poverty level increased from 24 percent to 31 percent, and the readiness of Indian children to learn is hampered by the high incidence of poverty, unemployment, and health problems among Indian children and their families; and

(6) research related specifically to the education of Indian children and adults is very limited, and much of the research is of poor quality or is focused on limited local or regional issues.

SEC. 7102. PURPOSE.

(a) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this part is to support the efforts of local educational agencies, Indian tribes and organizations, post-secondary institutions, and other entities to meet the unique educational and culturally related academic needs of American Indian and Alaska Native students, so that such students can meet the same challenging State performance standards as are expected for all students.

(b) PROGRAMS.—This part carries out the purpose described in subsection (a) by authorizing programs of direct assistance for—

(1) meeting the unique educational and culturally related academic needs of American Indians and Alaska Natives;

(2) the education of Indian children and adults;

(3) the training of Indian persons as educators and counselors, and in other professions serving Indian people; and

(4) research, evaluation, data collection, and technical assistance.

Subpart 1—Formula Grants to Local Educational Agencies

SEC. 7111. PURPOSE.

The purpose of this subpart is to support local educational agencies in their efforts to reform elementary school and secondary school programs that serve Indian students in order to ensure that such programs—

(2) are designed to assist Indian students to meet those standards.

SEC. 7112. GRANTS TO LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to local educational agencies and Indian tribes in accordance with this section.

(b) LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.—

(1) ENROLLMENT REQUIREMENTS.—A local educational agency shall be eligible for a grant under this subpart for any fiscal year if the number of Indian children who are eligible under section 7117, and who were enrolled in the schools of the agency, and to whom the agency provided free public education, during the preceding fiscal year—

(A) was at least 10; or

(B) constituted not less than 25 percent of the total number of individuals enrolled in the schools of such agency.

(2) EXCLUSION.—The requirement of paragraph (1) shall not apply in Alaska, California, or Oklahoma, or with respect to any local educational agency located on, or in proximity to, a reservation.

(c) INDIAN TRIBES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—If a local educational agency that is otherwise eligible for a grant under this subpart does not establish a parent committee under section 7114(c)(4), an Indian tribe that represents not less than $\frac{1}{2}$ of the eligible Indian children who are served by such local educational agency may apply for such grant by submitting an application in accordance with section 7114.

(2) SPECIAL RULE.—The Secretary shall treat each Indian tribe applying for a grant pursuant to paragraph (1) as if such Indian tribe were a local educational agency for purposes of this subpart, except that any such tribe shall not be subject to section 7114(c)(4) (relating to a parent committee), section 7118(c) (relating to maintenance of effort), or section 7119 (relating to State review of applications).

SEC. 7113. AMOUNT OF GRANTS.

(a) AMOUNT OF GRANT AWARDS.—

(B) the greater of—

(i) the average per-pupil expenditure of the State in which such agency is located; or

(ii) 80 percent of the average per-pupil expenditure of all the States.

(2) REDUCTION.—The Secretary shall reduce the amount of each allocation determined under paragraph (1) or subsection (b) in accordance with subsection (c).

(b) SCHOOLS OPERATED OR SUPPORTED BY THE BUREAU OF INDIAN AFFAIRS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—In addition to the grants awarded under subsection (a), and subject to paragraph (2), for purposes of making grants under this subpart the Secretary shall allocate to the Secretary of the Interior an amount equal to the product of—

(A) the total number of Indian children enrolled in schools that are operated by—

(i) the Bureau of Indian Affairs; or

(B) the greater of—

(i) the average per-pupil expenditure of the State in which the school is located; or

(ii) 80 percent of the average per-pupil expenditure of all the States.

(2) SPECIAL RULE.—Any school described in paragraph (1) may apply for an allocation under this subpart by submitting an application in accordance with section 7114. The Secretary shall treat the school as if the school were a local educational agency for purposes of this subpart, except that any such school shall not be subject to section 7114(c)(4), 7118(c), or 7119.

(c) RATABLE REDUCTIONS.—If the sums appropriated for any fiscal year under section 7162(a) are insufficient to pay in full the amounts determined for local educational agencies under subsection (a) and for the Secretary of the Interior under subsection (b), each of those amounts shall be ratably reduced.

(d) MINIMUM GRANT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding subsection (c), a local educational agency (including an Indian tribe as authorized under section 7112(b)) that is eligible for a grant under section 7112, and a school that is operated or supported by the Bureau of Indian Affairs that is eligible for a grant under subsection (b), that submits an application that is approved by the Secretary, shall, subject to appropriations, receive a grant under this subpart in an amount that is not less than $3,000.

(2) CONSORTIA.—Local educational agencies may form a consortium for the purpose of obtaining grants under this subpart.

(3) INCREASE.—The Secretary may increase the minimum grant under paragraph (1) to not more than $4,000 for all grant recipients if the Secretary determines such increase is necessary to ensure quality programs.

(e) DEFINITION.—In this section, the term “average per-pupil expenditure”, for a State, means an amount equal to—

(1) the sum of the aggregate current expenditures of all the local educational agencies in the State, plus any direct current expenditures by the State for the operation of such agencies, without regard to the sources of funds from which such local or State expenditures were made, during the second fiscal year preceding the fiscal year for which the computation is made; divided by this subpart are effective in improving the educational achievement of Indian students served by such agency;

(2) the aggregate number of children who were included in average daily attendance and for whom such agencies provided free public education during such preceding fiscal year.

(C) the name and address of the parent or legal guardian of the child;

(D) a signature of the parent or legal guardian of the child that verifies the accuracy of the information supplied; and

(B) the name of the tribe or band of Indians (as so defined) with respect to which the child claims membership; and

(C) the dated signature of the parent or guardian of the child.

(3) FAILURE.—The failure of an applicant to furnish any information described in this subsection other than the information described in paragraph (2) with respect to any child shall have no bearing on the determination of whether the child is an eligible Indian child for the purposes of computing the amount of a grant award made under section 7113.

(c) STATUTORY CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to affect a definition contained in section 7161.

(d) FORMS AND STANDARDS OF PROOF.—The forms and the standards of proof (including the standard of good faith compliance) that were in use during the 1985–86 academic year to establish the eligibility of a child for entitlement under the Indian Elementary and Secondary School Assistance Act shall be the forms and standards of proof used—

(1) to establish eligibility under this subpart; and

Nothing in subsection (b) shall be construed to require the furnishing of an enrollment number.

(f) MONITORING AND EVALUATION REVIEW.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—

(A) REVIEW.—For each fiscal year, in order to provide such information as is necessary to carry out the responsibility of the Secretary to provide technical assistance under this subpart, the Secretary shall conduct a monitoring and evaluation review of a sampling of the local educational agencies that are recipients of grants under this subpart. The sampling conducted under this paragraph shall take into account the size of such a local educational agency and the geographic location of such agency.

(B) EXCEPTION.—A local educational agency may not be held liable to the United States or be subject to any penalty by reason of the findings of an audit that relates to the date of completion, or the date of submission, of any forms used to establish, before April 28, 1988, the eligibility of a child for entitlement under the Indian Elementary and Secondary School Assistance Act.

(2) FALSE INFORMATION.—Any local educational agency that provides false information in an application for a grant under this subpart shall—

(1) A count, certified by the Bureau, of the number of students in the school.

(2) A count of the number of students for whom the school has eligibility forms that comply with this section.

(h) TIMING OF CHILD COUNTS.—For purposes of determining the number of children to be counted in computing the amount of a local educational agency's grant award under section 7113 (other than in the case described in subsection (g)(1)), the local educational agency shall—

(2) determine that each such child was enrolled, and receiving a free public education, in a school of the agency on that date or during that period, as the case may be.

SEC. 7118. PAYMENTS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subsections (b) and (c), the Secretary shall pay to each local educational agency that submits an application that is approved by the Secretary under this subpart the amount computed under section 7113. The Secretary shall notify the local educational agency of the amount of the payment not later than June 1 of the year for which the Secretary makes the payment.

(b) PAYMENTS TAKEN INTO ACCOUNT BY THE STATE.—The Secretary may not make a grant under this subpart to a local educational agency for a fiscal year if, for such fiscal year, the State in which the local educational agency is located takes into consideration payments made under this subpart in determining the eligibility of the local educational agency for State aid, or the amount of the State aid, with respect to the free public education of children during such fiscal year or the preceding fiscal year.

(c) REDUCTION OF PAYMENT FOR FAILURE TO MAINTAIN FISCAL EFFORT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may not pay a local educational agency in a State the full amount of a grant award computed under section 7113 for any fiscal year unless the State educational agency notifies the Secretary, and the Secretary determines, that with respect to the provision of free public education by the local educational agency for the preceding fiscal year, that the combined fiscal effort of the local educational agency and the State, computed on either a per student or aggregate expenditure basis was not less than 90 percent of the amount of the combined fiscal effort, computed on the same basis, for the second preceding fiscal year.

(2) FAILURE.—If, for any fiscal year, the Secretary determines that a local educational agency and State failed to maintain the combined fiscal effort at the level specified in paragraph (1), the Secretary shall—

(A) reduce the amount of the grant that would otherwise be made to such agency under this subpart in the exact proportion of the failure to maintain the fiscal effort at such level; and

(B) not use the reduced amount of the combined fiscal effort for the year to determine compliance with paragraph (1) for any succeeding fiscal year, but shall use the amount of expenditures that would have been required to comply with paragraph (1) during the fiscal year for which the determination is made.

(3) WAIVER.—

Congress finds the following:

(1) Native Hawaiians are a distinct and unique indigenous people with a historical continuity to the original inhabitants of the Hawaiian archipelago, whose society was organized as a nation and internationally recognized as a nation by the United States, Britain, France, and Japan, as evidenced by treaties governing friendship, commerce, and navigation.

(2) At the time of the arrival of the first non-indigenous people in Hawai‘i in 1778, the Native Hawaiian people lived in a highly organized, self-sufficient subsistence social system based on a communal land tenure system with a sophisticated language, culture, and religion.

(3) A unified monarchal government of the Hawaiian Islands was established in 1810 under Kamehameha I, the first King of Hawai‘i.

(4) From 1826 until 1893, the United States recognized the sovereignty and independence of the Kingdom of Hawai‘i, which was established in 1810 under Kamehameha I, extended full and complete diplomatic recognition to the Kingdom of Hawai‘i, and entered into treaties and conventions with the Kingdom of Hawai‘i to govern friendship, commerce and navigation in 1826, 1842, 1849, 1875, and 1887.

(5) In 1893, the sovereign, independent, internationally recognized, and indigenous government of Hawai‘i, the Kingdom of Hawai‘i, was overthrown by a small group of non-Hawaiians, including United States citizens, who were assisted in their efforts by the United States Minister, a United States naval representative, and armed naval forces of the United States. Because of the participation of United States agents and citizens in the overthrow of the Kingdom of Hawai‘i, in 1993 the United States apologized to Native Hawaiians for the overthrow and the deprivation of the rights of Native Hawaiians to self-determination through Public Law 103–150 (107 Stat. 1510).

(6) In 1898, the joint resolution entitled “Joint Resolution to provide for annexing the Hawaiian Islands to the United States”, approved July 7, 1898 (30 Stat. 750), ceded absolute title of all lands held by the Republic of Hawai'i, including the government and crown lands of the former Kingdom of Hawai'i, to the United States, but mandated that revenue generated from the lands be used "solely for the benefit of the inhabitants of the Hawaiian Islands for educational and other public purposes".

(7) By 1919, the Native Hawaiian population had declined from an estimated 1,000,000 in 1778 to an alarming 22,600, and in recognition of this severe decline, Congress enacted the Hawaiian Homes Commission Act, 1920 (42 Stat. 108), which designated approximately 200,000 acres of ceded public lands for homesteading by Native Hawaiians.

(8) Through the enactment of the Hawaiian Homes Commission Act, 1920, Congress affirmed the special relationship between the United States and the Native Hawaiians, which was described by then Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, who said: "One thing that impressed me . . . was the fact that the natives of the island who are our wards, I should say, and for whom in a sense we are trustees, are falling off rapidly in numbers and many of them are in poverty."

(9) In 1938, Congress again acknowledged the unique status of the Hawaiian people by including in the Act of June 20, 1938 (52 Stat. 781, chapter 530; 16 U.S.C. 391b, 391b-1, 392b, 392c, 396, 396a), a provision to lease lands within the National Parks extension to Native Hawaiians and to permit fishing in the area "only by native Hawaiian residents of said area or of adjacent villages and by visitors under their guidance."

(10) Under the Act entitled "An Act to provide for the admission of the State of Hawai'i into the Union", approved March 18, 1959 (73 Stat. 4), the United States transferred responsibility for the administration of the Hawaiian Home Lands to the State of Hawai'i but reaffirmed the trust relationship between the United States and the Hawaiian people by retaining the exclusive power to enforce the trust, including the power to approve land exchanges and amendments to such Act affecting the rights of beneficiaries under such Act.

(11) In 1959, under the Act entitled "An Act to provide for the admission of the State of Hawai'i into the Union", the United States also ceded to the State of Hawai'i title to the public lands formerly held by the United States, but mandated that such lands be held by the State "in public trust" and reaffirmed the special relationship that existed between the United States and the Hawaiian people by retaining the legal responsibility to enforce the public trust responsibility of the State of Hawai'i for the betterment of the conditions of Native Hawaiians, as defined in section 201(a) of the Hawaiian Homes Commission Act, 1920.

(12) The United States has recognized and reaffirmed that—

(A) Native Hawaiians have a cultural, historic, and land-based link to the indigenous people who exercised sovereignty over the Hawaiian Islands, and that group has never relinquished its claims to sovereignty or its sovereign lands;

(B) Congress does not extend services to Native Hawaiians because of their race, but because of their unique sta- tus as the indigenous people of a once sovereign nation as to whom the United States has established a trust relationship;

(C) Congress has also delegated broad authority to administer a portion of the Federal trust responsibility to the State of Hawai'i;

(D) the political status of Native Hawaiians is comparable to that of American Indians and Alaska Natives; and

(E) the aboriginal, indigenous people of the United States have—

(i) a continuing right to autonomy in their internal affairs; and

(ii) an ongoing right of self-determination and self-governance that has never been extinguished.

(13) The political relationship between the United States and the Native Hawaiian people has been recognized and reaffirmed by the United States, as evidenced by the inclusion of Native Hawaiians in—

(A) the Native American Programs Act of 1974 (42 U.S.C. 2991 et seq.);

(B) the American Indian Religious Freedom Act (42 U.S.C. 1996);

(C) the National Museum of the American Indian Act (20 U.S.C. 80q et seq.);

(D) the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (25 U.S.C. 3001 et seq.);

(E) the National Historic Preservation Act (16 U.S.C. 470 et seq.);

(F) the Native American Languages Act (25 U.S.C. 2901 et seq.);

(G) the American Indian, Alaska Native, and Native Hawaiian Culture and Art Development Act (20 U.S.C. 4401 et seq.);

(H) the Workforce Investment Act of 1998 (29 U.S.C. 2801 et seq.); and

(I) the Older Americans Act of 1965 (42 U.S.C. 3001 et seq.).

(14) In 1981, Congress instructed the Office of Education to submit to Congress a comprehensive report on Native Hawaiian education. The report, entitled the "Native Hawaiian Educational Assessment Project", was released in 1983 and documented that Native Hawaiians scored below parity with regard to national norms on standardized achievement tests, were disproportionately represented in many negative social and physical statistics indicative of special educational needs, and had educational needs that were related to their unique cultural situation, such as different learning styles and low self-image.

(15) In recognition of the educational needs of Native Hawaiians, in 1988, Congress enacted title IV of the Augustus F. Hawkins-Robert T. Stafford Elementary and Secondary School Improvement Amendments of 1988 (102 Stat. 130) to authorize and develop supplemental educational programs to address the unique conditions of Native Hawaiians.

(16) In 1993, the Kamehameha Schools Bishop Estate released a 10-year update of findings of the Native Hawaiian Educational Assessment Project, which found that despite the successes of the programs established under title IV of the Augustus F. Hawkins-Robert T. Stafford Elementary and Secondary School Improvement Amendments of 1988, many of the same educational needs still existed for Native Hawaiians. Subsequent reports by the Kamehameha Schools Bishop Estate and other organizations have generally confirmed those findings. For example—

(A) educational risk factors continue to start even before birth for many Native Hawaiian children, including—

(i) late or no prenatal care;

(ii) high rates of births by Native Hawaiian women who are unmarried; and

(iii) high rates of births to teenage parents;

(B) Native Hawaiian students continue to begin their school experience lagging behind other students in terms of readiness factors such as vocabulary test scores;

(C) Native Hawaiian students continue to score below national norms on standardized education achievement tests at all grade levels;

(D) both public and private schools continue to show a pattern of lower percentages of Native Hawaiian students in the uppermost achievement levels and in gifted and talented programs;

(E) Native Hawaiian students continue to be overrepresented among students qualifying for special education programs provided to students with learning disabilities, mild mental retardation, emotional impairment, and other such disabilities;

(F) Native Hawaiians continue to be underrepresented in institutions of higher education and among adults who have completed 4 or more years of college;

(G) Native Hawaiians continue to be disproportionately represented in many negative social and physical statistics indicative of special educational needs, as demonstrated by the fact that—

(i) Native Hawaiian students are more likely to be retained in grade level and to be excessively absent in secondary school;

(ii) Native Hawaiian students have the highest rates of drug and alcohol use in the State of Hawai'i; and

(iii) Native Hawaiian children continue to be disproportionately victimized by child abuse and neglect; and

(H) Native Hawaiians now comprise over 23 percent of the students served by the State of Hawai'i Department of Education, and there are and will continue to be geographically rural, isolated areas with a high Native Hawaiian population density.

(17) In the 1998 National Assessment of Educational Progress, Hawaiian fourth-graders ranked 39th among groups of students from 39 States in reading. Given that Hawaiian students rank among the lowest groups of students nationally in reading, and that Native Hawaiian students rank the lowest among Hawaiian students in reading, it is imperative that greater focus be placed on beginning reading and early education and literacy in Hawai'i.

(18) The findings described in paragraphs (16) and (17) are inconsistent with the high rates of literacy and integration of traditional culture and Western education historically achieved by Native Hawaiians through a Hawaiian language-based public school system established in 1840 by Kamehameha III.

(19) Following the overthrow of the Kingdom of Hawai'i in 1893, Hawaiian medium schools were banned. After annexation, throughout the territorial and statehood period of Hawai'i, and until 1986, use of the Hawaiian language as an instructional medium in education in public schools was declared unlawful. The declaration caused incalculable harm to a culture that placed a very high value on the power of language, as exemplified in the traditional saying: "I ka 'ōlelo nō ke ola; I ka 'ōlelo nō ka make. In the language rests life; In the language rests death."

(20) Despite the consequences of over 100 years of nonindigenous influence, the Native Hawaiian people are determined to preserve, develop, and transmit to future generations their ancestral territory and their cultural identity in accordance with their own spiritual and traditional beliefs, customs, practices, language, and social institutions.

(21) The State of Hawai'i, in the constitution and statutes of the State of Hawai'i—

(A) reaffirms and protects the unique right of the Native Hawaiian people to practice and perpetuate their culture and religious customs, beliefs, practices, and language;

(B) recognizes the traditional language of the Native Hawaiian people as an official language of the State of Hawai'i, which may be used as the language of instruction for all subjects and grades in the public school system; and

(C) promotes the study of the Hawaiian culture, language, and history by providing a Hawaiian education program and using community expertise as a suitable and essential means to further the program.

PART C—ALASKA NATIVE EDUCATION

SEC. 7301. SHORT TITLE.

This part may be cited as the “Alaska Native Educational Equity, Support, and Assistance Act”.

SEC. 7302. FINDINGS.

Congress finds the following:

(1) The attainment of educational success is critical to the betterment of the conditions, long-term well-being, and preservation of the culture of Alaska Natives.

(2) It is the policy of the Federal Government to encourage the maximum participation by Alaska Natives in the planning and the management of Alaska Native education programs.

(3) Alaska Native children enter and exit school with serious educational handicaps.

(4) The educational achievement of Alaska Native children is far below national norms. Native performance on standardized tests is low, Native student dropout rates are high, and Natives are significantly underrepresented among holders of baccalaureate degrees in the State of Alaska. As a result, Native students are being denied their opportunity to become full participants in society by grade school and high school educations that are condemning an entire generation to an underclass status and a life of limited choices.

(5) The programs authorized in this title, combined with expanded Head Start, infant learning and early childhood education programs, and parent education programs are essential if educational handicaps are to be overcome.

(6) The sheer magnitude of the geographic barriers to be overcome in delivering educational services in rural Alaska and Alaska villages should be addressed through the development and implementation of innovative, model programs in a variety of areas.

(7) Congress finds that Native children should be afforded the opportunity to begin their formal education on a par with their non-Native peers. The Federal Government should lend support to efforts developed by and undertaken within the Alaska Native community to improve educational opportunity for all students.

SEC. 7303. PURPOSES.

The purposes of this part are to—

- (1) recognize the unique educational needs of Alaska Natives;
- (2) authorize the development of supplemental educational programs to benefit Alaska Natives;

[Titles IX through XIV are repealed.]

SEC. 9101. IN GENERAL.

The Secretary is authorized to award a grant to the Board on Testing and Assessment of the National Research Council of the National Academy of Sciences to enable the Board to conduct, in consultation with the Department (and others that the Board determines appropriate), an ongoing evaluation, not to exceed 4 years in duration, of a representative sample of State and local educational agencies regarding high stakes assessments used by the State and local educational agencies. The evaluation shall be based on a research design determined by the Board, in consultation with others, that includes existing data, and the development of new data as feasible and advisable. The evaluation shall address, at a minimum, the 3 components described in section 9102.
